HERRING ARRIVE—WITH GULLS CLOSE BEHIND

The herring run began today in Sausalito. And, undeterred by fog, thousands of sea gulls followed the little fish to gorge themselves as the herring piled up under water along the shore. This was the scene—caught by Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax as the fog lifted briefly—just off the Trident dock, with the moored ferry boat Berkeley in background.

Quentin Muslims Attempt Strike

Fog Also Closes County Airport

Thick, wet fob—the season's worst—shrouded low-lying areas of Marin today, shutting the county airport, ferry service, and slowing auto traffic.

Elsewhere, the fog was blamed for two ship crashes, 12 traffic deaths, closing schools, and snarling transportation from Sacramento to Los Angeles.

Visibility was zero on San Francisco Bay as the Liberian freighter Suan ran aground at Anita Rock, off the Presidio, before dawn. But damage appeared slight as the vessel freed herself for inspection.

DIDN'T GO OUT

The Tiburon ferry to San Francisco did not venture out, and harbor trips were cancelled until the fog lifted. Ferry General Manager Lester Bedient said it was the first time this winter that bad weather had cancelled runs.

The county airport at Novato shut down early this morning, but opened shortly after sunrise. Visual flying was prohibited at Hamilton Air Force Base until 9 a.m.

Commuter traffic was delayed on Highway 101 as fog covered the highway from Marinwood to Corte Madera. Other sections were clear.

By mid-morning, the fog began to lift, and the Weather Bureau said fair weather would extend probably through Wednesday.

SAN DIEGO WRECKS

Massive automobile pileups were reported in the San Diego and the San Francisco Bay areas as zero- zero visibility nearly brought traffic to a standstill.

At San Diego, the fog caused "the worst traffic accident" in the county's hisotry when two persons were killed Saturday night and 29 persons were injured in a tangled 40-car accident on Interstate 5. Twenty-one cars were so badly wrecked they had to be towed away.

Twenty cars were involved in in a single smashup on Nimitz Freeway in the Bay Area this morning and traffic on Bay Area bridges and freeways was slowed to five miles an hour, or stopped completely.

The Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland airports were closed by zero-zero visibility and the same was true of smaller airports from Sacramento through the San Joaquin Valley. Schools were closed temporarily because buses could not move safely on the highways.

An Italian freighter, the Ilice rammed a drawbridge on the Sacramento River late last night with visibility only five feet. No one was hurt although several cars and two boys were on the span at the time. The Coast Guard said the 10,600-ton motor vessel buried 50 feet of her bow into the east side of the bridge and it took six hours to free the vessel.

River traffic was stopped for four hours, and it may be two

Inmate Badly Beaten

One inmate was seriously beaten and 45 others were locked into their cells at San Quentin today in an attempt by Black Muslim prisoners to stop work at the prison.

Associate Warden James W. L. Parks said violence flared this morning when a band of prisoners known to be Black Muslins tried to prevent inmates from going to their jobs.

At least two prisoners were assaulted when they refused to heed the strike attempt.

CLUB OR PIPE

One, Robert N. Holderman, 29, was beaten on the head with a club or pipe, Park said, and was hospitalized in serious condition. Park reported Holderman also suffered puncture wounds in the chest, but it was not known whether he was stabbed.

Also assaulted was William E. Walker, 39, who suffered minor scrapes.

Park said most inmates went to their jobs. However, 45 inmates found walking idly in the yard were locked up in their cells, he reported.

He said the stop-work calls came this weekend after five inmates were relieved of their jobs in the mess hall because of improper conduct.

"The Black Muslims took it up as a righteous cause," Park said, "and tried to stop work this morning.

FOG HAMPERS

Prison officials were hampered in their attempts to maintain order by dense fog which shrouded the lower yard.

"We couldn't see what was going on at first," Park said shortly after the outbreak," but the fog is clearing somewhat now, and we feel we have the situation under control."

Holderman is serving a term for passing bad checks in San Francisco County; Walker for escape and first degree burglary in Del Norte County.

Jets Bomb Fuel Dump; Prison Camp Massacre

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Air Force fighter bombers penetrated North Vietnam's deadliest defenses and for the first time in nearly a month and struck the Hanoi area dump which supplies its Communist MIG jets with fuel, spokesmen said today.

Spokesmen said the American F105 Thunderchief pilots met several flights of advanced Russian-built MIG-21s in the raid yesterday on the Ha Gia jet fuel depot on the fringe of Hanoi's major air base. No dogfights were reported.

In the ground war, South Vietnamese soldiers stumbled on Vietnam's worst prison camp massacre. The government troops reported finding the bodies of 44 men, women and children who were stabbed, shot or killed with hand grenades by their fleeing Viet Cong captors.

The Ha Gia depot was the target of the last U.S. attack on the Hanoi area on Dec. 19. It supplies fuel to the Phuc Yen MIG base three miles away, and is located 14 and one-half miles from the center of Hanoi.

The MIGs based at Phuc Yen defend not only the capital, but the industrialized Red River Valley to the north and the region southeastward to the port of Haiphong. The prime objective of attacks on the fuel depot is to immobilize MIG defenses.

The Viet Cong massacre was reported yesterday from two guerrilla outposts 500 yards apart in jungles 100 miles southwest of Saigon. Government spokesmen said Viet Cong guards bound most of the prisoners in groups of eight and killed them while other guerrillas held off the advancing Vietnamese troops.

The spokesman said only six of 50 prisoners at the camp escaped the massacre by faking death. Two women and two children were among those killed.

Another Vietnamese Ranger battalion operating only four miles from the massacre encountered a Viet Cong force and killed 74 without suffering any casualties, the government said. Most of the guerrillas reported killed were struck by U.S. aircraft supporting the Vietnamese.

In other U.S. air raids on North Vietnam, F105 pilots reported strikes against two surface-to-air missles (SAM) sites within 15 miles of the capital. The Viet Tri rail yard, 31 miles northwest, and the Trai Ca Highway and rail Bridge, 40

Tooke Gets Six Months In County Jail

OAKLAND (UPI) — Castro Valley tax consultant James C. Tooke was sentenced to six months in the county jail today for his part in the Alameda County assessors scandal.

Tooke, the central figure in the scandal, pleaded guilty to one count of grand theft and another of bribery.

Alameda County Superior Judge Redmond C. Staats also fined Earle Parrish, former Alameda County deputy assessor, $4,400 for his role in the scandal. Parrish pleaded guilty to two counts of grand theft involving Tooke's clients.

Staats noted that both men, particularly Tooke, had cooperated with the prosecution, but he said "some punishment was necessary." In Tooke's case, he said, "the court feels jail is in order."

Staats fined Parris $2,200 on each count. Parrish's attorney, George R. Nye, said he felt the judgement was "in error."

Jackie, Manchester Settle Out Of Court

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy reached an out-of-court agreement today with author William Manchester and the publishing house of Harper & Row on a version of Manchester's "The Death of a President."

The end of one of the most sensational controversies in book publishing history was a victory for Mrs. Kennedy, who instituted a suit in State Supreme Court Dec. 16 in an attempt to prevent publication and serialization of the book.

Today's settlement made it unnecessary for Manchester and Harper & Row to stand trial. Manchester's trial was to have started this morning and Harper & Row's on Wednesday. Look Magazine, which is serializing the book, reached an out-of-court settlement with Mrs. Kennedy before Christmas.

A spokesman for Harper & Row said representatives of all parties had signed an agreement this afternoon in the presence of Justice Saul Streit, who had personally guided negotiations which led to the settlement.

Still unsettled was the uncut serialization of the book currently running in the German weekly, Stern. Look editor-in-chief William Atwood and attorney William vanden Heuvel, a close friend of Mrs. Kennedy, flew to Germany last week in an attempt to persuade Stern to make the same cuts as those made by Look, but the German magazine refused.

The second serialized article in the current issue of Stern tells of President and Mrs. Kennedy's last night together, an episode which Look agreed to delete. It was this type of intimate detail to which Mrs. Kennedy objected, on the grounds it had no real bearing on history.

Gov. Reagan Suspends New Car Purchases

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan suspended today the purchase of all new state cars, except when urgently needed.

It was another in a series of economy moves launched by the Reagan administration last week in an attempt to cut spending during the current fiscal year, ending June 30.

A California Highway Patrol official said the new freeze would not affect the purchase of new patrol cars, contracted for late last year.

Other economy moves announced last week included the closing of eight service centers to the poor in racially troubled areas, a freeze on hiring of new state employees, and suspension of office equipment and furniture.

Reagan press aides added the governor, himself, is driving the 1964 black limousine used by his predecessor, Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, and there is no plan to buy a new car for Reagan.

Paul Beck, a press assistant, said agency chiefs and department heads could take emergency car-purchase requests to Phillip M. Battaglia, Reagan's executive director, for consideration.

Beck was asked if the administration is considering any new restrictions on the use of present state cars. He said that probably is under study, but it's a complicated problem.

Students Hang Reagan In Effigy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan was hanged in effigy again today over his proposal to charge tuition at the state university and colleges.

A dummy hanged atop the Sacramento State College Music and Speech Building bore a sign which read: "You got your four years. What about ours, Ronnie?"

College officials said they were investigating the incident.

Bromley Says He Gave Half Of Redwood Fee To Baker

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The government's star witness in the trial of Robert G. (Bobby) Baker testified today he gave the former Senate aide half of a $5,000 fee paid after federal approval for the Redwood National Bank in San Rafael.

Wayne L. Bromley, a Washington attorney and a friend of Baker for 24 years, gave the testimony in federal court after Judge Oliver Gasch postponed a ruling on a motion to dismiss charges of larceny, fraud and tax evasion charges against Baker.

Bromley said he and Baker "agreed that the fee would be split if we could expedite the charter" for the Redwood National Bank Bromley said he paid all of the income tax on the $5,000 and Baker told him he would be reimbursed for the amount of the taxes.

The charter was granted Jan. 4, 1963, by the U.S. Comptroller of the Currency. Bromley said he was asked in late 1962 by Maurice Hugett, who was representing a group trying to form the bank, to help in obtaining the charter.

Bromley also testified that on April 21, 1963, he sat in on a Las Vegas conference in which former Nevada Lt. Gov. Clinton

Report On The Red Guards In The Streets Of Canton

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Ian Brodie, 31, Far Eastern correspondent for the London Daily Express, has just spent four days in Canton and southeast China. Here is his eyewitness report on the upheaval shaking the Communist giant.)

By IAN BRODIE
London Daily Express

CANTON, China (AP) — Though one million Red Guards throng Canton's streets and are in effective control, there are no civil disorders. The opposition to the guards is cover, furtive and virtually underground.

Police are still on duty, most of them wearing armbands to show they are in the Red Guards anyway. But traffic in the streets of southeast China's biggest city is limited to a handful of trucks, packed buses and trolley-buses.

On my way to Canton I wondered if I would meet any Red Guards. By now I have seen thousands upon thousands, shaken hands with hundreds who wanted to be friendly and even had one try to press his red armband on me as a mark of honorary membership.

Their fervor is pathetic but self-sustaining. Primed with the thoughts of Mao Tse-tung to solve all problems, they see the golden classless future as theirs to inherit. Their movement is a pilgrimage but the only diety is Mao.

Out in the countryside I saw many more columns of youths marching to join their comrades.

One group of 50, with bedrolls on their backs and mostly barefoot, had been walking behind their red flag along dusty roads for four days. They said it may be a year before they see their village again.

Apart from their teacher, not one of them was over 13.

I was told the influx into Canton has built up suddenly during the last two troubled weeks — since Mao and Defense Minister Lin Piao said the cultural revolution must spread to every work bench and rice paddy in the land.

Apparently, all major cities now have a similar flood of marchers. The disruption of traffic, normal working and food supplies is unimaginable.

Older men who must keep working to feed their families are growing increasingly resentful, I was told. So are some young workers who are not students and who want to get on with learning a trade.

The Red Guards are everywhere in Canton, jammed on the pavement outside my hotel, milling in continuous procession along the main streets, accosting everyone daring them to defy Mao's thoughts. They tolerate no opposition.

And yet it was possible to detect that opposition still exists in Canton. It is underground. It is small. But it appears to be determined.

The Chinese official assigned to me by the authorities — a wary Mr. Wu — admitted that there had been labor troubles and strikes in Canton. From his account they were not coordinated or organized. Yet opponents of Mao had been able to trigger workers' unrest sufficiently to set up a number of wildcat walkouts.

In recent weeks the tempo of ramming home Mao's message has been stepped up. One aim of the cultural revolution is to make his words and image totally ubiquitous.

At every mealtime — delicate Cantonese cooking eaten with chopsticks — I sat under a red banner that said: "Chairman Mao is the Poroletariat in the present era, and the greatest genius in the present era — Lin Piao."

That sets the tone for Mao-think.

The fanatical campaign is defacing China. Every building in Canton is being daubed with quotations from Mao's thoughts, painted in scarlet characters on orders from the town council.

This blanket coverage has aroused critics. One wall poster lamented the waste of paint and the use of good space that could otherwise be used for posters.

If Mao falls from grace with the speed of Khrushchev, millions of Chinamen will need an overnight decorating job on their homes.

Set to music, his thoughts throb through loudspeakers on trains, in cafes, parks, shops and even the customs shed on the Hong Kong border.

I am the first British reporter to get into China since the cultural revolution flared into violence nearly two weeks ago, and my entry visa was for Canton only. I asked whether I could go to the north and was told: "There have been troubles in other parts of China. The situation is not good there, particularly in the north."

When I asked for details, an official told me: "I cannot give state secrets to foreigners."

Although the Red Guards are everywhere, fantastic pressures are bubbling up among the ordinary people and the guards themselves.

The tension is bordering on mass hysteria. Everyone is being told constantly that this present fight against the class enemy ranks with the October revolution. If you tell this to 700 million people long enough, someone will soon demand action. And when action comes thousands of innocent people will be the victims.

That is the mood here, volatile, hysterical, apprehensive.

The city of three million now has another million strangers on its streets who have swarmed in from the countryside. They are all in their teens and 20s. They throng the pavements, discussing in impromptu groups and holding mass sing-songs.

When I looked out of my bedroom window from the Yang-Cheng Hotel at 4:30 in the morning, they were still at it, about 3,000 teen-agers, squatting on the pavement, singing the thoughts of Mao.

Although I saw long early morning queues at a central food market, there did not appear to be shortages of vegetables or fresh meat. The queues were of old women, apparently anxious to be first for the choicest cuts. The favorite dishes: monkey and dog meat.

I met a gentle, white-haired American woman who said she left the United States forever two years ago to join a daughter here and to teach in China. She is Mrs. Doris Dawson, 77, of Palo Alto, Calif., who said she is a member of the American Communist Party.

She used to teach English at a University in Honan Province, but since all colleges were closed last summer for the cultural revolution she is out of a job. So now she is touring around as an honored guest with her own battered limousine and translator.

"His English is dreadful — they've taken all the good ones to explain the cultural revolution," she said.

Everywhere she finds marchers — "Goodness knows how many millions. I passed through a village of 2,000 in the mountains and the previous night they had put up 35,000 Red Guards.

She said the guards pay for food they take. The rate is 4 cents (about a penny) a day.

Mrs. Dawson speaks only a few words of Chinese and having no access to English-language news, she has no idea what is happening at a national level. She would not believe Mao and President Liu Shao-Chi have split.

"Cho En-Lai wouldn't let that happen," she said. Whatever they're doing now has been planned. They're shrewd, you know.

Mrs. Dawson sports a Red Guard armband.

"They gave it to me for my protection. I think the Red Guards are marvelous. Such a wonderful spirit," she said.

"I am not completely starry-eyed about China. I could talk to you for a whole afternoon about things I don't like such as the way they spit in public. But these faults would all be minor compared to the wonderful things happening here."

Mrs. Dawson said she left the states because of Vietnam — "Now I'm delighted the students are protesting at Berkeley and elsewhere."

But she says she cannot go back herself—"It would mean jail. My husband is 94 and very rich and we decided his money could keep him as well as I could. I still write to him."

Mrs. Dawson said goodbye a little wistfully: "It's been a pleasure talking to you. Apart from my daughter, who is married to a Chinese, you are the first English-speaking person I've met in two years."

Romney Urged To Study World

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford has urged Michigan Gov. George Romney to expand his staff to include experts on national and international affairs.

Ford

"I think Gov. Romney ought to assemble a first-class staff, a staff that has a broader interest and background than the one he has at the present time," Ford said Saturday on Metromedia's television-radio program "Opinion: Washington."

Romney, who says he has not yet decided whether to seek the GOP presidential nomination in 1968, has been criticized as being too vague on Vietnam and other major issues.

Lodge Tells Pope U.S. Viet Position

VATICAN CITY (UPI) —U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told Pope Paul VI today the specific reasons why the United States is engaged in the war in Vietnam.

The American ambassador to Vietnam said following the private audience he carried no special message from President Johnson, but had met with the pontiff to relate the U.S. position in the war.

The Pope is scheduled to meet with Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny on Jan. 24 while Podgorny is on an Italian state visit.

There was speculation President Johnson wanted the pontiff to be clear on the American position in the war before Podgorny's arrival.

Lodge was expected to return to Saigon tonight.

The Pope was scheduled to meet British Prime Minister Harold Wilson tomorrow for talks expected to revolve around Vatican and British attempts to achieve peace in Vietnam.

Mao Foe Reported Forming Own Army

TOKYO (AP) — One of Mao Tse-tung's mouthpieces, the theoretical journal Red Flag, reported yesterday that President Liu Shao-chi has formed a private army against Mao.

Red Flag described Liu's force as the "army of defenders of red state power" and said it was created to protect a handful of persons practising "bourgeois dictatorship."

It gave no details and did not say whether the army was military, paramilitary or just political in nature. But it claimed the 2.5-million-man Red Chinese army is "infinitely loyal to Chairman Mao, loyal to the people."

The article confirmed what has become increasingly apparent in the past two weeks, that Liu's men "in varying degrees still hold party, political and financial power in the localities and units in which they are entrenched."

It said they have to be rooted out, one by one, and "the positions recovered by the proletariat (Mao's supporters) have yet to be consolidated, one by one."

Mao's organs also disclosed over the weekend that counter-revolutionary forces exist within the Chinese army and said the struggle against the usual "small handful" in positions of power was "acute and complicated." It said that "even now they are staging a counterattack."

Astengo, a group counselor, will explain how he sustained back injuries while playing with a group of youths at Juvenile Hall on Dec. 3.

Slain Victim's Car Is Found; A Major Break

OAKLAND (UPI) — Authorities today checked out "the first major break in the case" of a murdered Oakland man, after his vehicle was discovered 15 miles from where the body was found.

The car was found late Saturday in Hayward. The victim, Ulrich C. Hoischen, 30, was shot three times in the head. His body was discovered last week in a wooded ravine near Oakland.

Sheriff's Lt. Glenn Dyer said finding the car was "the first major break in the case" and officers were also checking reports that two men were seen in Oakland in the vehicle.

Hoischen, an engineer, was last seen Tuesday when he left work. When the body was found, his wallet was missing, authorities said.

Unemployment Down In Watts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The ranks of the jobless in the troubled Watts section of Los Angeles have thinned, but there is still much to do, a business group reports.

The Management Council, which places members of minority groups in jobs, said Saturday that unemployment in the south-central part of Los Angeles—including Watts—is down by nearly half since the August, 1965, riots.

"We are making some gains," said H. C. McClellan, head of the council, "but to succeed it is going to take the combined effort of business, labor and certainly the government."

Public Hearing Tomorrow On Service District

Public hearing on the proposed formation of the Tamalpais Community Services District to take in most of Tamalpais Valley, will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow before county supervisors at the Civic Center.

The supervisors will begin their regular session at 9 a.m.

The morning agenda includes further discussion of the administrative changes proposed for county operation of the Community Mental Health Center. The county's mental health advisory board has asked that the discussion be put off for six months.

Also on the morning agenda is a suggestion that legislation be asked to give the counties control of State Public Works department projects such as the State Division of Highways' maintenance yard recently built near Point Reyes Station without benefit of supervisor or planning commission review.

The afternoon session will start at 1:30 p.m. with a hearing on the proposed second phase development of the road into Marincello. Plans for the two-mile stretch of raod were approved by the planning commission last week.

At 3:45 p.m. the board of supervisors will once again discuss earthquake risk, with consideration of Planning Director Paul C. Zucker's suggestion that he might name a pilot study committee on the problem on his own initiative, despite board turndown last week.

The home of Harold K. Graves, president of Golden Gate Baptist Seminary at Strawberry, was ransacked Friday and silverware valued at more than $6,000 stolen, according to the Marin County sheriff's office.

Deputies said someone entered the home at 10 Chapel Drive while Graves was on a tour of the Midwest.

Among items taken were gifts to Graves for his service: a silver table service for 12 presented by the First Baptist Church of Bartlesville, Okla., valued at $2,000; a silver chafing dish "in appreciation for his service to the district 1953-63," valued at "several thousand"; and a silver tea and coffee serving set inscribed from "the First Baptist Church July 4, 1953," valued at $2,000.

Also taken were a mink stole valued at $550; a camera, valued at $45; two silver trays, valued at $165; a television set, valued at $130, and a bedspread "apparently used to carry away the loot," according to deputies.

Homer McLaughlin of Sacramento, Graves' son-in-law, reported the burglary at 12:39 p.m. Friday. Deputies reported that someone entered the home on the Seminary ground by smashing a window in a rear door.

Lani Bird Probe To Link Japan, U.S. Via Television

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communications Satellite Corp. plans to inaugurate commercial communications service between the United States and Japan late this month via its new Lani Bird satellite.

Lani Bird 2, officially known as intelsat Satellite 2, was launched Wednesday from Cape Kennedy, Fla., and reached a synchronous orbit Saturday 22,300 miles above earth.

The new Lani Bird, replacing Lani Bird 1 which failed to achieve synchronous orbit, is designed to serve as a new communications link between the United States and the Far East.

A spokesman said Comsat will begin today 10 days of tests to determine the spacecraft's communications capacity. It is expected to have about 240 circuits. The first, for use between America and Japan, is scheduled tentatively to be opened Jan. 26.

When launched, Lani Bird 2 reached an eliptical orbit ranging between 160 and 19,911 nautical miles above earth. Comsat sent the spacecraft Saturday into a stationary orbit over the Pacific at the international date line.

Because Lani Bird 1 did not reach a synchronous orbit, it could be used for communications only on a part-time basis.

On April 1, the Defense Department will claim 30 circuits —10 each for communications between Hawaii, Japan, the Philippines and Thailand. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has contracted for half of the new satellite's communications channels.

miles north of Hanoi, also were struck.

American B-52 bombers staged three raids in South Vietnam, spokesmen said. The targets included guerrilla base camps 280 miles northeast of Saigon, just west of Hue and south of Marine positions along the Demilitarized Zone.

U.S. spokesmen also announced that Operation Deckhouse V, a Marine amphibious assault in the Mekong Delta, had come to a close. The leathernecks reported 21 enemy killed and 14 captured in the 10-day operation south of Saigon. A North Vietnamese broadcast monitored in Tokyo today described the operation as a "gigantic flop."

On another front, former Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, visiting Vietnam for three days "as a taxpayer", today called for stepped up bombing of North Veitnam.

"It won't bother Communist China," he said. "They are not going to war with us at this time. They're not ready . . . "They're not ready for war."

Goldwater said he believed there were "some more lucrative targets" to be bombed in the North beyond the "wooden bridges" that often are present targets.

Goldwater, who arrived with his wife Peggy from Bangkok, Thailand, was greeted at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airbase by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, American commander in Vietnam, and U.S. deputy Ambassador William Porter.

Corte Madera Costs Below Budget Figure

Corte Madera is expected to finish the fiscal year $20,000 ahead of its budget, Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher said today.

He will present a mid-year budget review to the Corte Madera Town Council today at 7:30 p.m., and will ask that a total of $13,995 be transferred from the reserve, but the town will still spend $20,000 less than the budget called for, he said.

The council is to make an appointment to the planning commission.

Annexation of Industrial Way to Larkspur will be considered, as part of the continuing boundary adjustment project between Corte Madera and Larkspur.

The council will consider an ordinance regulating encroachments within town rights-of-way. Usher said the town has until now had a procedure for handling encroachments, but no ordinance.

The council may call for bids on widening, curb work and reconstruction of portions of Palm and Buena Vista Avenues, estimated to cost $13,000.

Cherry Bomb Blast Hurts Teen-Ager

A 16-year-old Novato boy was in fair condition today in Letterman General Hospital, San Francisco, from injuries suffered when a cherry bomb exploded yesterday in his hand.

Novato police said Patrick and three 17-year-old companions, Donald Edward Herriott of 1527 Buchanan Street, Thomas Alan Herrnberger of 9 Gothic Drive, and Harold Edward Kruth of 760 Tamalpais Avenue were in a car in front of the Kruth home at 12:15 a.m. yesterday. Patrick produced the cherry bomb and used a dry cigarette lighter to make sparks to ignite it, the officers said.

He was given emergency treatment at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital, then transferred to Letterman.

Still A Few Empty Beds At Hospitals

Marin County's three general hospitals aren't so crammed with patients as last week, but there are still few empty beds.

Today Marin General Hospital had 170 adult patients and 20 newborn babies, down 14 from 184 adults last Thursday, near capacity.

Administrator Ray Bolinger said the hospital is admitting elective patients, "but it's difficult to say the situation is over yet. So far so good; we hope we can take care of all requests for admission."

Ross General Hospital had a few empty beds during the weekend, reported administrator Dr. John C. Siemens, "but they're filling up rapidly toady." Last week Ross Hospital had only one empty bed, out of 149.

Novato General Hospital administrator Milton Scott could not say how many empty beds were available, "but everything's going along normally."

At Center Medical Hospital in Kentfield, administrator Donald Barksdale said last week's full-house continued. All 99 beds in the hospital were occupied.

Kaiser Foundation's Terra Linda Valley Hsopital is still the only hsopital in the county with many vacancies. Today there were 53 patients with a total of 97 beds available.

BAKER

Jones arranged to pay Baker $10,000 by sending checks of $1,000 a month through Bromley.

Jones said "he wanted me to report it on my income tax and he would pay the difference on it," Bromley said.

Former Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges testified about a partnership deal in a Charlotte, N.C., restaurant which he had with Baker and another man.

Hodges said that in 1961 he arranged to sell his share to the other two partners.

Gasch said before ruling on defense motions to dismiss the charges against Baker, he wanted to read the transcript of more than an hour's questioning of Bromley.

Defense Attorney Edward Bennett Williams filed two motions last week protesting that Bromley had been illegally equipped with a microphone transmitter so that federal agents could listen to his conversations with Baker.

Bromley, in questioning without the jury present, acknowledged that government attorneys listened in on a phone call he had on March 25, 1965, with Baker but said it was a completely insignificant call.

He also related that on March 26, he went to Los Angeles and conferred with Baker in a hotel room. At that time, he said, there was a transmitting device concealed on his belt line and a hidden microphone on his shirt.

Bromley said he did not know where the conversation was being monitored but he supposed that this was being done. He also said that he understands that a tape of the monitored talk exists but is "useless."

The government witness said that he agreed to the "bugging" on the advice of his attorney.

Mrs. Wallace Taking Oath In Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) —Lurleen Burns Wallace was to take the oath of office today as Alabama's first woman governor and the third in the history of the nation.

The honey blonde former dime store clerk succeeds her husband in a family-affair inauguration which evolved when the legislature refused to change laws to allow George Wallace to succeed himself as governor. Wallace ran his wife for the post and she won handily.

Mrs. Wallace, standing on a bronze star on the steps of the Alabama statehouse where Jefferson Davis was sworn in as president of the Confederacy 106 years ago, was to take the oath following the longest parade ever in Alabama —a five-hour extravaganza of 300 units.

She also planned to use the same tattered Bible Davis used to complete the latest chapter in her Cinderella story.

Fair skies and balmy temperatures combined with the magnetism of the Wallaces were expected to draw thousands for the afternoon swearing-in ceremonies at the capitol, gleaming white with a fresh coat of paint especially for the event.

Mrs. Wallace began her big day with a traditional prayer breakfast, along with her husband and Lt. Gov. Albert Brewer and several other state leaders.

The Wallaces broke tradition by refusing to sanction an official ball out of deference to Alabamians fighting in Vietnam.

The only other woman ever to serve as governors were Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming and Mrs. Miriam (Ma) Ferguson of Texas, both elected in 1924.

FIRE ENGULFS EXPOSITION HALL

Billowing smoke rolls from Chicago's huge lakefront exposition hall, McCormick Place, this morning as the large modern building was destroyed by fire. A security guard, who discovered the fire, was credited with saving the lives of 150 persons by racing through halls ahead of the smoke and warning them to flee. (AP Wirephoto)

Operation Restores GI's Normal Voice

BOSTON (AP) — A Marine wounded in a Viet Cong ambush last fall said "Hello, how are you?" And became, doctors believe, the first person to speak normally without a voice box.

Doctors at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary fashioned a tube and valve from the skin of Lance Cpl. Walter Lopata to replace a shattered larynx and restore his voice.

The second of two operations was performed Friday and Lopata, 25, greeted reporters Saturday with "Hello, how are you?" They were his first spoken words since he was wounded by Viet Cong shrapnel Oct. 11.

The two-stage operation was developed by Dr. William W. Montgomery of the infirmary who termed results of what he said was the first such attempt "a complete success."

Dr. Montgomery said general use of the procedure is "still in the future."

He said an estimated 6,000 Americans have their voice box removed each year because of cancer. He said perhaps 70 per cent of these eventually might be candidates for the new surgery.

A patient without a voice box must try to learn esophageal speech in which air is swallowed into the stomach and words are formed by "burping" into the throat, Dr. Montgomery explained.

The new surgical procedure allows the patient to breathe into the lungs and back up the throat in the normal way, giving the voice a good volume and pitch control never possible with esophageal speech.

In Good Condition

Mrs. Helen G. Belsey, 51, of 205 Second Street, Sausalito, was reported in good condition today in Marin General Hospital with a neck concussion, fractures, and arm cuts suffered Friday night while riding in a car which struck an abutment on the southern approach to the Golden Gate Bridge.

Only Few Are Objecting Now To Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the American Medical Assn. says that after six and one-half months of Medicare the nation's doctors are voicing few objections—publicly or privately—to the federal health program for the elderly.

"In the beginning, there were some rebellious ones who spoke as if they wouldn't cooperate," with medicare, said Dr. Charles L. Hudson.

But now, he said, "I just don't hear the number of remarks. There are not so many who say they won't participate" in portions of the program.

Have doctors found that medicare is not the bureaucratic monster they feared?

Dr. Hudson, interviewed during his appearance at a medical conference, smiled and paused for a moment.

What doctors were fighting against, he said, was an intangible thing. "It was, he said, "whether you were going to lose your professional freedom. You have to let it run a while to see how obnoxious it is.

"The unknown is always worse than the fact."

First Negro Government Is Installed In Bahama Islands

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — These sunny islands get their first Negro government today. But despite the political questions, life proceeded as before.

Tourists who jammed Nassau rode down Bay Street apparently as oblivious to the political turnover as were the horses wearing straw hats and pulling pink surreys.

But among resident in the 700-island chain stretching from near Florida to near Cuba, the talk was about Premier-designate Lynden O. Pindling, who pulled the election upset of Bahamas' history.

Will his party embark on radical policies that could rock a tourist-laden prosperity boat or will it tread cautiously?

In the native straw market, one of the women who make hats to sell to tourists, remarked: "We have a government now that is for the people and not for themselves. Now we are going to have price controls and low-cost houses and better schools and hospital facilities."

In bigger business circles, there was some apprehension.

Pindling, 36, London-trained barrister whose Progressive Liberal party won a resounding election victory over the white-dominated United Bahamian party said: "We are not going to cut our throat. Business interests, tourists and investors have nothing to fear.

"We will open our doors to legitimate English and American industry and thus take the present stranglehold away from the minority that controls the economic welfare of the country."

Woman Hurt In Accident

A 61-year-old Fairfax woman suffered minor injuries in a three-car, rear-end chain collision on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, west of Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Injured was Vivien Neill Dean of 133 Willow Avenue, who suffered a cut lip, bruised knees and chest pains. She was treated at Kaiser Terra Linda Valley Hospital.

Officers said a car driven by Mrs. Dean hit the rear of a car driven by Raymond Edward Estelita, 42, of 82 Redwood Road, Fairfax, pushing it into a car driven by Hel LeGriel Barker, 80, of 101 San Carlos Avenue, Sausalito. All were eastbound.

STRUCTURAL SPINAL DISORDERS

Nearly every person at some time during his life suffers pain and disease due to structural distortions of the spine.

THE NORMAL SPINE . . . not only provides the main support of the human body; it also provides a protective enclosed tube through which pass the NERVES THAT SUPPLY EVERY PART OF THE BODY. THE SPINE THAT HAS BECOME DISTORTED BY EXCESSIVE PROLONGED MUSCLE TENSION, MINOR FALLS, OR ACCIDENTS AND STRAINS does not adequately support the body . . . the result is REPEATED PAINFUL BACK DISORDERS AND INCREASED SUSCEPTIBILITY TO DISABLING SPINAL INJURY. If allowed to persist, the increased stress of excessive spinal muscle tension and structural distortion of the spine is likely to play a major role in later years in the development of DEGENERATIVE SPINAL DISEASE.

THE STRUCTURALLY DISTORTED SPINE . . . NOT ONLY FAILS TO SUPPORT THE BODY: IT FAILS TO PROVIDE ADEQUATE PROTECTION FOR THE DELICATE SPINAL CORD AND SPINAL NERVES . . . in many cases a structural distortion or segment displacement may actually injure a nerve which supplies vital energy to a major organ or tissue. Everyone is familiar with the fact that a displaced spinal segment may "pinch" a nerve and cause neuritis in an arm or leg. FEW PEOPLE REALIZE THAT THE SAME TYPE INJURY MAY OCCUR IN A NERVE THAT SUPPLIES A VITAL ORGAN. A REGULAR PROFESSIONALLY DIRECTED SPINAL HYGIENE PROGRAM ALLOWS YOUR CHIROPRACTOR TO DETECT AND CORRECT SPINAL DISTORTIONS IN THEIR EARLY STAGES

IF YOU NOW HAVE A CONSTANT BACK PROBLEM THAT YOU HAVE DECIDED THAT YOU WOULD JUST HAVE TO LIVE WITH OR ONE THAT COMES AND GOES . . . NOW IS A GOOD TIME TO PHONE SO WE CAN CORRECT YOUR PROBLEM.

Rockefellers, Eaton Will Build Giant Soviet Bloc Trade Bridge

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rockefeller brothers and Cyrus S. Eaton Jr., representing two of the nation's richest families, plan to build a better trade bridge between the Western Hemisphere and Communist countries in Eastern Europe.

The financial alliance, linking Wall Street and the Midwest, was disclosed yesterday and confirmed by Richard S. Aldrich of the Rockefeller interests.

It will involve cooperation between the International Basic Economy Corp., controlled by the Rockefeller brothers, and Tower International, Inc., headed by Eaton, a Cleveland industrialist.

Aldrich, a vice president and director of IBEC, said his organization's objective "is to improve the standard of living of the peoples of the world.

"An initiative that creates a commercial and industrial dialogue between the East and the West cannot help but contribute to a better world."

The trade exchange plan — encompassing the United States, Canada and Latin America — brings together the enormous investment skills of the Rockefellers and the almost unique relationship the Eatons have with the Soviet bloc.

Cyrus S. Eaton Sr., long an advocate of closer ties between the United States and the Soviet Union, has cultivated some support behind the iron curtain by his trips to Moscow. He has entertained Soviet leaders, including former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

CYRUS S. EATON
Trade planning

In today's New York Times, a two-page Soviet advertisement stresses that ideological differences are no barrier to trade, and assures American businessmen that Soviet foreign trade organizations "are also ready to strike up relations with you."

The two-page spread, headed "Foreign Trade—Two-Way Traffic," further states that "The USSR favors mutually beneficial trade relations with the countries and this is not a mere political assertion." The advertisement was placed by Amtorg Trading Corp., which handles most trade between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The IBEC, organized in 1947 by Nelson A. Rockefeller, now New York's governor, specializes in investments in underdeveloped nations. It has interests in 29 nations, but none in the Communist bloc.

Tower International has specialized in promoting and arranging the financing of projects in Eastern Europe.

Youth Attack Firefighter

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Four Oakland youths attacked a fireman late Saturday night at the scene of a two-alarm fire in a Mission District Hotel.

The firemen, Robert G. Cotton, 47, was hospitalized with facial injuries.

Police said Cotton was helping battle the blaze when the four youths walked out of a crowd of spectators and assaulted him. Cotton was struck several ties in the face with a sap made of a steel bar wrapped in electrical tape.

Not a word was exchanged between the fireman and his assailants, officers said.

Golden Gate Bridge Victim Was San Anselmo Resident

Edward Walsh of 15 Ramona Way, San Anselmo, has been identified as the man who leaped to his death from the Golden Gate Bridge Friday afternoon.

Walsh, 38 years old and out of a job, was identified Saturday by his brother-in-law, Frank Milani of 15 Taylor Drive, Fairfax. Milani reportedly told the San Francisco coroner's office that Walsh was despondent over family problems.

A native of Portland, Ore., Walsh lived six and one-half years in Marin County. He had worked as a piano player, gardener, and library clerk.

He is survived by his wife, Adele; his daughter, Patricia; his mother, Mary Walsh of Richmond, and his sister, Betty Ann O'Rourke of El Cerrito.

Two workmen looked over the bridge railing Friday and saw Walsh's body floating in the water below. The California Highway Patrol said no one saw him jump. There was no identification in his pockets, only a cancelled bus ticket from Martinez to Sausalito.

Walsh was the first known suicide off the bridge this year, according to the highway patrol.

Severe Storm Sweeps Into The Midwest

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A "severe storm" that had the makings of a blizzard swept into the Midwest today—loaded with heavy snow, Arctic cold and winds above 50 miles an hour.

The U.S. Weather Bureau posted blizzard warnings for North Dakota and Minnesota and heavy snow or hazardous driving warnings from a seven state area from Nebraska and the Dakotas across Minnesota and Iowa to Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

Up to four inches of snow was expected in central and southeast Minnesota across northern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan.

Winds roared at 50 miles per hour with gusts above 100 miles an hour across the northern Rockies late Sunday night and early today.

The storm system's winds promised to close roads with drifts.

Winds of up to 115 miles per hour smashed Boulder, Colo., late Sunday night and early today, tossing light planes like twigs and tumbling heavy trailer homes on their tops.

"It's the worst wind I have ever seen," said Boulder Deputy Sheriff Paul Hooven. "It's really quite a mess out here."

Officials at the Atmospheric Research Center southwest of Boulder said they clocked the winds at 115 MPH, the highest velocity their instruments could measure.

Winds with gusts up to 60 and 70 MPH hit west of Denver. The Jefferson County Airport, northwest of Denver, reported winds at 90 MPH.

Two inches of new snow fell after 1 a.m. today at Great Falls, Mont., and Fargo, N.D. One inch snowfalls were common from Wyoming and Montana across to western Wisconsin.

Some freezing rain and sleet mixed with the snow in South Dakota. The hazardous mixture was expected to spread eastward to the southern Great Lakes region by tonight.

The storm system brought frigid temperatures to the beleaguered areas. Cold wave warnings boding of 20-25 degree below zero marks were hoisted for Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Nebraska and Iowa.

Intercom Theft Is Reported

Theft of intercom speakers and a door bell worth $30 from a vacant house at 5 Upperhill Road, Mill Valley, was reported to police Saturday by Gerald J. Origlia of 37 Reed Ranch Road, Tiburon, the owner. A speaker system was taken from the house last week end.

Mrs. Rodney B. Hartman of 38 Bigelow Avenue, reported that a radio antenna and battery were stolen from her car Friday night while it was parked in front of her home.

Joe Eastburn of 299 Throckmorton Avenue reported a beer bottle was thrown through the rear window of his car while parked at home last night.

Safety Standard Decisions Due

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Johnson administration, already worried about a possible business slowdown, soon must decide whether its battle for safety standards will hurt the nation's vital auto industry.

The pressure is on Dr. William Haddon Jr., the young physician who heads the National Traffic Safety Agency. He is to meet soon with U.S. and foreign auto industry officials who insist that proposed federal safety standards be changed.

The outcome of these discussions will be the final standards, to be made public by Jan. 31. Their aim is to effect changes in production of new cars, starting this fall.

Henry Ford II set the pace for the "big four" of American automakers when he said that industry shutdowns could result unless the standards were modified in keeping with Detroit's wishes.

But a little noticed comment by the auto industry's most respected safety expert has taken some of the edge off Ford's position. And it indicated that Haddon could come up with a liveable set of standards for both Washington and Detroit.

Roy Hauesler of Chrysler Corp., considered by his colleagues as the most knowledgeable in the safety field, said last week there was little chance of industry shutdowns. He said Haddon was interested in cooperating with the industry.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., the lawmaker most responsible for pushing through traffic safety legislation, today urged the auto industry to "stop arguing" about why they cannot comply with the proposed standards and "start competing" to deliver a safe car to the public.

In a speech to a traffic safety conference at Hartford, Conn., Ribicoff conceded "there is a vast shortage in our knowledge about traffic safety. But to hold up the construction of safer cars until we have absolute proof is a reckless argument."

Thant Asks Israel, Syria To Calm Down

JERUSALEM (AP) — Foreign Minister Abba Eban warned today that Israel cannot tolerate any more "aggressive acts" by Syria and that it has "both the will and the strength to halt the activities."

Speaking o foreign newsnen, Eban repeated an Israeli offer for an informal emergency meeting of the Syrian-Israel Mixed Armistice Commission to discuss outstanding issues, but said "shooting and bombing has first to stop to make such a meeting possible."

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant appealed yesterday to both Syria and Israel to restrain their military forces, warning that a large-scale clash could result from continuing tension along their border.

Thant's appeal, sent to the two governments Sunday, said he had received word of a big military buildup along the border from Lt. Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, chief of staff of the U.N. truce supervision organization in Palestine.

Eban said the buildup "was originally caused by Syrians establishing tanks and heavy armor in defensive areas on the Syrian side of the border and by activation of their arms against Israel. We were compelled also to bring tanks into our defensive area—reluctantly, but inevitably."

Deployment of troops, heavy arms and armored vehicles along the 50-mile-long border area was reported as daily violence continued along the frontier.

An Israeli spokesman said three antivehicle mines were found and disarmed in the Tel Kazir area less than a mile from the Syrian border this morning. He said they had been planted by infiltrators who crossed the border Sunday night.

San Franciscan Remains Fair From Attack

A 23-year-old San Francisco man, attacked by a group of thrill-seeking teen-agers Friday night, remained in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Roger T. Jensen suffered back injuries, a concussion and multiple bruises when he was assaulted by one of four 17-year-old boys who terrorized the car carrying Jensen and his wife, Uatricia, on Highway 101 in Patricia, on Highway 101 in Valley police.

The youths, who were taken in custody later, threw stones and bottles at the couple. Jensen was punched as he alighted from his car at a service station, where they had gone to seek help.

TO ADDRESS SERGEANTS—Dr. John K. Reno Busboy Shot To Death

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gerald W. Eddy, 25, a Reno busboy, was shot and killed today by a man he apparently intended to hold up.

Police said the man who did the shooting fled the scene, as did a companion of Eddy's. Officers said a witness told them that he saw Eddy and another man frisking a third man. Suddenly the intended robbery victim stepped back, pulled a gun from his coat and shot Eddy, according to the witness.

Both the killer and Eddy's companion then fled south on Leavenworth, the witness said.

Eddy, shot in the left temple, was dead when officers arrived.

Dallas Paper Calls City One Of Decency

NEW YORK (AP) — The Dallas Times Herald purchased a full-page advertisement in the New York Times today to reprint an editorial entitled "Dallas: City of Patience, Decency" that appeared in the Texas newspaper on Jan. 8.

The editorial was written by Felix McKnight, executive vice president and editor. It quotes from another editorial that appeared in the paper at the time President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas: "What happened there could have happened in any city. But first there had to be the seeds of hate —and we must pray that Dallas can never supply the atmosphere for tragedy to grow again."

The new editorial says the death of Jack Ruby "has brought new arrows from the shoulder slings of our critics."

It concludes: "In this city there is a high degree of decency, respect, admiration and continuing grief. Very patiently we have labored to close a wound.

"We wince only when the misinformed outsider rips the sutures."

James F. Chambers Jr., president of the Times Herald Printing Co., said the Jan. 8 editorial had elicited a favorable response and the company decided to run it in the New York Times as an advertisement to gain wider readership.

A new study of health manpower supply and needs in the nation's hospitals indicates that the United States is facing significant shortages in all categories of professional and technical personnel.

Mayor Of Dallas Rips Manchester's Book

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Earle Cabell, who was mayor of Dallas at the time of the Kennedy assassination, has accused author William Manchester of a "deliberate attempt to distort history."

Cabell called a news conference during the weekend to "set the record straight as an eyewitness" to events surrounding the death of President Kennedy.

The Texas Democrat said repeated references to the "scurrilous charges" in Manchester's controversial book, "The Death of a President," compelled him to "set the record straight and to clear those public officials involved who were only carrying out their sworn duties."

Cabell, who was riding in the second car in the Kennedy motorcade, said he arrived at the hospital immediately behind the President's car and remained there until Kennedy's body was removed.

The Congressman said:

The allegation that a Dallas City ordinance prohibited transportation of the casket in an ambulance is "completely false." He said no such ordinance existed.

The "implications of a wrestling match" between Kennedy aides and Texas officials over removal of the President's body from Parkland Hospital are untrue. "I was there," Cabell said. "There was no incident of any physical violence in attempts to force the removal of the casket."

There was no delay in arranging to transport the President's body from the hospital to the airport. Cabell said that when funeral director Vernon O'Neal "was requested to bring his finest casket to the hospital, he did so in an immaculate new funeral coach. Not one minute of delay was encountered in this transaction."

The Congressman said he would hold further news conferences to comment on other portions of the book as they are released.

Marin City Study Center On Tamalpais Agenda

The Tamalpais High School District board will decide whether to continue the Marin City study center at its 8 p.m. meeting today in the superintendent's office.

The tutoring center, which started five years ago as a volunteer program, was financed this year with $6,000 in federal and district funds, but the money will be gone Jan. 31. The board will decide whether to continue financing the center.

Architect Ralph Priestley will present preliminary plans for the San Geronimo Valley high school, and the board may authorize working drawings.

The board will consider the final purchase of 47.75 acres for a school site in Tiburon for $350,000.

An application for $54,000 in federal funds for a one-year, experimental English composition program will be considered, as well as an application for $500 in federal funds for equipment for visually handicapped programs.

The board will hear a report on physical fitness tests given all district students during the fall semester.

Contracts may be awarded for a simulated driving unit and language laboratory equipment. Two bids were received on the driver training unit, $4,160 by Triple E, Inc., of Riverside and $4,400 by Educational Training Systems of San Rafael. Roger Wurtz Co. of San Rafael was the only bidder on the language laboratory equipment, at $10,800.

Dr. Karl H. Koenig is president of the Ross Valley Camera Club.

Permit For TV Antenna To Be Heard Tonight

A use permit for a community antenna television site on Sugarloaf Drive near the water tank will be discussed at the Tiburon Board of Adjustments today at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

George Born of the Belvedere-Tiburon CATV Co. has applied to the City of Belvedere for a franchise for the television service. The Tiburon site is the property of Philip Ehrlich Jr., 333 Belvedere Avenue, Belvedere.

The board will also consider a request for a permit for professional offices on property owned by Frederick G. Zelinsky of Belvedere on the east side of Tiburon Boulevard between Safeway Store and Mar West Street.

"If approved, this could have quite an impact on Tiburon's downtown plan," according to development administrator Phil V. Scott. "It will be the entrance to Tiburon."

High-Speed Link Studied For Airport

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—The West Bay Transit Authority is considering a link by which San Francisco Airport passengers might use the high-speed trains of the Bay Area Rapid Transit System.

The plan is one of four alternatives listed in a year-end report issued yesterday by the San Mateo County district's director, John C. Lilly.

The alternatives:

Extending the present San Francisco BART lines on to a San Mateo County transfer hub "in the vicinity of San Francisco Airport."

Extending BART all the way down the Peninsula. This was originally rejected by San Mateo County when BART proposed it.

Modernizing and extending Southern Pacific Railroad Facilities to connect with BART and the Municipal Railway system at Market Street in San Francisco.

Use of buses on exclusive freeway lanes.

San Mateo County, along with Santa Clara County, withdrew from BART when it was in its formative stages.

Addition On Agenda

The Corte Madera Board of Adjustments will consider the application of Mr. and Mrs. Warren R. Cushman to build an addition to their home at 45 Ash Avenue, Corte Madera, at 7:30 p.m. Mednesday at Town Hall.

Expert Says Reward Plays Big Role In Teaching Handicapped

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

A piece of candy took on unusual significance to 650 psychologists, parents, social workers, school principals and teachers meeting in Strawberry Saturday.

It was stressed time and time again as a key in encouraging responses during the teaching of educationally handicapped children.

Whether candy was given to a child as an award for achievement, or whether the offering was a hug, a kind word or merit marks, was not important.

What was important was that a handicapped child should realize that effort will always be followed by a reward, Dr. Frank M. Hewett, assistant professor of medical psychology at University of California School of Medicine, told his large audience at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary.

"This is not a fadist theory," he said. "The one big idea is in finding how to use some sort of reward within the conventional teaching structure. It so happens that candy seems to be of some use."

He was one of the speakers at a one-day institute on "Behavior Modification and the Educationally Handicapped Child" sponsored by the Marin County Superintendent of Schools and six Marin school districts.

Others were Dr. Arnold Lazarus, director of the Behavioral Therapy Institute in Sausalito; and Dr. Ivar Lovaas, associate professor of psychology and Dr. Robert Schwitzgebel, both of University of California at Los Angeles.

Explaining his own method of making rewards, Dr. Hewett pointed out it is done under medical supervision.

"I don't want you to get the impression we are a bunch of irresponsible nuts working behind locked doors in a hush-hush atmosphere on theories only we believe in," he said.

He maintained there were patients in mental hospitals who were, for the most part, left alone and merely sustained. This, he believed, was cruel in the long run.

The handicapped—particularly children—needed stimulation. "They must be rewarded, or they will not learn," Dr. Hewett said.

Teachers should not preoccupy themselves with trying to solve the reason why a child behaves in a certain way. Rather, they should analyze what the child does and set about soliciting the right response.

He said that among programs, systems and routines of teaching handicapped children, he was often asked, "Where is the love?"

He replied: "There is no greater manisfestation of true teacher love than to give a sense of dignity to someone who can learn. And providing a child with predictable consequences may be the most loving thing that can be done under the circumstances."

He pressed teachers to make school a welcoming place to handicapped children. If normal adults found themselves in an non-productive, unsatisfying environment, they could change jobs.

Handicapped children were not in that position and invarably found means of expressing their resentment.

Among the sponsors of the institute wers Fairfax, Larkspur, Mill Valley, Novato Unified, San Rafael and Tamalpais High School Districts.

Common Bible Agreement Near By Churches

ROME (AP) — Roman Catholics and Protestants are near agreement on the text of a common Bible despite opposition to the book remaining in both churches, the Vatican's chief negotiator on common Bible problems said last night.

The Rev. Walter M. Abbott of New York told a group of priests at the Pontifical Bible Institute that the churches were working toward compromise on two crucial points and "we practically have in our hands the common Bible text."

Biblical scholars of both churches met in Rome this month to begin studying translation needs for a common Bible. Pope Paul VI recently authorized Catholic participation on the basis of a suggestion by the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Territories To Satehood

LONDON (AP) — Five British territories in the West Indies will become self-governing states associated with Britain in the next seven weeks and will have the right to become independent if they want to without further action by the British Parliament.

Antigua and St. Kitts-Nevis-Anguilla will have "statehood day" Feb. 27, Dominica and St. Lucia on March 1 and Grenada on March 3. The islands will be known as the West Indies Associated States.

Britain's will retain control of the islands' defense and foreign affairs.

West Virginia has produced more than 6 billion tons of coal yet approximately 100 billion tons remain unmined.

Greek Orthodox Leader Honored

CHICAGO (AP) — Archbishop Iakovos, spiritual leader of six million Greek Orthodox faithful, was honored last night at a banquet in Chicago.

The dinner culminated celebration of "Archbishop Iakovos Day" officially proclaimed in all 50 states of the nation.

Services in his honor were held in the 400 Orthodox churches in North and South America. He has been head of the church in the Western Hemisphere for the past seven years.

Attending the dinner was Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who said of the archbishop: "America is a much better country because of the spiritual leadership of this man."

Reagan To Ask Legislature For Tougher Crime Laws

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Gov. Ronald Reagan plans to ask the legislature tomorrow for tough new laws to fight crime and crack down on smut peddlers.

Reagan's crime message is the first of a series spelling out the details of his "creative society" program.

Other parts of the governor's legislative program will be unveiled during the next six weeks, Reagan said. They include proposals on reorganization of the executive branch of government, agriculture, education, welfare and the all-important subjects of spending and taxes.

The Senate and Assembly begin the third week of the 1967 session today following a three-day weekend. Although hundreds of bills have already been introduced. The lawmakers are more-or-less marking time waiting for Reagan to spell out his proposals.

Reagan, meanwhile, distributed the first of a series of weekly "reports to the people" for showing by television stations tonight.

The three-minute program was recorded Friday before Reagan was stricken with a flu attack which kept him in bed most of the weekend.

Although the governor does not plan to submit his budget to the legislature until Jan. 31, the constitutional deadline, he has already made it clear the key word will be "economy."

Reagan said his budget proposal for the fiscal year beginning July 1 would reflect a 10 per cent cut in the "workload budget" of all state agencies, including the University of California and the state colleges.

He explained the workload budget is determined by taking the present budget and adding a factor for population growth and inflation.

The governor announced the timetable for his messages to the legislature during the weekend. He said the crime proposal tomorrow would be followed by a reorganization plan for the executive branch of state government before the end of the week.

Youth Reports He's Fired At

Thomas Russeel Gore, 18, of 49 Valencia Ave., Apt. 7, San Rafael, reported to police Friday that two bullets have been fired at him in the past two months.

Gore said he received a letter threatening his life from Flagstaff, Ariz., and on Dec. 29 at 11:25 p.m. someone fired a shot at him while he was walking along Embarcadero Way in San Rafael. The bullet kicked dust in front of his feet, he said.

Then on Jan. 9 at 7:20 p.m. someone fired at him while he was "behind a movie theater in Mill Valley," he reported. This shot narrowly missed his knees and glanced off a wall, Gore said.

Marinite Given The Air Medal

Davis, a helicopter pilot, earned the award for aerial support of ground operations.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Davis of the Bamboo Terrace address.

"GOD ...not chance"

The more deeply you understand the power and love of God, the less you believe in chance. There's a law of Spirit much greater than the law of averages, and those who discover it, and live by it, will help to light the world's way out of chaos. Hear this public lecture titled "God — Not Chance" by NORMAN B. HOLMES, C.S.B., member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Meet Ralph Frey, Jr., 19
He's a college junior.
He can read 3,000 words a minute.
He is not skimming.

Watching Ralph's hand fly over the pages (his hand acts as a pacer), you can't believe that he's actually reading. He must be skimming.

But he's not.

Ralph Frey can read the average novel in a little under 40 minutes. Once, while standing in a bookstore, he read three complete novels before he was asked to leave.

He studies between 1,500 to 2,000 words a minute, and rarely dips below 1,000 wpm, even on the toughest material.

Most significantly, however, is that he can comprehend and recall what he's read—right down to the details.

Ralph Frey is not a mental freak. Nor is he a naturally fast reader. He learned this revolutionary technique of rapid reading at the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute. He is one of more than 17,000 graduates in Northern California.

Ralph was one of our better students. He started the course at about 400 words a minute and increased his rate 8 times. Our average student begins at about 300 words a minute and works up to speeds over 1,500 words a minute.

You can do this, too!

"Reading dynamically," says Ralph, "means that I can cover both the required and the suggested reading for a course during the first month of the semester. That leaves time for more extracurricular activities. On the weekend before an exam, I've reread several complete texts."

You may not learn to read quite as fast as Ralph Frey (and then again you might!), but the nationally known Reading Dynamics Institute guarantees that you'll at least triple your reading efficiency—or receive a full tuition refund. Reading efficiency combines rate and comprehension, not speed alone.

The technique of dynamic reading was discovered by a Utah schoolteacher.

Evelyn Wood first observed dynamic reading 18 years ago when a university professor read her term paper at an amazing 6,000 words a minute.

Mrs. Wood's curiosity caused her to look for other exceptional readers, and over the next few years, she found 50 people who could read faster than 1,500 words a minute, with fine comprehension, outstanding recall, and great reading satisfaction. She was now sure it was possible to read faster than anyone had thought, but the question of how was not yet answered. It took 8 years of toil and research, working with "natural" fast readers before she developed a technique whereby average students learn to read 3 to 10 times faster.

The first Reading Dynamics Institute was opened in Washington, D.C. in September, 1959. Since that time institutes have been opened in 63 cities throughout the country, and national enrollment for the course now tops 250,000.

No skimming techniques.

At a recent teacher training conference Mrs. Wood emphasized that dynamic reading is nothing like the skimming techniques commonly used in speed reading courses. "You read five times faster," she pointed out, "not by reading every fifth word, but by reading five times as many words in the same amount of time." Mrs. Wood emphasized that using her technique of rapid reading, every word on the page is read.

Money back guarantee

We guarantee to increase the reading efficiency of each student AT LEAST 3 times. We will refund the entire tuition to any student who, after completing minimum class and study requirements, does not at least triple his reading efficiency as measured by our beginning and ending tests. Reading efficiency combines rate and comprehension, not speed alone.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

What Kind Of People Govern California School Districts?

There are more school board elections than any other kind in California, and there are plenty throughout the United States.

The 1962 Census of Governments, covering 212 metropolitan areas throughout the nation, showed 18,442 local governments in these urban and suburban areas; of these, 6,605 were school districts. Virtually all the school districts had elective boards, although the governing boards of many of the other units included were appointed by city or county governors.

CALIFORNIA CONTRIBUTES an evengreater proportion of total school districts than of population. As of this year, there are approximately 1,300 school districts in operation in California, and almost every one of them will elect one or more board members in April. In addition, 57 of the 58 counties will elect members to the county board of education (the sole exception is the City and County of San Francisco, where a single school board governs and its members are appointed by the mayor).

What kind of people are found for the jobs (nearly all of which are unpaid) of running these multitudinous school districts?

H. THOMAS JAMES, professor of education at Stanford University, believes they are mostly well-intentioned, high-minded citizens but without political experience. Here are his words:

"The role of school board members is one of the last remaining opportunities in the political world for the 'gentleman in public office.' . . . 'Gentlemen in public office' have a marked distaste for controversy and public uproar, and will usually attempt to reduce conflict rather than extend it. Therefore, some of the most consequential educational issues of our time, because they have been the most violently controversial, have too often been side-stepped by boards of education, and so have had to be resolved in the less squeamish but more realistic arenas of partisan politics."

IF SCHOOL BOARD members are, as Professor James believes, often gentlemen in public office, they are also well educated gentlemen. Data compiled by the U. S. Office of Education in 1962 on the 6,605 urban and suburga school districts showed that 89 per cent of all suburban boards had one or more members who were college graduates, and 67 per cent had two or more college graduates. Since most of the boards were of five members, this shows a very high percentage with college degrees.

In California suburban districts, the education of board members may range even higher. I checked on the educational backgrounds of the boards of 14 school districts, ranging from small to medium-large, in one Bay Area county and found they included 10 lawyers, six doctors of medicine, and two doctors of Ph. D. degrees.

BESIDES THESE, seven of the trustees in these 14 districts had master's degrees, and 26 more had bachelor's degrees. One held the degree of doctor of veterinary medicine.

A growing number of school trustees are or have been teachers. In the 14 districts mentioned, I identified five trustees now teaching and six former teachers; there may have been others who had taught at some time in their careers.

It would seem, therefore, that the "gentlemen in public office" on school boards (of whom quite a few are actually gentlewomen) are not likely to be lacking in education themselves—although they are invariably referred to by the teachers and administrators as "laymen." (They were so called even in one of the 14 districts which had on its board one member with a master of education degree and another with a B. S. in education, and on another which included a university professor and two former teachers.)

THE LACK OF POLITICAL background cited by Professor James, however, may be a handicap to the best-educated and best-intentioned. It may tend—as Professor James and some others have suggested—to cause school boards to make decisions without enough thought of their implications to the other political jurisdictions which overlap the school district.

It may or may not mean anything that, among all those degree-holders in the 14 districts I catalogued, there was no trustee with a degree in political science. Nor did I identify any former holder of elective public office other than school office.

It was Alich's third decoration for Vietnam service.

'MORE TIME NOW'

Mother Will Open Gallery

By BETTY FROST

"Now that I only have five children at home, I have time for other things again," said Mrs. Paul Allsman of Tiburon.

The new project which Anna Allsman is beginning with the enthusiastic support of her husband, Paul and their 10 children, is the Tiburon Gallery, which will be officially opened on Jan. 29.

The gallery will feature the work of Marin professional artists. "We think the gallery will be an addition for Tiburon and will offer a greater outlet for the county's talented professional artists," she said.

The small dark-eyed woman resumed an early interest in art during a three-year stay in the Philippines. Anna Bellis Allsman is a graduate of the University of California, where she majored in Spanish and minored in art. The Allmans, who have had a home on the water at Paradise Cove for 15 years, left Tiburon for the Philippines four years ago. Paul Allsman, an importer-exporter, assisted with the family business which Anna's father started after his service in the islands during the Spanish-American War. Anna was born in the Philippines, but came to the Bay Area as a young child.

DURING HER recent residence in the Philippines, she continued studies begun in her college years in Oriental scroll work, studying brush technique with Chinese artist and philosopher I Hsiung Ju. "The exacting Chinese brush work was an excellent discipline and helped me when I returned to water color and took up oil painting," she said. However, she will not be showing her own art at the gallery, preferring to spotlight the work of others.

The Allsman children are Peter, 24, who is married; Dan, 23, student at Sonoma State College; Leonarda, 21, student at San Francisco State College; Annette, 20, student at University of California extension; Karen, 18, student at San Francisco City College; Robin, 15, student at Marin Catholic High School; Marc, 13, Del Mar School; Ancilla, 7, St. Hilary's School, and Jerome, 5, who attends kindergarten at the Bel Aire School.

"WE HAD to have a system in raising such a large family," said Mrs. Allsman. "All of the children know how to cook, and all have jobs to do. Each child is in complete charge of cleaning his own room. Chores like the house are rotated. Every three days the family assembles and the children draw lots for a particular job. If the youngster who had that chore previously had been careless, it was the other children who policed him."

The children assisted in making additions to the nine bedroom family home in Tiburon." They all know how to put in sub-flooring," their mother laughed.

"The task I like least is cooking," Anna confessed. "We had 12 at every meal for a long time. Now if the older daughters want something special, I let them 'earn' it by spending enough hours in the kitchen at a pre-agreed upon rate, to pay for the desired item—usually clothes."

THE BIG close-knit family enjoys outings together. They have done a lot of camping. "Just sleeping bags under the stars," says Anna. "No tent was big enough for us." They also enjoy skiing. At their home on the water they have a motor boat, a rowboat and a "Moro Venta" outrigger carved out of a log for some tribal chief in the Philippines. The picturesque craft has multi-colored sails of yellow, orange, red and green.

Among the Marin artists who have been invited to initiate the new Tiburon Gallery are Gwen Stone, Helen Steinau Rich, Ada Garfinkel, Eleanor Bender, Miriam Rice, Ray Rice, Frank Milner, Russ Chatham, Doris Chatham, Harry Crotty, Pat Lamerdin, William Grant Sherry, Art Grant, Luigi Ferrario and Gil Wheat.

Mrs. Gilbert Hofling of Belvedere is the interior decorator advisor, and Carolyn Lowe will assist the Allsmans at the gallery, which will be open six days a week. It will be closed Monday. Each month the art display will be changed.

DESPITE the obligations of her extraordinary family, and the demands of the new venture, Anna finds time to volunteer with SERVE, the recently formed Tiburon Peninsula ecumenical group which offers a program of assistance to patients at the Marin Rehabilitation and Convalescent Hospital. To support the activities of the five children still at home she belongs to the Parent-Teacher Groups at Marin Catholic, Del Mar, St. Hilary's and the Bel Aire Schools.

WHILE MRS. Paul Allsman admires a mosaic which will soon be on display at the Tiburon Gallery, Mr. Allsman and two of the couple's ten children, Marc, 13, and Jerry, 5, help prepare for the Jan. 29 opening of the Main Street gallery where the work of professional Marin artists will be shown. Golf Section Sets Kick-Off Meeting

The Women's Golf Section of the Peacock Gap Country Club will sponsor a Nine Hole Group this year. The kick-off meeting for all interested golfers will take place at the club, in the women's locker room, on Jan. 25, at 10:30 a.m.

Wonacott-Ringchop Vows Are Traded

Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda was the setting for the wedding of Janita Ringchop and Peter Wonacott, both of San Rafael, which took place at 2 o'clock on Saturday. Janita is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ringchop of San Rafael.

The Rev. James C. Upshaw performed the ceremony for which the bride wore a full length Empire gown of white crepe and lace. Peggy Ruse of San Rafael wore a gown of light pink and cranberry as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids Joanne Elkin, Carla Ringchop, the bride's sister, and Victoria and Lisa Wonacott, sisters of the bridegroom, all of San Rafael, wore gowns of light pink and rose pink.

Robert Peterson of San Rafael acted as best man and ushering were Ronald Teague, David Haskell, Curtis Miller and Stephen Ringchop, brother of the bride, all of San Rafael.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the bride's family home.

The newlyweds will make their home in Denver, Colo., where Peter is stationed at nearby Lowry Air Force Base.

Janita, who was graduated from Terra Linda High School this month, will enter University of Denver. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Carl Ringchop of San Francisco.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wonacott of San Rafael. He attended Terra Linda High School and College of Marin.

Marin Women

Marinite Featured In Preview

The Marin County Heart Assn. will preview a new film for town chairmen, area chairmen and block captains who will conduct the 1967 Heart Fund drive in Marin County.

Trigere Goes Sexy In Her Spring Styles

By MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP) — Pauline Trigere, known for her ladylike dress designs, has gone sexy in her spring collection. She's done it in a tantalizing but discreet way — we hasten to say — and she calls it "forbidden fruit."

In a show Thursday afternoon, Trigere's models wore tight-fitting strapless slip-dresses with built-in bras. But over these figure-revealing casements they wore overdresses to partially hide them. Made in transluscent materials, the overdresses were sleeveless, high-necked and full-skirted.

Sometimes the outer-dress was net, sometimes lace, sometimes a brightly patterned chiffon casting shadows on the heavy silk slip-dress made in the same colorful pattern.

One among the "forbidden fruit" look was a short version of the full-length gown Trigere designed and wore to opening night of the new Metropolitan Opera. It was in black wool, with black net overdress, very full and sparkling all over with jewels.

For daytime wear, Trigere's famous trademarks of genteel elegance were all in evidence.

She showed the "nothing dress" — so subtly eased that it is neither a form-fitting sheath nor a loose shift. This is a deceptively simple looking dress that doesn't call attention to itself, is comfortable to wear and goes easily under the slimmest coat.

Trigere makes up for her underplayed dresses with her coats. She showed several sleeveless coats over long-sleeved dresses, since her attitude is that the function of a spring and summer coat is less that of warmth than of "finishing" a costume.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'We Try To Enjoy Our Dessert As Catty Female Brags Of Her Figure'

DEAR HELEN:

Tell me how I can put a catty female in her place. She's always making remarks about her perfect figure, which isn't all that good, being of the shifted hourglass variety, and sneaking in little asides about how the rest of us should watch our eating.

She never misses a chance to brag that her top weight is 124, while staring us up and down as we try a bite of dessert. Well maybe, but you should see her without a girdle! How can we squelch her?—36-26-36

DEAR 36:

Why not murmur — with a pointed look: "Nice about your top weight, dear, but buttom weight is more important — that's where it shows!" —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Bully for the Spanking Mom. Why shouldn't unmannerly children be spanked in front of their friends? I give you the Bible, Deut. 21:18-21:

"If a man have a stubborn and rebellious son, which will not obey the voice of his father . . . or mother . . . then shall his father and his mother lay hold on him and bring him out unto the elders of his city and unto the gate of his place; and they shall say unto the elders . . . this our son is stubborn and rebellious, he will not obey our voices; he is a glutton and a drunkard. And all the men of the city shall stone him with stones, that he die." —GRANDMOTHER

DEAR GRANDMOTHER:

Seems like this treatment is a little severe—you'd lose a lot of kids that way. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

My daughter tells me there's a rumor around school that one of the boys takes birth control pills. I'd like to know if there's any reason a boy should take them and why. —CONCERNED

DEAR CON:

There's a very good reason a boy should take The Pill—if he has acne.

My doctor tells me the mildest (2½ mg) birth control pill is now being used to combat adolescent blemishes caused from hormone imbalance. It has done wonders in some cases; in others—nothing. But many physicians are trying this new treatment, along with the usual diet and cleanliness routine.

The Pill is also used to help regulate the menstrual cycle and correct difficulties which cause pain and discomfort in young girls just starting their periods. Mothers sometimes react to such news with extreme shock, says my doctor, who has asked me to reassure them.

So for all parents I write: The Pill is beneficial in many ways. If your doctor recommends it for your teenage daughter, take his world — it is meant as a corrective medicine and I'm sure will be regarded as such.

He may also prescribe it for women who need medical help getting through the menopause. It's truly a versatile little disc—that birth control pill! —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I wrote to you 10 months ago. You answered in the paper, very sarcastically, and made it sound like I was a hateful, jealous woman, which is not the case at all.

Must you be so mean? I realize a lot of people need and deserve to be put in their place, and I enjoy some of those answers, but what I don't understand is why you must be so sarcastic and sometimes downright cruel with people. —T.Y.

DEAR T:

What I don't understand is this: My column wasn't running in your newspaper 10 months ago. Are you sure you have the right person? Please send in your problem again, with a stamped self-addressed envelope. I'll answer personally, and, believe me, not sarcastically! —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Study Says Newborn Sees Shape, Form

WASHINGTON — The mother who insists her newborn baby can see shape and form, despite all she has been told to the contrary, now has the backing of two new studies on infant development.

From birth, babies consistently choose to look at patterns rather than at blank squares or colors, which means they can see them, reported Dr. Robert L. Fantz of the Western Reserve University in Cleveland.

His study of hundreds of infants overturns the long-held belief that infants' eyes are too immature to see anything but brightness, color and size.

In a separate study, Dr. Peter H. Wolff of Harvard University Medical School has demonstrated that infants are capable of fixing their attention, even in the first week after birth. Together the two investigations point up how infant capabilities have been underestimated in the past.

They reveal an innate human interest in the complex and the novel—an interest which is evident from birth.

To collect his data, Dr. Fantz devised an ingenious method of peering into the blacks of babies eyes and observing the reflections there. When he saw an image fixed directly on the pupil, he surmised the baby was seeing that picture.

Whether or not the picture means anything to the infant is irrelevant, said Dr. Fantz. The important point is that he has an innate, unlearned interest in patterns.

Newborns appear to be most attracted by linear arrangements — checkerboards or stripes, Dr. Fantz found.

WHAT'S CHIC?

Skirts To Continue Rising, Say Stylists

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Skirts will continue to diminish. Pants will be acceptable to everyone, even maitre d's. Paper will revolutionize utility fashions, but not necessarily couture fashions.

Nearly every designer will have a hand in improving the chic or archaically dressed men.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy will remain on her fashion pedestal.

All this was made clear at a luncheon meeting of America's most influential apparel makers Friday. The discussion among some 200 style reporters was the closing session of a weeklong preview of spring fashions called the American Designer Series.

ALTHOUGH GASTON Berthlelot, French couturier for New York's house of Christian Dior, expressed hope that the opening of European collections next week might promise some hemline surprises, Americans, and particularly Oleg Cassini, offered the consolation that the eye would eventually get used to the escalating skirt.

"As skirts get shorter we will concentrate on the leg as a whole," said Oscar De La Renta, who does so with glittering knee pants, tights and silver stockings in his current collection.

HE COMPLIMENTED Rudi Gernreich, creator of the topless bathing suit, for paving the way with bright leotards and striped stockings to complement his dresses. His latest collection concentrates the eye on the leg by means of pasties and decals from chin to thigh-high hem line.

The belted waistline will return, Donald Brooks promised. "We have had all the little shifts we can stand. I think we will all go back to what nature intended a modern woman to look like."

AS FOR PANTS—party kinds or slack suits — designers feel that they have done such a good job of retaining the femininity that all objections will be withheld, even by headwaiters at posh places.

Because workmanship is costly, paper is not practical for high fashion, insisted Gernreich. But he is convinced that it is tomorrow's answer to utilitarian and travel clothes.

Disposable paper shirts for men would be ideal, if properly packaged, decided John Weitz.

DRAMA REVIEW

Dylan Thomas Show Is Above Average

BY KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO—Dylan Thomas returned to the City Theater Friday night in the person of actor-manager Jack Aranson, who last year set some records with an eight-month run of Sidney Michael's play, "Dylan."

Now Aranson, a Mill Valley resident, has come back from a successful visit to the Dublin Film Festival, where critics raved about "Dylan," and is presenting "The World of Dylan Thomas."

For buffs of the Welsh poet it is a must, for any poetry lover a should-see, and for the average theater goer, it's an above average night in the theater.

What Aranson does is simple enough—he presents Dylan Thomas on the lecture platform reading his works as he did in three American tours.

The effect the actor achieves is neither simple nor easy to define. Aranson comes as close as any actor can to being the real character he is playing, and he does it tthrough artistry, not similarity. Aranson is slender, smaller than Dylan, and has a pointed-chin pixie face rather than the moon face of the poet.

STRANGE THINGS

But after Aranson makes his entrance and the resonant voice booms a few choice Thomasian phrases, the eyes do strange things and Aranson looks more and more like Dylan. That is, when he is not looking like one of the characters in Dylan's poetry. This I am sure Aranson does with even greater savoir faire than Thomas, for he is a seasoned, virtuoso actor, and as he slides into the lines of Mrs. Ogmore-Pritchard or Captain Cat, his features also blend into theirs.

Aranson has assembled the material for the two-hour entertainment himself, and has done a masterful job of selection. Stories, poems, sketches and talks are interwoven with a continuity that leaves us with the impression that we have heard the major portion of Dylan's life unveiled by the time the evening is over.

Beginning with "Reminiscences of Childhood," concluding with "Return Journey," and including such great favorites as "A Child's Christmas In Wales" and "Do Not Go Gentle into That Good Night," Jack Aranson brings us in this one-man recital a completely literate evening.

A LECTURE

The one thing that could be held against Aranson is that technically this is not "theater" as such. It is a lecture, and coming from an actor who has run the gamut from Hamlet to Strindberg, audiences may find a certain disappointment in the lack of bombast which characterizes a show devoted to —in his personal and public life—a most bombastic person.

But Aranson is too good a showman not to take advantage of his opportunities, and so, just as one is lulled into full belief that here is Dylan Thomas reading his "Lament," the light begins to fade; the face of the man on stage greys into a death mask and disappears into darkness. Many touches such as this lift "The World of Dylan Thomas" from the lecture platform and place it in the realm of theater.

NO BUILDUP

Cleverly, the actor uses no introduction, no buildup to the fact that this is an impersonation. The lights rise on a bare stage with a chair and two lecterns. After a moment, Dylan Thomas walks on, removes his dark coat and hat, throws them on the chair, steps to a lectern and begins his lecture. Just like that.

Those who have seen neither Aranson nor Thomas — only heard the Thomas recordings—may have to pinch themselves.

Those who miss seeing "The World of Dylan Thomas" have only themselves to blame. It should be seen, and is being presented Thursday through Sunday nights at 8:30 at the City Theater, 465 Post Street.

DRAMA CRITIC TO APPEAR IN WILDE COMEDY

Independent-Journal drama critic Karl Barron may miss a few reviews in the next two weeks, while he appears with the Oakland National Repertory Company in Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Silvia Sydney stars as Lady Bracknell in the comedy, directed by Rachmael Ben Avram. Barron will play Lane, a butler to Algernon, one of the romantic leads.

The play opens Thursday night and will continue nightly at 8:30 except Sunday, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees at 2:30 through Feb. 1. It is being presented at the Oakland Auditorium Theater, 10th and Fallon streets.

Youngster's Custody Fight Finally Ends

KINGSTON, N.Y. (AP) — A four-and-one-half-year-old blonde girl named Beth formally and officially became Beth Liuni today as a judge signed her adoption papers climaxing a long and sometimes bitter custody fight.

Judge R. Waldron Herzberg signed the adoption papers at the Ulster County courthouse during a 45-minute conference in his chambers.

For the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Liuni, of nearby Tillson, it was a nightmare turned into a dream come true.

Judge Hersberg, sitting in Family Court, permitted a habeas corpus suit to be withdrawn by the county welfare commissioner. The petition, if granted, could have given the child's legal and physical custody to the commissioner.

Joseph Fitzsimmons, the welfare commissioner, had opposed the adoption for "medical reasons" and because he said the Liunis, who are both 48, were too old to have a child Beth's age.

The Liunis have contended that the opposition to the adoption stemmed from their Italian-American descent. Beth is of English-Irish-German decent. She is blonde and blue eyed. The Liunis are olive skinned. The child has been in the Luinis' care since she was five days old.

$3 Million In Insurance Refunds Due

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Wage earners who overpaid their disability insurance premiums last year will receive about $3 million in refunds in 1967, the Department of Employment said today.

Albert B. Tieburg, Department director, said about seven million California wage earners had payroll deductions for nonoccupational disability insurance in 1966. He said persons who worked for two or more employers during the year may have had too much deducted.

Last year more than 102,000 California residents applied for the refunds and received checks averaging $28.46 for $2,719,398.

ROD AND GUN DINNER FEATURE

Accordionist Lou Jacklich will be among seven performing acts Jan. 28 at the 40th annual banquet of the Marin Rod and Gun Club at the group's clubhouse at Point San Quentin. About 550 members are expected to attend the banquet, which will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Sausalito Soprano Wins Bay Area Met Opera Auditions

Dramatic soprano Lorie Kutsko, 26, of Sausalito was named winner for the Bay Area in the district Metropolitan Opera auditions held Saturday afternoon at San Francisco State College.

In four weeks she will go to Los Angeles to compete against 10 other singers from the western states for the regional title. The winner of those auditions then will go to New York for the national competition.

The young singer, in private life Mrs. Michael Kutsko and mother of a four-year-old daughter, Kimberly, was a member of the College of Marin Opera Workshop and performed last spring in its production of the one-act comic opera, "A Dinner Engagement" by Lennox Berkeley, under direction of Peggy Donovan.

A daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh of Boston, Mass., Larie was graduated from the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston and traveled with the Ruby Newman Musical Comedy Review in the East.

After she and her husband came to the Bay Area four years ago, she sang with the San Francisco State College Opera Workshop and with the San Francisco Opera chorus in 1963 and 1964. She is now studying with Julia Monroe in Sacramento.

Corte Madera Girl Missing

Karen Rene Peterson, foster daughter of Mrs. D. L. Hughes of 357 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera, was reported missing today by Corte Madera police.

Mrs. Hughes told police at 10 p.m. yesterday that Karen, a ward of the court, had been missing since 6:30 p.m., and she believed the girl had run away.

Karen is 15 years old, five feet, three inches tall, weighs 140 to 145 pounds, and has dark brown hair and brown eyes. She was last seen wearing an orange shirt and blue slacks.

Jail Term On Drunken Driving

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court today gave Lynden Mervin Smith, 44, a 90-day county jail term for felony drunken driving. He also placed Smith on two years probation.

Smith, of Forest Knolls, had pleaded no-contest Dec. 18. He was driving north on Shoreline Highway near Marshall on July 3 when his car struck a southbound motorcycle operated by Alan James Horn of Oakland. Horn, thrown dow a cliff, suffered a broken right leg and severe cut on his left leg.

UFO Expert Says Picture Is Authentic

DETROIT (AP) — One of the nation's leading experts on unidentified flying objects said today that photographs of a "flying saucer" taken near here last week are apparently authentic.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, chairman of the astronomy department of Northwestern University, also said the pictures were strikingly similar to other pictures of UFOs he has investigated.

Hynek, a scientific advisor to the Air Force's Project Blue Book, which coordinates all UFO reports for the military, commented in an interview with the Detroit News.

Hynek had examined negatives copied by the News from the original Polaroid prints taken last week near the Detroit suburb of Mount Clemens.

The pictures were taken around 2:30 p.m. last Monday by two Harrison Township youths, Grant Jaroslaw, 15, and his brother Dan, 17.

The youths said the object hovered over Lake St. Clair behind their home before speeding off to the southeast.

The brothers said they snapped four photos of the UFO and one of an Air Force helicopter, which reportedly was in the area at the same time, although its crew reported seeing nothing.

Petty Theft Charge

A 16-year-old San Rafael boy and a 17-year-old Mill Valley boy were cited Saturday by Mill Valley police for reportedly trying to break open vending machines at Mill Valley Coin Car Wash, Lomita Drive and Ashford Avenue. They were cited for petty theft and conspiracy to commit petty theft.

MUSIC REVIEWS

Marin College Student Group Makes Chamber Music Debut

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A new musical group of much promise made its debut Saturday night in the art building as the latest addition to the College of Marin's expanding and improving music department.

This was the chamber ensemble group of 11 young people (two were absent because of illness), students in the class instructed by Charles Meacham, one of Marin's top violinists.

Whether it was the lure of something new, many friends of performers, or the real taste for this intimate type of music, a good sized and receptive audience filled nearly every seat.

In most numbers it was evident that Meacham had instilled one of the major objectives of chamber playing — the careful balance among instruments that permits each to be heard almost as a soloist while the total sonority leaves a single, harmonious impression.

One of the most difficult problems of this kind was in Milhaud's "La Cheminee Du Roi Rene" suite for woodwind quintet, played by Raymond Pancost, oboe; Richard Caldwell, flute; Peter Hathaway, bassoon; David Lea, horn, and Alan Johnson, clarinet, substituting for Dianne Roberts.

After a somewhat hesitant beginning their rhythmic and harmonic concord was impressive.

Another outstanding number was Beethoven's Sonata in F Major, Op. 24 (spring) performed by violinist Deborah Donaldson with Robaline Meacham substituting for Barbara Armington at the piano. Deborah has a real talent, but she had an unusual problem. While playing with a professional of the caliber of Mrs. Meacham can be an inspiration and support, it can also be intimidating. The result was that the violin volume was no match for the piano.

Some very fine teamwork was shown in Haydn's Trio in G Major with Kathleen Baird playing the violin, Sylvia Ruby the flute, and Chris Jennings the cello. As well as in Mozart's Divertimento in G Major performed by the same players with the addition of Susan McClees on the second violin. It was a pleasure to note how Kathleen—whom we remember as concertmistress of the Marin Youth Orchestra—has matured in her style of playing so that it is far more controlled and consistent.

The same was true of this group, except for Sylvia Ruby playing the flute in place of a second violin in Hindemith's "Abendkonzert."

While some of the movements went well in Telemann's Sonata in F Major, played by violinist Frances Alvord and pianist Shirley Starr, some suffered from imperfectly synchronized time and rhythm in the two instruments.

Joint Opera Venture Is Of High Quality

Another new venture of the College of Marin music department, which is proving of great interest and evidently worth while, is the collaboration of its opera workshop with the Festival Theater in two operas and four recitals of operatic scenes.

The theater on the grounds of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo proves far more satisfying as a setting than the college's Onley Hall.

The workshop under the direction this year of Larry Snyder, with Phillis Murphy as assistant, is carrying on the high level tradition established by Dr. Peggy Donovan. The main difference seems to be the use of a minimum of staging, allowing for full concentration on the production of the operas.

Vocally pleasing yesterday in the complex musical texture of "Der Rosenkavalier" by Richard Strauss were the three soprano voices of Joan Smith, a lovely Marschallin; Kay Collete, an attractive Sophie, and Darlene Brock, believable as Octavian.

Soprano Shirley Bodo was a delightful Cio Cio San in both singing and acting in the scenes from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," and the mezzo soprano voice of Patricia Brake as Suzuki was good. The tenor voice of Thomas Brennan as Pinkerton suffered in quality from too intense efforts when singing at full volume.

Tenor Kenneth Rowland had the same problem as Cavaradossi in the scene from Puccini's "Tosca," but his handsome appearance and enthusiastic acting made him otherwise excellent. Soprano Martha Ward as Tosca sang better than the last time we heard her in January as Mimi.

Acting honors unquestionably went to the comic antics of tenor Louis Santini as the simpleton suitor of Marie, well acted and sung by Jackie Hall.

Santini as Don Curzio and Baritone John Graulich as Bartolo were the only ones showing much life and naturalness in the scene from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro." Baritone Hargan Nelson as Figaro had a potentially good Baritone voice. Sopranos Sylvia Hyde as Susanna and Diane Roberts, Marcellina, need more experience. Baritone Joe Reade was the Count.

Owen Orser of the Festival Theater handled the helpful verbal setting of scenes very smoothly. It is surprising how effective the double piano arrangements are as accompaniment. Larry Snyder and Phyllis Murphy were ably assisted in this by Margaret MacLaury, Andrew Coburn and Thomas Tidy.

The remaining recitals will be on Wednesday at 8 p. m. and Sunday at 2 p. m.—M. S.

Code Of Ethics To Be Discussed

The Marin County Personnel Commission Wednesday will again discuss establishment of a code of ethics for county employees. The meeting will begin at 3 p.m. at the Civic Center.

The commission is also to consider the board of supervisor's request for establishment of policy and guidelines in recognizing employee organization and handling of disputes.

Injured In Wreck

Myra Alice Bartlett, 30 of 875 Tamalpais Avenue, Novato, was treated at Novato General Hospital for a face cuts yesterday after her car swerved off Highway 101 near Lucas Valley Road, flipped over and hit a board fence at 5:15 p.m., the California Highway Patrol reported.

Court Rules In Favor Of Attorney

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled 5 to 4 today that lawyers may not be disbarred for refusing on self-incrimination grounds to testify concerning their dealings with clients.

The Fifth Amendment protection "should not be watered down by imposing the dishonor of disbarment and the deprivation of a livelihood as a price for asserting it," Justice William O. Douglas said for the majority.

With its ruling in the case of a Brooklyn lawyer, the court overruled its own 1961 decision that the self-incrimination clause of the Fifth Amendment was not applicable to the states through the 14th Amendment in such instances. Douglas said the clause "extends its protection to lawyers as well as to other individuals."

The ruling reverses an order by the Appellate Division of the New York Supreme Court. That court had ordered lawyer Samuel Spevack disbarred, holding that the constitutional privilege against self-incrimination was not available to him in light of the Supreme Court's 1961 decision.

Empty Money Bags Found

Empty money bags imprinted Wells Fargo Bank and Bank of America were found by two teen-age boys in a field close by Sequoia Valley Drive, Lucas Valley, Saturday.

Sheriff's duputies counted 27 bags together with torn coin wrappers and an uncashed check dated April 9, 1966.

The bags, which deputies believe may be the remains of one or more bank raids, were being checked out today.

Rowboat Theft

Martin Prescott, 29, of 10 Doris Avenue, Novato, reported to police yesterday the theft of a 14 foot rowboat, valued at $175, from its mooring on the Petaluma River at the Boathai subdivision. The boat was taken sometime betweeen Dec. 18 and yesterday, he said.

GOP Assembly Unit Selects New Officers

Col. Avery M. Cochran (Army, retired) of San Rafael will head the San Rafael unit of the California Republican Assembly as president for 1967.

He was elected at. the group's annual meeting last week in the San Rafael courthouse.

Other officers elected were:

Michael K. Jones, first vice president; Anita Smith, second vice president; Col. W. S. Richards, third vice president; Helene Browne, secretary; Robert Guthrie, treasurer; Dr. Robert H. Conner, Dr. Stephen Duff, Mrs. Charles Martel, William O. Weissich, and Robert Weinmann, members of the board of governors.

President Cochran announced that the unit studied the controversial new eighth grade history text, "Land of the Free," and expressed "great concern" over the facts presented. "The unit will continue to study the problem with a view toward removal of objectionable texts from approved lists," he said.

The San Rafael unit of CRA claims a membership of 250.

Condition Of Eye Shooting Victim Better

Matt Cernac Jr., 43, of San Rafael, shot through the eye with a .22 caliber pistol at his 1825 Lincoln Avenue apartment Friday morning, remained in fair condition at Marin General Hospital today.

His alleged assailant, John W. Frederick, 36, of 50 Sullivan Lane, Novato, was scheduled to enter plea in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Frederick, who has followed the advice of his attorney, Joseph A. Dahlman, and remained silent about the incident, was arraigned Friday.

Police Inspector Gerald R. Souza said today that police have established that the two men were together earlier in the evening, at San Rafael Joe's.

Frederick called police to the shooting scene. Cernac was found lying in a hallway in his apartment with a bullet in the head.

TV Set Stolen

Guy T. Korpi of 400 Canal Street, Apt. 209, San Rafael, complained to police Friday that someone with a key to his apartment stole his $200 television set and a chair from his living room.

Patrick Loses Bid At GOP Conclave

An attempt by William Penn Patrick of Marin to gain a foothold in the state Republican Central Committee failed yesterday, as more than a thousand Republicans convened in Sacramento to elect a slate headed by James W. Halley, San Francisco attorney.

Patrick was pushing Dr. Bernard Tully, a West Covina surgeon, for the post of vice chairman, but Tully pulled out of the race when it became evident that he would be heavily outvoted by Dennis E. Carpenter, Newport Beach attorney.

Both Chairman Halley and Vice Chairman Carpenter were backed by outgoing Chairman Gaylord Parkinson and by Gov. Ronald Reagan, who was represented by Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch at the convention.

The only Marin resident to win a statewide post was Thomas C. Reed, 32, who was elected assistant secretary. Reed, who was northern California chairman for Reagan, is appointments secretary in the new Administration.

Other party leaders elected yesterday were:

Mrs Jackie Keas of Sacramento, northern women's vice chairman; Mrs. Jane Wood of Merced, central women's vice chairman; Mrs. Eleanor Ring of Coronado, southern women's vice chairman; Karl Von Christierson of Salinas, secretary; Louise Hutton of Huntington Harbor, assistant secretary; Edward Mills of Laguna Beach, treasurer; Arch Monson Jr. of San Francisco, assistant treasurer; and Sen. George Deukmejian of Long Beach, assistant treasurer.

TV Viewer Will Aid Sea Mineral Hunt

When the Virginia City leaves the Marine Mineral Technology Center in Tiburon for Alaska in May to collect mineral samples from the ocean floor, her crew will be able to observe underwater operations by a television viewer on deck and her operation will be stabilized by a tank-storage system.

Award of contracts for the equipment by the U.S. Bureau of Mines was announced today by Rep. Donald H. Clausen, R-First District.

Smith - Meeker Engineering Co. of New York will supply the tank-storage system for $46,275. Taylor said it will stabilize the 205 foot ex-Navy tug, reduce its "roll," and give a more stable platform for bottom-core drilling for the ocean mining program.

Hydro-Products Division of Oceanographic Engineering Corp., San Diego, was awarded a $13,225 contract for the underwater television system. According to Taylor, the camera will be lowered under water where men are working to gather minerals from the ocean floor and the television viewer will be on deck where operations can be observed and directed.

Two hydraulic cranes have recently been delivered by Grove Mfg. Co. in Pennsylvania which cost approximately $35,000, Taylor said. Foundations are being built to install the self-contained cranes on the fore and aft decks of the Virginia City.

Demonstration Given Firemen

San Rafael Fire Department yesterday put on a demonstration for visiting delegates to a conference of the Northern California Firemen's Assn.

The demonstration, at the department's Canal Street depot, wound up the two-day event held at the Bermuda Palms Motel, San Rafael.

Saturday's program included talks on fire fighting techniques and a luncheon address by San Rafael Fire Chief Vance Trivett. Chief speaker at a banquet at San Quentin Prison Saturday night was Fire Chief Robert Madden of El Monte.

Among new officers of the association is San Rafael fire engineer James Kennon, who was elected to the board.

Ex-Anchorage Planner Urges Survey

The former planning director of Anchorage, Alaska, now a resident of Lucas Valley, has urged Marin County supervisors to reconsider their vote against an earthquake survey in Marin.

E. Jack Schoop of 216 Mount Shasta Drive, wrote supervisors saying that he was planning director in Anchorage at the time of the devastatiing March, 1964, earthquake there.

He said in the letter that California is earthquake country. "It is something to live with, not get afraid of. But it certainly is not something to ignore."

He said application of what is is known about slopes, soils and building requirements will save many lives and much property.

"If a survey of earthquake risks were made and the results carried out, the cost would suddenly appear small and very justified if a major earthquake occurred and considerable unnecessary loss was avoided thereby," he wrote.

Supervisors, who voted down a pilot earthquake study last Tuesday by 3-2, with Supervisors Peter H. Behr and Thomas T. Story dissenting, are going to consider the matter tomorrow and decide whether County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker can order the study on his own initiative.

STATE HOLDS THE SCHOOL STRINGS

Novato's San Marin High May Wind Up Different Due To Fund Argument

Novato's San Marin High School may be delayed in opening and may wind up a rather different school from that which was planned.

The reason is a difference in approach between the Novato Unified School District and the bureau of school planning in the State Department of Education. Since the Novato district is dependant on state loan funds to build the school, the state calls the tune.

The Novato district planned a school of 1,775 capacity, to be built in three stages. Some buildings were to be deferred to the final stage. Among these were the shops, the idea being that San Marin students could travel to Novato High School to use the shops there during the first few years.

Included in the first phase for a school of 800 enrollment, were administration offices and a gymnasium designed for the full capacity school — 1,775 enrollment.

These drew fire of the state planners, according to Novato Supt. James G. Bunker.

Charles D. Gibson, chief of the bureau of school planning, held that each phase of the construction program should be a complete school — with gymnasium, shops, etc., for the number of students to be initially enrolled.

He refused to approve the Novato plans until they are changed to conform to that concept. He particularly objected to the big gymnasium and the administration offices, according to Bunker.

The result, the Novato superintendent said, is that plans must be revised within two weeks sufficiently to get state approval, or the whole project will be set back. This would mean that Novato High School, already bursting at the seams with 2,229 students in a plant with capacity of 1,800, would be even more crowded before a second high school can be opened.

Novato's timetable calls for opening the San Marin school in September, 1968. But no state money will be authorized until the plans receive state approval.

Gibson held out that the gymnasium should be constructed in stages and shops added, Bunker said.

"That is what we may wind up doing — leaving 5,000 square feet off the practice rooms end of the gymnasium and adding it later, then taking that allotted square footage and adding it for 11,700-square-foot shops," Bunker said.

Gibson wants complete schools built, not just units of schools, Bunker said. His argument is that if there is a loss of population, the schools will be complete units.

"I suppose somewhere districts are losing population, but I told Gibson that it hardly seemed possible in Marin County," Bunker said.

This concept of complete schools might make it so that the library and administration buildings also would be constructed in parts. Bunker hopes not.

The first stage of the proposed San Marin high school would include science wing, library wing, physical education building, administration building, English and social science wing and business education building. These were planned to be innermost in a cluster of buildings around a court.

The other buildings, to be constructed later, would be farther away from the court and their construction would not interfere with operation of the school, Bunker pointed out.

If the district followed this plan, it would build the gymnasium and install adjacent playing field and parking area at the front of the complex, with connecting corridors to the first group of buildings, Bunker said.

If it has to construct the shops at first, it will mean developing part of the back portion of the lot at the same time, and letting some of the work in the front go, he said.

He said that he believes Gibson will probably approve such things as constructing the entire science wing at one time because the rooms could be used for other classes before they are equipped as laboratories.

Novato High School was constructed in the manner the state wants, and wound up with two gymnasiums, Bunker commented.

Four Power Failures Within Three Hours

A total of 1,700 businesses and homes were affected last night as power failed four times within three hours in parts of San Rafael.

The blackouts began at 7:17 p.m., according to Z. P. Melcon, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. spokesman, when a high voltage cable failed in Peacock Gap. An area from Peacock Gap west to downtown was out for periods up to a half-hour.

That failure triggered three others in the downtown section, and a second blackout in Peacock Gap.

Downtown was dark for periods of about five minutes at 8:29, 9, and 10:14 p.m. Peacock Gap customers lost power for about two hours as a result of the last failure.

The spokesman said the first failure caused a switch to malfunction in the downtown area.

Guilty Pleas In Marijuana, Check Cases

Pleas of guilty to misdemeanor offenses of passing a worthless check and to being present in a room where marijuana was being used were entered for Fern Christine Liggatt, 18, in Marin Superior Court today by her attorney, Carl B. Shapiro.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson placed her on two years probation. Miss Liggatt, now residing with her mother in Kansas City, Mo., originally was charged with felony forgery and with marijuana possession.

The please to lesser and included offenses were not opposed by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales. Miss Liggatt had been accused of marijuana possession Feb. 19 while living at 1533A Fourth Street, San Rafael and with forging a $14.44 check with intent to defraud Mac Disco Department Store, 555 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, last Feb. 23.

Vandals Hit The Plumbing In Building

Vandals attecked the plumbing in San Rafael's Kaehler-Farrar Building yesterday afternoon, and the result was water damage to all floors, walls and ceilings beneath the fifth floor, according to police.

The damage will probably be more than $1,000, according to Jack Farrar, who built the five-story structure and now manages for Erickson Investment Co. of Sacramento.

Police said some form papers in the Social Security Office on the main floor were soaked, and records in attorney Roy P. Vallarino's store room on the third floor were damaged.

Cause of the leakage was toilets topped up with paper towels and sinks plugged, with the water left running, on the upper floors.

Jess R. Nunyon, in charge of maintenance of the building, told police the drains were plugged and the water turned on sometime about 4:30 p.m.

James Owen Rains, a janitor in the building, said he had seen several teen-agers in the building that afternoon.

Police also found vending machines which had been pried from the walls in the restrooms. The coin box was missing from one of them, police said.

Anti-Tiburon Leader Says Petition Slow

Less than half the registered voters required have so far signed the petition to dis-incorporate the City of Tiburon, according to Fred Mantegani, leader of that movement.

More than 200 persons have signed the petition, he said, while about 450 signatures are necessary before the issue can be placed on the ballot.

"There was a little letup over the holidays," Mantegani admitted, "but the committee to dis-incorporate Tiburon is back in full swing."

He said registered voters can sign the petition at the Corner Market, 1690 Tiburon Boulevard. He also reminded that a program on dis-incorporation will be shown at 10 p.m. today on KQED (Channel Nine).

Would-Be Span Leaper Saved

A possible second leap of the year from Golden Gate Bridge was prevented Saturday when a San Francisco cab driver flagged down a California Highway Patrol officer at Vista Point and warned him his fare had asked him to stop on the bridge so she could jump.

Nils Vanstrom didn't stop his cab, though, until he saw the patrol officer. Officer Richard A. Chelemedos took Helen Oas of San Francisco to the bridge office, where she told him she had committed herself to a Mendocino hospital for alcoholism but was asked to leave when she started drinking again. She said she had no money and no place to go.

She was released to a friend, Barbara Miller of San Francisco, to be taken home to her mother.

Three Persons Are Hurt In Novato Crash

Three persons were injured in a two-car accident at 2:04 p.m. Saturday at Reichert and DeLong avenues in Novato, according to Novato police.

Barbara Louise Greenwald, 17, of 1396 Donna Street, Novato, was in good condition today in Novato Hospital with a broken right arm and strained back. Her brother, Terry James Greewald, 14, same address, who was a passenger was skinned on his face and was treated at Novato hospital.

Miss Greenwald was turning from DeLong onto Reichert when her car collided with a northbound car on Reichert driven by Earl Phillip Lowe, 18, of 2219 Center Road, Novato, police said. He received a bloody nose and was to see his own doctor.

Sister City Exchange Promotes Brotherhood

During the seven years that Sausalito's Sister City program with Vina del Mar in Chile has been in existence, the program has proved itself to be more than just a lofty idea.

Each year, both Sausalito and Vina del Mar engage in specific people-to-people projects to exchange ideas on culture, education and technical know-how.

What Sausalito and Vina del Mar are accomplishing is a practical application of such high sounding and general themes as "The Good Neighbor Policy" and "Brotherhood of All Men."

We believe we speak for the rest of Marin when we say that we deeply admire the accomplishments of those individuals in Sausalito who are making this Sister City project function on a local level.

At the moment, Sausalito's People-to-People Committee, headed by Loren L. Jay, is engaged in a student exchange program, now in its second year.

Next month, a junior at Tamalpais High School will leave for Vina del Mar as a representative from this community, and a Chilean counterpart will be coming to Marin to attend classes at Tamalpais High School.

Transportation costs of the Marin student are financed by contributions from the Sausalito Sister City Fund. Living costs while in Chile are provided by the Chileans. Similarly, transportation costs of the Chilean student coming here are paid by the Vina del Mar community, and a host family in the Tamalpais High School attendance area will provide a home for the visiting student. The Sausalito Sister City Fund provides for health insurance and a small monthly allowance for the visiting youngster.

The Fund is now soliciting contributions from Marin residents to help finance the project. And the amount of contribution (from $1 to $10 or more) is modest enough to be well within the means of most Marin residents.

This is an opportunity for Marin admirers of Sausalitio's efforts to become participants in this experience in international understanding.

January—The Cold Time

Throughout the north temperate zone, January is the coldest month of the year. In Marin, it is also usually the wettest and the gloomiest.

There are no important holidays in January and the flood of Christmas debts make the month seem as cold as a bill-collector's heart.

But already Nature is stirring—the grass is lush and green, some acacias in sheltered places are starting to bloom, and the buds of the ornamental quince are swelling expectantly.

DO YOU LIKE YOUNG PEOPLE?

One key to communicating with one's children is a liking for young people in general.

As Dorothy Rose put it: "Liking is a beam that helps support the whole structure of love."

The parents of teen-agers who have gotten into trouble ask the question, "Where did I fail?" Too often the answer lies in the fact that their youngsters got the impression at an early age that home was "out of bounds" for their friends.

Parents have the right to some privacy, to be sure. Still, their life is a continual service, which calls for decisions that carry them beyond merely personal enjoyment or convenience. For example:

* Take an interest in what your own children are thinking and learning.

* Make their friends welcome in your home.

* Show them by the practical expression of concern that your love of God applies to them as well.

* Reflect frequently that, with divine help, you can do far more than you might imagine.

"And above all these put on love, which binds everything together in perfect harmony." (Colossians 3:14)

Let my interest in others, Jesus, be sincere, evident and untiring.

Reagan Faces Tough, Unpopular Campaign For Financial Realism

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Something of a difficult task confronts the new administration of Gov. Ronald Reagan in convincing segments of the population that it's time to face the facts of life, rather than continuing to wander in the morass of fanciful fallacy.

The fallacy is that generally people appear to believe government can continue to spend more money than it has, or can get through taxes, for an unlimited length of time.

This fallacy has been nurtured during the past eight years of state government administration, and even since the early 1950s, when spending started on a wholesale scale, with the excuse that the "exploding population" in California made it necessary.

THERE HAVE BEEN only meager warnings concerning the final outcome of government give-away, government borrowing, and government extravagance.

Therefore, it appears to be the task of the Reagan administration, and it has been mandated by the electors to do so, to call a halt to profligacy with the taxpayers' money.

THIS TASK will not be easy, nor will it be without attacks and criticism. Almost every government agency involved—that is, asked to hold the line—will call upon its supporters, constituents and others to lodge loud and lengthy protests.

A case in point was the mere suggestion that university and state college students pay some tuition, rather than have the taxpayers foot the major part of the costs for higher education.

NO SOONER was the suggestion made by Governor Reagan and his state director of finance, Gordon Smith, than the educators almost en masse brought forth hearty denunciation of the suggestion, along with strong protests against cutting budgets which have not as yet been submitted to the State Legislature.

The facts of life to the taxpayer are different. The big question is how long can the people continue to borrow money to build bigger and better educational institutions, and support these institutions through added taxes after they are constructed, without expecting at least some help from those who benefit most?

When private business borrows money for expansion, it contemplates returns which not only will pay off the loan, but also interest and dividends for the investor.

When government borrows money, there is no prospect for a monetary return. The only prospect is added taxes to retire general obligation bonds, and pay interest. Obviously, there are limits to even state credit, and to amounts citizens can pay in taxes, and the limits are being reached fast in California.

Red Cross Writer Called Inaccurate

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In tonight's (Jan. 11) I-J was another inaccurate accusation against me. So I expect my defense to be as promptly printed as the accusers are. And so far, my defense of two hate letters has gone without being printed. This is very unlike the principles of the I-J.

Tonight a very poorly informed Red Cross worker wrote a very authoritative sounding letter blasting me. That letter was totally inaccurate. When the Flores were given (lodging, etc.) money when they were burned out of their apartment, they were given liberal time to repay it. But repay it they did. In 1963 we had to have a lady live in and take care of our children while I had cancer surgery. We paid back the Red Cross for the ladies services.$70. We thought it was fine.

The Flores aren't complaining. It just happens to be facts and anyone who works for the Red Cross should have more knowledge especially before sounding off in the newspapers. I worked as a Grey Lady for the Red Cross. But I don't consider myself an authority on the loans of the Red Cross. Every word printed against the letter I wrote concerning Sue Flores has been false. Every word I wrote concerning her has been absolutely true.

Gnoss Disavows Musser's Views

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Mr. Musser appeared before the San Anselmo City Council as a member of the staff of the County Clerks Office, assigned to the Election Department.

His appearance was without official authorization of the County Clerk, and believed to be at the request of said Council, to clarify questions as to the exact locations of certain polling places for the last general election in the San Anselmo area.

I understand Mr. Musser discussed certain changes relative to the counting of voted ballots entirely on his own and the policy he outlined as reported does not indicate the policy of this office and has no official sanction on my behalf.

Smoking Film Shows Results

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Marin citizens can take pride in the important influence which the Marin Medical Society through the Marin Interagency Council on Cigarette Smoking exerted in helping pass the resolution of the California Medical Assn. urging its 23,000 member physicians to quit smoking and to advise their patients to do likewise.

Beginning five years ago with a smoking education program which was offered to the local schools, the Medical Society joined forces with the local Cancer, Heart, TB and Health agencies plus the Health Dept. and the county schools to form the Interagency Council. Our counterpart of the California and National Interagency Councils has been continually updating and expanding its programs available to the community.

Two years ago the Marin Medical Society used its available funds to make the first satirical smoking film. The lead article in the Wall Street Journal for Jan. 9 refers to our film in its national article captioned "Anti-Smoking Drive Seems to Make Gains, Worries Tobacco Forms." In describing the U.S. Public Health Service "community laboratory" in Syracuse, N.Y., reference is made of a program for 900 junior high school students in which was introduced "... a 17-minute satirical movie called Too Tough to Care. The movie is about the president of a mythical tobacco company, maker of Finster cigarets, who demands that his advertising man dream up a new sales pitch. The slogan: 'The Finster Man is Too Tough to Care.' ... After the film, teachers dressed in forbidding costumes enacted a skit featuring such performers as Mr. Death, Heart Disease, Emphysema, and Tuberculosis. The climax came when two students decide smoking is a 'crummy habit' and ask advice on how to stop ..."

Because of this success and the need for a film suitable for elementary school children, the Marin Medical Society has decided to proceed with the making of another film.

It is ironic that Marin County smoking education efforts are better known and requested outside our community than within it. It is becoming increasingly clear that anti-smoking programs the country over are successful in relation to the vigor with which they are carried out.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A WHOLE BOOK of Volkswagen jokes will strike many people as too much of a good thing, but Charlie Preston has gotten away with it handsomely. Here are a few highlights: 1. Woman frantically phoning her husband: "George! You know that big dog on Elm Street that chases cars? Well, he's caught our Volkswagen!" 2. Gas station attendant to VW driver in Boston: "Shall I fill it up?" Driver: "No, thanks, I'm only going as far as Los Angeles." 3. An eccentric Texas billionaire was asked if his little car was air-conditioned. "No," he drawled, "but I always keep a couple of cold ones in the refrigerator." 4. Station attendant to VW driver: "What will it be, sir? Regular, high test, or sauerkraut juice?"

JAYNE MEADOWS tells about the little girl watching her mother apply an assortment of cosmetics to her sagging countenance. "What's all that routine about?" she inquired. "It's to make me beautiful, my dear," crooned Mama. The little girl eyed her critically and sniffed, "Well, mom, I guess it didn't work, did it?"

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Johnson, Congress Embarking On Time Of Changing Powers

WASHINGTON — From the mood and substance of the President's State of the Union message it is clear that:

1. This year Congress will be able to recover the political initiative and Congress, not the White House, can dominate the whole range of domestic affairs.

2. This year and next the Republicans, 47 seats stronger in the House, will show whether they are going to improve their chances of winning in '68 —or throw them away by creating a negative, do-nothing Congress. On most issues the GOP now has the votes to do it either way. LBJ is giving them plenty of rope.

3. This year President Johnson's conduct of the war in Vietnam—"a limited war in order to prevent a larger war"—will continue unchanged. He will not rashly escalate; he will press on with patience. His message to Congress was the most candid, realistic, and persuasive exposition of why we are in Vietnam.

THERE WILL be more of the same plain-speaking in the weeks to come. It is my judgment that the more forthrightly the President speaks to the nation the more fully the nation will support the President in whatever it takes to prevail.

Mr. Johnson was at his best in dealing with Vietnam and his statements earned him the strongest applause in Congress.

In domestic policy the State of the Union address shows how perceptive a politician LBJ really is. He knows better than most that, in electing more Republican congressmen, governors and state legislators, the voters were saying to him and to Congress: Let's digest some of the Great Society cooking before piling more on the plate.

THAT IS EXACTLY what Mr. Johnson is doing. He isn't stepping back, but he isn't asking for anything new. Where there are some modest increases in spending, they will be centered on two priorities—the war on poverty and a stronger attack on improving life and living in the big city ghettos.

But in all his suggestions as to what Congress might want to do this year, LBJ was soft-voiced and placatory. More than in the past, he spoke to Congress as a co-equal branch of government, bespoke cooperation, and frankly stated that, while the President can propose, Congress alone can dispose.

And that is what Congress is going to do. It is going to make its own legislation and to a very large degree it is going to shape its own legislation.

In his message Mr. Johnson several times spoke of past mistakes but he didn't identify them. Congress is going to look over recent legislation, trying to identify those mistakes and repair them.

Congress will listen to the President, but for this session at least it will for the most part be making its own decisions.

And what will be the role of the strengthened Republicans? The answer won't be clear for a time. The Republicans have an intention. It is to help reshape some of the Great Society innovations to make them work better and to offer their own positive solutions to national problems.

BUT IT IS not yet evident whether they can live up to that intention. They have the votes to block almost anything; they haven't the votes to pass anything unless it pleases the conservative Southern Democrats.

This means that positive legislation on the most pressing domestic matters will have to reflect a merging of Republican and liberal Democratic views. This means willingness to compromise in the interests of action where action is needed.

The alternative will be a statemated, do-nothing Congress which, if the Republicans bring that about, will virtually insure a Republican defeat in 1968.

ON THE FIRST day of Congress, they voted positively to deal with Adam Clayton Powell. They voted negatively to repeal the 21-day rule which is a method of preventing the House Rules Committee from subverting the will of Congress. Score to date: 50-50.

LBJ Sets Up China Crisis Committee

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is setting up a special National Security Council committee to "review" all intelligence relating to Red China.

The turbulent and seemingly chaotic situation there is now deemed by the President and his top advisers the most crucially important foreign problem facing them. Therefore, the President has established the special committee as President Kennedy did during the Cuban crisis.

Designated the "Executive Committee" (Ex-Com), it consists of four members headed by Secretary Rusk.

THE OTHERS are Defense Secretary McNamara, Central Intelligence Director Richard Helms and Dr. Walt Rostow, special White House assistant on foreign affairs. Rusk and McNamara served on the Kennedy "Ex-Com."

The President immediately gave it a series of urgent assignments, as follows:

1. What faction or factions control China's nuclear arsenal; are any of the atomic weapons or devices in the hands of elements opposing the Mao Tse-tung clique?

2. What is the extent of actual fighting between rival factions, and do conditions for extensive civil war really prevail?

3. What impact, if any, would large-scale strife between the rival factions have on the Vietnam conflict?

4. What are the likely Russian attitudes and policy toward China in the event of large-scale civil war?

President Johnson also directed increased flights by high-flying planes and satellites over Red China.

PARTICULAR emphasis is to be placed by these intelligence-gathering flights on changes in the disposition of Chinese army units, particularly those in southern China, on the borders with Russia and opposite the Nationalist stronghold of Formosa. Information on these matters is to be reported to him immediately.

Still being discussed is whether attempts should be made by low-flying U. S. planes to photograph reported civil strife in various large Chinese cities, or in the vicinity of the atomic plants and areas.

At one point, the President somberly remarked that never before in history had a country possessing nuclear weapons been confronted with the possibility of full-scale civil strife.

"OUR LACK of information about what is going on concerns me more that anything else," said the President. "It gives me a nightmare to even think about it. There must be ways to resolve this so decisions can be based on accurate information."

U. S. authorities have more than a casual interest in the Madrid murder of Mohammed Khider, Algerian opposition leader.

For several weeks prior to his assassination Khider met with U. S. intelligence agents both in Spain and France, reputedly conveying information on Russian preparations to make Algeria an intermediate range ballistic missile base in 1967.

This secret information is deemed by some U.S. authorities as the most important so far obtained regarding Soviet plans in Algeria.

Two weeks before the February visit to Algeria of Communist party boss Brezhnev was announced, Khider notified U.S. officials of this plan. His last warning, delivered the day before he was slain, was that Algeria's President Houari Boumediene was firmly in the Soviet camp and had agreed to make his country a Russian missile base.

Saga Of The Tossed-Out Ballots Inspires A Civic Center Opera

Do the happenings in the Marin election department sometimes seem like a light opera to you, with the chorus, hero and villain ready to burst into song at the first sour note?

PERHAPS that is an unfair question to pose on a Monday. It was not a serious question anyhow. The whole idea is to lead up to this script discovered in a wastebasket one dark night.

The curtain rises on the never-never land of Data Errata (sometimes Datum Erratum) where the lowly punch card can not only talk, but sing as well—well, not very well.

CHORUS

Perfect punch cards all are we
With proper punches A to Z.
We have won our diadem
From the boys at IBM.
Stacked and counted, duly noted,
We tell how most people voted.
We're not spindled, mutilated;
None of us was duplicated.
Shame on all the cards that erred,
You caught our leader unprepared,
And made elections seem erratic
When handled by the Votomatic.

HERO

A wayward punch card I,
A thing of shreds and tatters,
A victim of Mad Hatters
With busted stylii.
O pity on my plight,
I cannot be computed.
I tried but was refuted.
Something is not right.
An outcast now am I,
And though the law is flouted,
I may remain uncounted.
O please tell me why.

CHORUS

Tramp, tramp in fearful dread,
Comes the man of whom you've read.
Bouquets on him in profusion,
Assistant clerk of high confusion.
We were all punched to perfection,
But there's another in defection.

AC OF HC
(Assistant Clerk of High Confusion)

Ha, ha!
I do just as I choose
With cards that have a bruise
If pencil punched
You shall be munched
Or crunched 'neath old golf shoes.
Ha, ha!
I do just as I choose
With cards that might refuse
To cooperate
And make us late
In getting out the news.
Ha ha!
I do just as I choose.
I'll cut you into twos.
I'll spindle and fold
And let you mold
Without any sad adieus.
Ha, ha!

HERO (on his knees)

A wayward punch card I,
O save me from this fate.
Perhaps I'll make you late,
But I just might break a tie.

THE SCRIPT ends here, evidently unfinished.

ART BUCHWALD

Artist Should Have Known Better Than To Insult LBJ

WASHINGTON—It seems a pity that after all President Johnson has done for the arts, the least the artists could do is paint a decent portrait of him. Last week it was revealed that the President angrily rejected artist Peter Hurd's commissioned portrait of him as "the ugliest thing I ever saw."

Mr. Johnson, whose taste in paintings leans more toward Norman Rockwell's magazine style, objected to the Hurd portrait on the ground that it was too large, the Capitol building in the background was too prominently lit and "inappropriate," and the positioning of the figure and the general style was not consistent with other White House portraits.

Many people, including art critics and museum directors, have come to the defense of Hurd. But as has been the case lately, very few people have come to the defense of the President. I wish to be included in the minority.

I BELIEVE the President had every right to reject a portrait of himself if it didn't fit the image he has of himself. The likeness of the President as I saw it in photographs leaves much to be desired.

In Hurd's portrait the President seems to be looking off dreamily into the distance as if searching for a consensus or a friendly congressman. His lips are set as though he has just had a conference with a group of Democratic governors. His chin looks as if he's just heard a report from Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge on Vietnam, and his nose looks as if he's just smelled another resignation in his White House staff.

The suit he is wearing is dark and conservative, with a vest, giving the impression the President might be a wealthy real estate man or a successful television station owner. And the book he is holding in his hand looks as if it could have been written by Arthur Schiesinger.

BUT FORGETTING the portrait for a moment, anybody could see why the President would object to the way Hurd positioned the Capitol in the background.

Anyone who knows the President's personality should have been aware that the only way to pose the President in such a picture was to have him standing on the Capitol itself with one foot on the Senate and the other on the House of Representatives.

Also, if Hurd had studied his subject more closely he would have painted the light shining over the Capitol coming from the President's face and not within the Capitol itself.

In the commissioned portrait, President Johnson objected to the size of the Capitol, which is one-sixth the size of the President. The implication from the portrait can be clearly drawn that the Capitol plays a great part in the President's life, when anyone who lives here knows the exact opposite is true.

I THINK Hurd owes it to the President to try again. He could start by showing the President smiling as if he just heard that Bobby Kennedy had an accident while skiing. Instead of a book, he could be holding a 1964 Lou Harris or George Gallup opinion poll.

And instead of the Capitol, Hurd could paint in the LBJ ranch or the Pedernales River.

Many museums are bidding for Hurd's portrait, but I think it would be unfair if it were publicly displayed, particularly when people know the President doesn't approve of it.

YOU CAN SAY anything you want to about President Johnson's taste in art, but at least he knows what he likes.

Workers Give Up In Rescue Attempts

PUSAN, South Korea (AP) — Rescue workers gave up hope today of finding more survivors from the coastal ferry Hanil-Ho, whose collision with a Korean navy destroyer-escort left at least 75 persons dead or missing.

Police reported that 12 of the ferry's 87 listed passengers and crew were rescued and 15 bodies were recovered. But they said it was possible 10 to 20 persons were aboard without being on the passenger list.

About 150 multiple sclerosis patients, many of them in wheelchairs, are expected to attend the meeting.

West's Demos See Recoup In Two Years

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — The executive committee of the 13-state Western Democratic Conference headed home today confident that better party communications and more presidential cooperation will recoup losses of the 1966 election.

"We do feel that we lost contact in the last campaign through a breakdown in communications," Kenneth R. Harding of Washington, D.C. told conference delegates.

Harding, director of the National Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, said: "We are going to try to correct that."

Western Democrats said they felt President Johnson is much to blame for the 1966 election gains by Republicans.

"Washington has never seemed so far away from the Democratic party," said Eugene L. Wyman, national committeeman from California.

Smokers Ignore Health Warnings

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Californians are ignoring health hazard warnings and smoking cigarettes at a record pace.

Richard Nevins, nember of the Board of Equalization, said yesterday that cigarette sales increased 2.5 per cent during 1966 for an average of 142.7 packages per capita consumption, highest of any state. The national average was 138.3 packs, he said.

"Apparently the health warning on each package makes little difference," Nevins said.

He said the board, which administers the state 3-cent a pack tax, realized $75.5 million in revenue after expenses from the cigarette sales tax.

Youth Is Killed; Falls Beneath Bus

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Robert F. Lothian, 18, San Francisco, was killed yesterday when he fell beneath the rear wheels of a bus as it turned a corner at 25th and Diamond sts.

Police said Lothian was walking with two friends in the crosswalk and fell beneath the wheels after bumping the side of the bus. The bus driver was not cited.

Welfare Workers Out On Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—About 7,500 social workers, their demands for higher salaries unmet by the city Department of Welfare, went on strke today for the second time in two years.

The walkout was not expected to have any serious impact on the city's 600,000 welfare recipients immediately. But a repeat of the 28-day strike of January, 1965, would cut welfare services to a bare minimum.

Ex-Con Found Shot To Death

STOUGHTON, Mass. (UPI) — A man was found shot to death in a parked car late last night in this Boston suburb, the victim of what was believed to be the 40th gangland execution in eastern Massachusetts in three years.

Police tentatively identified the victim as William L. O'Brien, 40, an ex-convict from Stoughton. He was released last week on $20,000 bail after being taken into custody following an $86,000 oil company holdup in Quincy, Mass.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

New Suspense Story Can Teach Correct Trump Play

You can take it from Jame Winkman that even the best players occasionally stumble into an awkward contract.

As the hero of "Ace of Spies," the latest paperback chiller-diller by Don Von Elsner, Winkman brings his contract home and solves all the mysteries.

Opening lead — ◇ Q

THE CONTRACT

Four spades is a pretty miserable contract, but we all get to spots like this if we bid energetically. It hurts only if we try to draw trumps.

Jake Winkman won the first trick with the ace of diamonds to lead his singleton heart.

West covered with the jack, and dummy's king of hearts won the trick. This made the rest of the play fairly easy.

Winkman ruffed a heart, led a diamond to dummy's king and ruffed another heart. To prevent a club discard, Winkman now cashed two high clubs.

When the jack fell, declarer decided to believe East's story.

RUFFS DIAMOND

Our hero ruffed a diamond in dummy and led a fourth heart. East ruffed in with the ten of spades, and Winkman overruffed with the queen, thus winning his ninth trick.

Winkman could then afford to lead a high club and let East ruff.

No matter what East returned, dummy was sure to get a trick with the king of spades, which would assure the contract.

NO DEFEAT

West could not defeat the contract by taking his ace of hearts at the second trick. At best, West could then take the ace of spades and lead the jack of spades to dummy's king. Declarer would then continue with the king of hearts and an eventual diamond ruff in dummy. East would get a trump trick, but nothing else.

Evidently a modern hero must learn how to handle weak trump suits and strong women. Both seem very easy—in fiction.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ Q 7 6 4
♥ 10
♦ A 9 5 3
♣ K Q 10 7.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid three spades.

This raise, forcing to game, shows strong trump support and about 13 to 16 points, counting distribution as well as high cards. In this case you have 11 points in high cards and 3 points for the singleton (when combined with trump support of 4 or more cards).

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Bone Infection Slow To Make Itself Obvious, Hard To Cure

VAN DELLEN

Bone infections (osteomyelitis) usually begin at one end of the marrow cavity where the causative microbe is able to gain a foothold and multiply. The inflammation is confined initially to a closed space and the resultant pressure leads to intense pain and disability. X-rays at this early stage offer no clues.

Within a few days the infection begins to spread and pus forms beneath the outer shell of the bone. The purulent material may strip away the outer coating as it inches its way up and down the bone. Shortly thereafter an abscess forms or the pus ruptures out of the bone and invades the soft tissue. It is surprising how much bone becomes infected and killed by the disease before the X-ray reveals the source of the trouble.

ACUTE osteomyelitis usually is caused by staphylococci or streptococci. The condition often arises from a pre-existing lesion such as a boil or an ear infection; the bacteria reach the bone via the bloodstream.

In others the involved area was injured previously, the trauma often being so slight it was quickly forgotten.

The antibiotics have revolutionized the treatment of osteomyelitis. In some instances the early use of large doses of penicillin aborts the infection.

NOW AND THEN the surgeon must drill into the abscessed area to allow the pus to escape. Meanwhile the infected bone becomes separated from the normal tissue (a sequestrum) and is replaced by healthy bone. During this process fever, rapid pulse, prostration and severe pain over the involved area ensue. The infected segment may be puffy and extremely tender to the touch even though the skin is not reddened.

IT IS FOR these reasons that early diagnosis is difficult and the physician must use his own judgment because X-rays are of no help during the first week or 10 days. Drainage (surgical decompression) relieves the pain by allowing the pus to escape and minimizes the amount of bone destruction.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

MIGRAINE IN CHILD

Mrs. V. Y. writes: I never thought a happy child could suffer from migraine but my doctor has made this diagnosis in my 8-year-old daughter. Is this possible?

REPLY

Yes. Migraine frequently begins in childhood and many of the victims are conscientious persons who are perfectionists. They develop headache when their plans do not materialize.

WEATHER, MOOD

P. E. Z. writes: Storms, winds, and dull weather make me depressed. When the weather is stormy, my stomach turns over. Can you explain this peculiar sensation?

REPLY

Weather affects individuals in many different ways, possibly because of the effects of barometric pressure changes upon the tissues of the body.

SLEEPING POSTURES

Mrs J. writes: What causes a child to assume peculiar positions when going to sleep?

REPLY

Nothing in particular, either in children or adults. You may have noticed a mattress company's billboard delineating typical sleeping postures such as the bird dog and the catnapper.

CANCER PROGNOSIS

T. A. D. writes: I have heard varying reports on how long after cancer strikes it becomes fatal. Can you give me some information along this line?

REPLY

There are many types of cancer and some grow faster than others. The highly malignant varieties may kill in less than four months; others proceed so slowly that 10 years may elapse before they become disabling.

Today's Health Hint—Don't quarrel in front of the children.

Final Birthday Plans On Agenda

Final plans for Novato's birthday celebration will be reviewed by the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The City of Novato is observing its seventh birthday celebration on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The commission will also elect officers for the new year.

Other items to come before the commission include a discussion of the Rotary tot lot and additions to the Lions Park at Stafford Dam.

Garbage Rates On Council's Agenda

An increase in garbage rates requested by Mill Valley Refuse Service Co. will be considered today by Mill Valley City Council when it meets at 8 p. m. in city hall. The company has not spelled out its demands, City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer said.

Also on the agenda are proposed addition of four lots to the Blithedale Park subdivision of William S. Allen between West Blithedale Avenue and Manzanita Place; temporary delay of removal of illegal signs, and proposed joint development with Mill Valley School District of the Project 17 area.

Westminster Abbey, London, is celebrating its 900th anniversary.

Scientist Attacks Government Controls

WASHINGTON (SS) — A top-rank government scientist, just retired, last week attacked government science programs.

"Vital scientific programs are threatened by dangerous trends and controls that could be disastrous to them," declared Dr. Robert M. Page, former chief scientist and director of research at the Naval Research Laboratory.

"A complete lack of confidence is being shown in the integrity and judgment of responsible operating officials, which will certainly lead to bad management of federal programs," he said.

Dr. Page, a physicist, made important contributions to radar and pioneered in space exploration and rocket astronomy. As an administrator, he managed NRL as it gained wide reputation for excellent work.

Tight restrictions on travel funds and overtime, arbitrary ceilings on the number of higher-paying jobs, and uninformed budget cuts were cited by Dr. Page as "self-defeating, tying the hands of managers, hampering the work, eliminating judgment in decision making, and failing to save money as they are reputed to do."

Travel fund restrictions, Dr. Page declared, prevent scientists from attending professional meetings, which are essential to their work. These sessions are important to the on-the-job training of professional people. Scientists who aren't trained in developments in their fast-changing fields, Dr. Page said, soon lose their usefulness, and he fears this may start to happen in government.

The "fetish" of overtime reduction, Dr. Page continued, has "led to a dangerous, critical situation" in government science. It is often economical to pay overtime to teams of government employees on field trips, he said, rather than keep them in the field for a longer period.

Arbitrary ceilings on the number of $15,000-a-year positions, he said, are most discouraging to the federal scientific community. Recent studies show the salaries for private-sector scientists far outstrip those in government, yet the government prevents, by directive, merited appointments and promotions to high level positions. The responsible administrator, he said, has only restricted authority to reward those who perform high quality work.

The last battle of the American Revolution fought in New York was at Johnstown.

Park Director Will Present New Projects

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department will consider capital improvement projects for the 1967-68 budget today at 7:45 p.m. at city hall.

Recreation Dir. A. J. Snyder Jr. said all of the items he will present for consideration are for memorial park, including underground irrigation system and drinking fountains, resurfacing of the asphalt play area and the park service road, and purchase of a lawn and garden tractor.

Snyder will report on the winter recreation program and will present a comprehensive parks and recreation study he prepared.

The commission will consider asking the San Anselmo School District for financial assistance for recreation programs.

Court Throws Out Public Confessions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that confessions obtained from public employees "under threat of removal from office" may not be used to prosecute them criminally.

The 5-4 decision was announced by Justice William O. Douglas in a New Jersey case involving five police officers convicted of conspiring to obstruct administration of state traffic laws.

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Newspaper ads. Magazine ads. Catalogs and brochures. This is where sales get started. This is where people turn to ferret out the facts which allow an intelligent buying decision.

People can linger with a printed page: two minutes, five minutes, ten. They can come back to it again and again. They can compare one product with another. They can study styles, features, sizes, prices at their own pace. They can rip out a printed ad, save it, show it to friends, make notes on it, clip coupons. They can and they do. Don't you? If you've something to sell, it will pay to promote it in print —where people on the brink of buying can get their hands on it. Print makes sense because print makes sales.

TV REVIEW

The Joys Of Watching The Pro Frolic

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The day came up warm and sunny city. We shaved with our super city. We shaved with oursuper stainless steel razor blade and then headed for the studios of one of the naton's three super networks, NBC-TV, where we could see the Super Bowl football game Sunday, since it was blacked out in Los Angeles because it was played here.

As we drove, we suddenly were thankful to television for freeing us from the discomforts of opening up to us the world of mind over matter, for helping us do away with the cultivated discipline that is, after all, only important to professionals. The days are so much easier to take without bothersome criticism of exaggerations and wheeler-dealers. Come on in. Join the club. Be a good fellow.

Poor Sammy Baugh. Poor Walter Johnson. Poor George Mikan. They were only stars. If they had only had press agents —or better ones—they could have been super stars. It's like the fellow said when he was asked the difference between a public relations counsel and a press agent. "About $50,000 a year," he said.

At NBC-TV, we watched the super game in a marvelous room with some terrific people who had the wonderful choice of looking at either one of two great sets—one color, the other black-and-white. It was fabulous and everybody had a fantastic time seeing Green Bay beat Kansas City, 31-10.

German Says France Knows Troop Needs

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger said today President Charles de Gaulle of France recognized the West German view that U.S. troops are needed in Europe.

But Kiesinger told a news conference some differences on future relations with the United States cropped up during his talk with De Gaulle in Paris Friday and Saturday.

He gave no details. He said that the United States quite legitimately represents its own interests in Europe and that it must be examined to what extent these coincide with those of the European countries.

Asked whether De Gaulle made any alternate suggestion when presented with the German view on U.S. troops in Europe, Kiesinger said: "No, he recognized the German view."

NFL Super-ior As Packers Roll Over Chiefs

By JACK HAND

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vince Lombardi thinks the Kansas City Chiefs simply don't rate with the top teams in the National Football League after watching his Green Bay Packers whip the American Football League champs in yesterday's first Super Bowl game.

"They have a good football team with fine speed but I'd have to say that NFL football is tougher," said Coach Lombardi following the Packers' 35-10 victory before a rather disappointing crowd of 63,036 at the Memorial Coliseum.

The game was supposed to prove which league played the best ball and the NFL came out of this first prestige test with flying colors.

Hank Stram, coach of the Chiefs, paid his respects to the Packers as an excellent team but he maintained, "One game is not a true test of the abilities of both leagues."

Perhaps the best comment of all was made by Lamar Hunt, owner of the Chiefs, founder of the AFL and a major factor in the merger of the two leagues.

"I'm disappointed," said Hunt. "I told somebody they didn't keep the time right. The first half didn't run long enough and the second half ran too long."

At the end of the half the Packers clung to a precarious 14-10 lead and had been outgained by the Chiefs.

In the second half the NFL champs manhandled Len Dawson, the Chiefs' quarterback, and dominated play by a 21-0 edge.

Willie Wood's interception of a Dawson pass early in the third quarter was the first indication that the Packers were aroused. In the first half they had failed to pressure Dawson and let him scramble around.

Wood rambled 50 yards to the Chiefs' five after picking off the pass that was deflected by Lee Roy Caffey. Elijah Pitts went in on the next play and the Packers were on their way.

Bart Starr had a tremendous day, picking out receivers or calling the right ball carrier on those important third down situations. Of 14 third down calls in the game, Starr produced first downs 11 times. He was named the Most Valuable Player of the game and winner of a special sports car award by a magazine.

Starr threw two touchdown passes to 34-year-old Max McGee, who caught only four passes during the regular season. The 11-year-veteran led the receivers with seven for 138 yards including the scoring plays of 37 and 13 yards.

Independent-Journal Sports

FOURTH SECTION Mon., Jan. 16, 1967 29

On most of his catches the victim was Willie Mitchell, a corner back who was signalled out for special attention in the Packers' game play.

McGee got into the game when Boyd Dowler, the regular flanker, suffered an injury to his right shoulder on the third play of the game.

"It was our game plan to throw a lot to the receiver on the weak side," said McGee. "I just happened to be the one."

Talking about the first TD pass that he caught one-handed, McGee said, "I was so surprised that I expected to open my other hand and find a silver dollar."

Starr completed 16 of 23 for 228 yards and two TDs but also had one intercepted by Mitchell, his first in 173 tosses since Oct. 16. He also had a 64-yard touchdown pass to Carroll Dale called back because of a penalty.

Jim Taylor, who still has not signed his 1966 contract and may have played his last game for the Packers, stormed home from the 14 in the second period.

Elijah Pitts, who took Paul Hornung's place, scored twice from the five and one. Hornung, suffering from a pinched nerve in his neck but supposedly available for duty, did not get into the game.

Several of the Packers reportedly have been thinking of calling it quits but the rich postseason rewards ($15,000 for winning the Super Bowl, plus about $8,500 for beating Dallas for the NFL title) may make them change their minds. McGee was one of those who said he planned to retire.

The failure to sell out the Coliseum for this game was blamed on the ticket scale ($12, 10, 6) and a backlash from fans about the local area being blacked out on television. Another factor was the late date in announcing the site of the game due to prolonged negotiations with the TV networks, two of which (NBC and CBS) finally did a joint telecast.

When Dawson was not pressured strongly in the first half he was able to hit with 11 of 15 including a seven-yarder to Curt McClinton for a touchdown.

Mike Mercer, who missed with a 40-yard field goal attempt in the first period, made good from 30 yards out in the dying seconds of the first half.

The Chiefs never got closer than the Packers' 44 in the second half and that was after Pete Beathard had taken over for Dawson at quarterback. Dawson wound up with 16 of 27 for 211 yards. The two Kansas City quarterbacks were dumped six times for 61 yards, trying to pass.

"I thought Dawson did a fine job in the first half," said Wood. "After we got that quick six in the second half he had to play our game. Then I knew we had them."

One of the most interesting comments about the game by a Kansas City player, came from Jerry Mays, the co-captain and defensive end.

"It hurts more than I thought it would," said Mays. "It's bad enough to let yourself down but when you let other people down, too, it hurts.

"All the talking is over now. As Hank (Coach Stram) says they beat us on the grass. They beat us physically and they used a little witchcraft on us.

"They're a great ball club. The best we've played? That's hard to say. They're not superhuman—but they're great."

Local Boy Makes Good On TV; The Super Bowl Was Colossal

SUPER SALES—When I left you Saturday we were discussing Marinite Reg Carolan's thoughts on the Super Bowl.

Well, today I am delighted to report I am super proud of Reginald, the Drake High graduate who teaches in Marin County schools when he isn't playing tight end for the Kansas City Chiefs.

Oh, I know the Packers of Green Bay belabored the bejabbers out of the Chiefs, but our local Super Teach performed beautifully in the clutch.

AND I'M not speaking of his footballing ability, although he caught the only pass thrown to him for a seven-yard gain, blocked nicely and made some nifty tackling assists in his limited combat.

I'm referring to his presence on camera. He should have worn a gray flannel suit and registered out of Madison Avenue.

I read somewhere that commercial time for the Super Bowl television was $70,000 per minute. Well, Carolan hogged a bundle of free time, particularly toward the end of the game. The cameras gave a closeup of Kansas City Coach Hank Stram pacing up and down the sidelines. But the clever Carolan neatly stationed himself BETWEEN the camera and Stram, so that each time the coach walked by—BINGO!—there was Reg, bigger than life being beamed across the nation.

IN COLOR it was beautiful. The back of his curly red hair glistened in the sunlight and his surname and number (80), emblazoned in red across the back of the white jersey, looked brilliant.

I'd say Reg's exposure to the estimated 45 million televiewers (90 million eyes!) was worth at least $35,000 by Madison Avenue standards.

I think Reg should abandon his teaching career and open up a hot dog stand. "Reg Carolan's Nationally-Advertised Super Tube Steaks!"

Well, it was only a thought.

ANYONE WHO didn't enjoy yesterday's telecast has to be a super duper pooper.

In color, it was breathtaking, even better than the Orange Bowl. Whoever directed the halftime pageantry deserves a gold star on his forehead. It was the best these old orbs have ever seen—the precision marching bands, the rocket-powered men zooming into the air, the hundreds of AFL-NFL "peace" doves, the balloons, the 250-member chorus and the jazzy trumpet of Al Hirt.

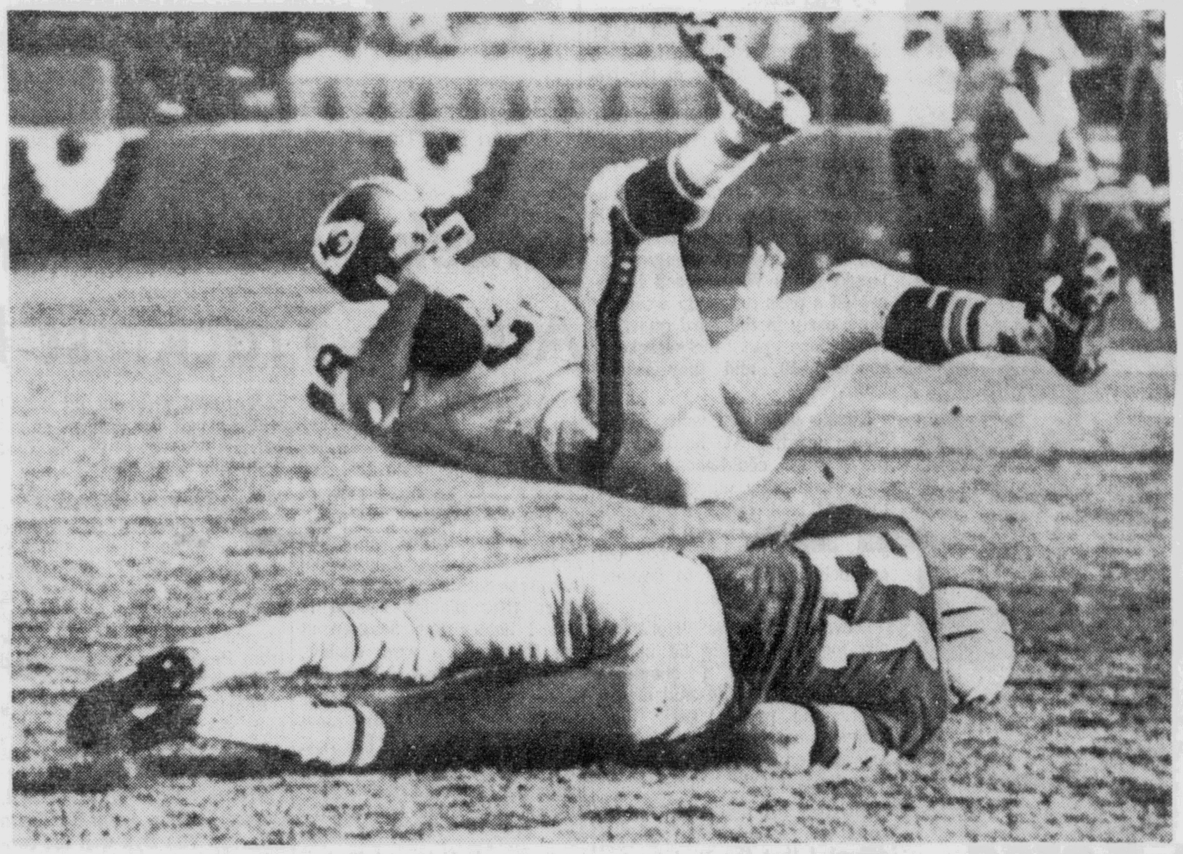
Also, the Packers weren't bad, either.

Hornung To Play Wait-See Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Paul Hornung, the Golden Boy of the Green Bay Packers, said yesterday after the Super Bowl game that he hadn't yet decided on whether he was going to retire.

"I'm going to have the doctor thoroughly check me out," said Hornung. "I'm going to wait and see how my arm is."

Hornung's arm has been giving him trouble ever since he suffered a pinched nerve in his shoulder in 1960.



CRASH LANDING—Kansas City's Chris Burford is knocked off his feet by a knifing tackle from Green Bay's Bob Jeter (21) after catching a 12-yard pass in the fourth quarter of yesterday's game. (AP Wirephoto)

Seals Strong In Clutch, Sweep Gulls

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The California Seals win the close ones, already nine this season by a single goal, and lead the Western Hockey League in doing this.

The Seals slipped by San Diego's last - place Gulls 4-3 in a sudden-death overtime last night for their seventh victory in a row.

The Seals swept the weekend series with 7-0 and 5-2 decisions Friday and Saturday.

Wayne Maxner slapped a 10-foot backhander at 7:42 over the extra period after the Gulls had erased a two-goal deficit in the third period. The Seals took the 3-1 lead on power play goals by Dan Belisle in the second period and Tom Thurlby in the third.

California's first goal was scored by Charlie Burns. The Gulls' points were netted by Warren Hynes, Len Haley and, Ed Ehrenberth, the latter's goal sending the game into overtime.

Belisle, with 14 goals now, has scored 11 in the last nine games.

The second-place Seals have a 9-2 record in one-goal decisions. The victory was their sixth in overtime, against one loss and six ties.

San Diego King Bob Goalby Ready For A Big Challenge

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Bob Goalby's swing is back in the groove and his nerves no longer jangle like guitar strings and he's ready, he says, to make a charge at Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Bill Casper on the pro golf tour.

"I feel I am solidly back on my game," the 6-foot, 195-pound former University of Illinois quarterback said after winning the San Diego Open yesterday, the first event on the $4.5-million pro tour.

Starting the final round with a bulging five-shot lead over the field, Goalby saw his advantage quickly erased by a rallying Gay Brewer Jr. Instead of folding, according to the usual script, Goalby looked the issue dead in the eye and won as a champion should.

He sank a 12-foot birdie putt on the 71st hole to go one stroke ahead and then, after hitting his tee shot into a trap on the 207-yard, par-3 finishing hole, he made a magnificent explosion to within 3½ feet to save his lead.

He finished with a 69 for 269 while Brewer, six strokes back at the start of the day, closed with a 64 for 270. The victory, first in four years by Goalby, was worth $13,200.

Brewer put together an almost flawless round without a bogey or a 5 on his card. He had 11 fours, six threes and a deuce. He had five birdies in a row, starting at the sixth hole.

"I set my sight on a 64," Brewer said. "I thought that might do it."

"I thought a 70 would win for me," said Goalby. "I found out it wasn't enough."

Goalby, now 35, grew up in Belleville, Ill., received a football scholarship to Illinois but never took advantage of it. He turned to golf in 1957.

His best year was 1962. He won both the Los Angeles Open (his previous high check of $7,500) and the St. Petersburg Open, setting a record of eight straight birdies in the latter event. He finished second in the National Open.

In 1962, he won the Insurance Open and Denver Open, then his game suddenly collapsed. He virtually dropped from sight.

"I don't know what happened," Goalby recalled today. "I never had thought about how I hit the ball. Then I seemed to lose the groove.

"Last year, my friend, Paul Runyan, looked over the swing and straightened me out. For the first time in four years I had an understanding of my game."

Goalby said he also got some psychological help from Sam Snead and the late Tony Lema.

"I was always hot as a thermometer under the collar," Bob explained. "Sam and Tony showed me how foolish it was to get sore at myself. I don't get bothered by bad shots any more."

The field in the $66,000 San Diego open did not contain the game's two biggest names—Palmer and Nicklaus—but the field included PGA champion Al Geiberger and U.S. Open winner Bill Casper, the 1966 Golfer of the year.

Tars Again Win, 71-53

I-J Special Report

EUREKA—For the second straight night, College of Marin's streaking cagers manhandled a bigget but slow College of the Redwoods team to win their fourth straight Golden Valley Conference battle, 71-53, and this time they did it almost left-handed, Saturday.

The Tars played without leading scorer and floor leader Bill Pandiani for much of the game Pandiani played for only eight minutes as he suffered a pulled back muscle early in the game. He finished with two points, far below his 16-point average.

As a result, it was almost a battle for portions of the game. As in Friday night's game the Tars streaked to an early lead, this time 10-0, and held off the lumbermen the rest of the way.

Redwoods came to within 51-54 early in a slow second half but Tar coach Cal Riemcke called on Pandiani for help and the 5-9 sparkplug guard settled the Tars down. The rest of the way was strictly butter on butter.

Bob Phillips led Marin with 16 points and 11 rebounds, not bad for a 5-9 guard. Terry Overlid added 14 points, Russ Smith had 12 and Ron Blasingame came off the bench to score 10.

Riemcke praised the work of Blasingame and Russ Williams in relief roles.

The Tars, although smaller, held a whopping 51-39 rebound edge, marking the third game that the three-guard lineup has out rebounded the opposition.

College of Marin now has a 4-1 Western Division record in the GVC. Its nearest competitor is almost out of sight with Napa trailing at 1-3, Santa Rosa at 1-4 and Redwoods at 0-4.

98-Point Weekend For Rick

ST LOUIS (AP)—The weary San Francisco Warriors get two days rest before resuming their National Basketball Assn. campaign with a game against Chicago Wednesday night at Evansville, Ind.

The Warriors wound up five straight nights of play over the weekend and were still leading the Western Division by 8½ games.

They beat Detroit 136-121 Saturday, then lost to second-place St. Louis 114-112 yesterday on Len Wilkins' hook shot in the last three seconds.

Rick Barry, the NBA's leading scorer, poured in 50 points against Detroit and 48 against St. Louis for a weekend total of 98.

Barry sank 12 of 13 free throws against St. Louis, including two that tied the game near the end. But the Hawks then stalled out the clock until Wilkens drove in for the winning bucket.

Super Star McGee's Three Wishes—One Comes True

By MIKE RATHET

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Max McGee had three wishes, but without a genie it's doubtful if his last two will work out as well as his first.

Wish No. 1 was to play for the Packers in the Super Bowl against the Kansas City Chiefs Wish No. 2 was to go on a honeymoon. Wish No. 3 was to retire.

The first worked out sensationally when the 34-year-old veteran of 11 National Football League seasons came off the bench and played a hero's role as the Packers whipped the Kansas City Chiefs 35-10 Sunday in the first Super Bowl game.

The second almost certainly will not happen since the honeymoon McGee wants to go on is Paul Hornung's. And the third remains doubtful since the final word on his retirement probably rests with Coach Vince Lombardi.

Taking them one at a time in the Green Bay dressing room after his key performance, McGee spoke softly with more than a trace of a Southern drawl as he explained his desires in the cubicle he was sharing with Hornung.

"I figured I was going to play some," McGee said, "but there are plenty of times when things are going good that you don't get in, so I really didn't know. My legs are still good but the old windpipe gives me trouble now.

RIGHT SPOT

"The last couple of years I've played only infrequently. "When you do that, you can't really stay in the best of shape. I don't get there as fast as I used to as a result, but I still get to the right spot, and that's what's important."

McGee got to the right spot seven times against the Chiefs, pulling in 138 yards worth of passes, scoring twice and pulling in strikes from Bart Starr in key situations during two other Green Bay drives.

McGee grabbed a 37-yard pass from the first touchdown, caught an 11-yard pass on a third down play during the second touchdown march, snared a 11 and 16-yarders before scoring the fourth touchdown on a 13-yard pass and pulled in a 37-yarder during the fifth scoring drive.

"Fantastic. That's Max," said Hornung when McGee slipped out of the cubicle for a minute. "He makes the big play. He's been around a long time and he has an uncanny ability to get across the goal line.

"He's as dangerous inside the 40 as anyone playing."

ON THE BENCH

But when the game started McGee was on the bench. The former Tulane star lost his job two years ago when he was injured and during the regular season had caught only four passes and scored once in 14 games.

However, when flanker Boyd Dowler suffered a slight shoulder separation on the third play of the game, Lombardi sent McGee in — and McGee knew exactly what had to be done.

"I can still get the job done because it's mostly in knowing the defenses," McGee said. "You take two steps off the line and you know what defenses they're in. The rest is getting to the spot.

"We didn't think their defensive backs were that good. So we went to work on them. You blitz a lot like Kansas City did and you're gonna get hurt. No one can cover you man to man even if you're an old man like me."

And it didn't hurt the old man with the thinning hair and the lean body to be playing against a team from another league.

"In our league the defenses are a little sounder, especially as far as the deep backs are concerned," McGee explained.

QUICK PATTERN

"They don't give you the quick in pattern in the NFL. I've been running it for 11 years and they just don't give that to us anymore. Tne NFL crowds that out."

That isn't all that's getting crowded out of McGee's life. There's also Hornung, the one-time Golden Boy who has been McGee's buddy since he joined the Packers in 1957.

While McGee wants to retire, Hornung hasn't made up his mind about his future in that area and right now is only thinking about next Wednesday in Hawaii.

"My roomie's getting married," McGee pointed out. "And I'm going on the honeymoon."

And he laughed. As for what he saw for himself, McGee didn't laugh, saying:

"Sayonora! It's a great one to quit on — and I quit."

But then, later, he hedged.

"It's really pretty much up to Coach Lombardi if I change my mind," McGee said. "I imagine Mr. Lombardi will retire me when he thinks the time's right."

Chiefs' Dawson Still Not Convinced Packers Best

He'd Like One More Opportunity

By FRANK O'REILLY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Len Dawson, veteran quarterback of the American Football League champion Kansas City Chiefs, spoke affirmatively:

"I don't think our performance in the second half is an indication of the strength of our league.

"I'm not convinced they're a better football team than we are. I think we compare favorably with them."

The Chiefs were beaten harshly, 35-10, yesterday by the Green Bay Packers, titlists of the National Football League, in the Super Bowl — the first competition between the rival professional leagues.

But Kansas City, a two-touchdown underdog, fought its NFL counterpart on even terms in the first half, yielding only when Green Bay's Willie Wood intercepted a pass to set up a touchdown early in the third quarter. The score put the Packers ahead 21-10, and they rolled from there.

Kansas City Coach Hank Stram said, "At halftime, I thought we could come back and win it. We played well in the first half, but the interception seemed to change the personality of the game. Once we got behind, we had to deviate from our game plan."

Dawson, a 10-year veteran of pro football, wished he had a second chance. "I shouldn't have thrown it," he said of the intercepted pass. "Their blitz bothered me, and I didn't have any zing on the ball. I shouldn't have thrown it."

Insisting his team may be as good as Green Bay, Dawson conceded that the Packers are better than any AFL club the Chiefs have faced.

Stram was likewise complimentary as he spoke softly from a corner of the crowded locker-room. "I was very impressed with the Packers," he said. "They're great offensively and defensively. Everybody knows this. You don't give them anything the easy way. We did, and it lost for us."

But the likeable, articulate coach would not be brought into the inevitable comparison of the respective leagues.

"I said before the game and I still maintain that I don't think any one particular game is a measure or a criterion of the league's strength — or that you can compare the two leagues by playing one game."

In describing the Packers, the Chiefs consistently resorted to the word "great," but rookie halfback Mike Garrett was already rebounding with optimism befitting his 22 years, said Garrett:

"Believe me, they're not super humans. They're a really fine team, but they make mistakes. We just made more. We'll be back next year. We got a little taste of it today, and we'll be back."

Wood's Interception Rated Turning Point By Packers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Few would say today there was any one real turning point in Green Bay's 35-10 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs in he Super Bowl yesterday.

But a key point certainly came when the Packers' Willie Wood intercepted a Len Dawson pass intended for Fred Arbanas and, in an electrifying run, ran it back 50 yards to the Chiefs' five.

One burst by Elijah Pitts put it across and what had been a 14-10 Green Bay lead became 21-10.

"We know they'd pass on a third down and five and I was ready," said Wood, performing in the same Memorial Coliseum where he starred for the University of Southern California.

The ball was deflected, Wood revealed, "and I thought it would never come down."

It was another ex-USC Trojan, Mike Garrett, who hauled Willie down.

Wood then disclosed that Green Bay has a policy of setting up an opponent for a kill, giving away passes to the outside for short yardage — and then hawking in when the enemy thinks it has found a weak point in the defense.

Green Bay's postgame dressing room was typically Packer. There were broad smiles, friendly back slapping but anything but riotous.

Coach Vince Lombardi, repeatedly pressed for comparison between his National and the American League, finally said:

"Kansas City has a real top team but I don't think it compares with the top teams in he National Football League.

"That's what you wanted me to say — now I've said it."

Lombardi said there were no adjustments made at halftime.

"We just played more aggressive football in the second half," he said, fondling the game ball presented him by the players.

"I don't know what a key play is," the coach continued. He added with a smile, "I'd say it was the touchdown they called back."

He referred to a 64-yard scoring pass from Bart Starr to Carroll Dale which was nullified by an illegal motion. An interior lineman made it but Lombardi politely declined to identify the offender.

"Sure, I was disturbed in the first half," Starr said. We weren't moving the ball at all. Then we settled down and did just what we were supposed to — get out there and win the ball game."

Fullback Jim Taylor, who played out his option for Green Bay last season, said he had no comment about future plans, but reportedly he'll discuss the matter soon with Lombardi.

Taylor only laughed when asked what the trouble was between 6-foot-7, 287-pound Buck Buchanan, Kansas City's tackle.

"That big devil is too big to tangle with," Taylor said.

"They're a fine football team but their defense was not that good," Starr added. "We've seen it before (Detroit's is similar) and we knew pretty well what to do out there."

Cadets Win Cage Game

San Rafael Military Academy's basketball team broke loose from a 40-41 deficit in the final period and went on to down Concordia, 56-52 last week.

Stan Bradshaw picked up the slack of a low output by ace Tommy Smith to pace the Cadets with 24 points. Davis wound up with eight points and Kirk Snyder had 11.

The win brought SRMA's record to 8-6.

DOUBLE WINNER — Veteran Olympian Ralph Boston flies through the air for 26 feet, 3 inches to win the broad jump last night at the Athens Invitational meet in Oakland. He also won the 60-yard hurdles event. (AP Wirephoto)

Greek Pole Vaulter Cops Athens Trackfest Honors

OAKLAND (AP) — His two indoor track meets have brought Greek pole vaulter Christos Papanicalaou a second place, a first place and a desire for the world record.

The fellow with the long name won at the Athens Invitational last night with a 16-foot 4½-inch effort after placing second to record holder Bob Seagren at San Francisco a week earlier.

Named for the sponsoring athletic club in Oakland and not for the capital of Greece, the meet brought Papanicalaou his first victory since coming to study under the exchange student plan at San Jose State two months ago.

"I came real close at 16-8½," the 24-year-old vaulter declared after winning his event at the track inaugural in the new Coliseum Arena. "I was over but I hit the bar with my elbow.

"I'm going to Los Angeles next Saturday and I'm going to try to break the indoor record."

BEST MARK

Christos placed second in the outdoor European championships and has a best mark of 16-6¾; so he faces a tough task reaching the 17-1 indoor mark of Seagren. Still his victory provided confidence, and he hadn't vaulted at all until he was 18.

Seagren and his University of Southern California teammate, Paul Wilson, each suffered from a slight injury so didn't compete. Mel Hein, who won at Boston on Saturday night at 16-0, competed in the West Coast meet but could clear only 15-6.

The performance of left-handed Papa-nickel-ow and the double victory of veteran Olympian Ralph Boston in the high hurdles and the long jump proved the brightest spots in an evening which failed to come up to full expectations for the crowd of 6,951.

Several Los Angeles atheltes were grounded by fog in Southern California, and Art Walker's bid to beat his own triple jump record died when the pit wasn't long enough for him to go all out. He won at 54-1¾, his first leap, and then quit.

TWO FOR BOSTON

Boston captured the 60-yard hurdles in 7.2 after deciding at the last minute to compete. Minutes later, he won the long jump at 26-3. Jerry Proctor, the 17-year-old high school senior from Pasadena, finished second at 25-3¾.

Charlie Greene of Nebraska took the 60-yard dash in 6.1, edging Jim Hines of Texas Southern.

Oregon's team of Wade Bell, Roscoe Devine, Arnie Kvalheim and Jere Van Dyk won the two-mile relay even though the second runner dropped the baton.

San Jose State, with Lee Evans and Tommie Smith running the final two legs, blazed the mile relay in 3:17.4.

Otis Burrell squared his 1967 high jump dual with John Rambo by winning at 7-2. A week ago Rambo went 7-3 but this time 7-0 proved his highest.

Former University of Texas runner Rich Romo took the mile in 4:10.4, and Tom Laris of New York posted an 8:48.6 in winning the two-mile.

Surprise in the women's race came in the 60 when blonde, high schooler Janet MacFarlane of Gridley, bested her more experienced foes in 7.0.

"I never heard such a loud starting gun and when it went off, I jumped," she explained.

A Big Week For Marin Cagers

By GARY TISCHLER

This is the week the Marin County Athletic League basketball frontrunners turn into bullfighters.

Drake and Tamalpais, now sharing the league lead with 2-0 records, face their moment of truth this week, first in what could be a pair of dangerous tests tomorrow, then in a head-to-head high noon showdown at Tamalpais Friday.

Both breezed to easy wins last week in awesome fashion, the Pirates whistling past hapless Novato, 66-47, and the Indians thumping Marin Catholic's ambitious but young Wildcats, 55-38.

Both coach Carl Brown of Drake and Bernie Schneider of Tamalpais see it as a big week.

Brown, whose Pirates meet the upset team of the league when they battle San Rafael at Drake at 8:15 tomorrow night, thinks this is the week for the defending champs to shine.

"This is really the week when we start league play," Brown said.

In other words, this is the one that counts. The Pirates have breezed past Terra Linda and Novato, cellar-sharers in the MCAL and competition which some might not consider exactly top flight.

"We've settled down now," Brown said of his defending champs. "We've got a solid unit there. And another thing, the boys are proud. They know they're defending champs."

The things the Pirates will undoubtedly take the most pride in is a league-leading defense led by 6-6 Jerry Sprout and Don Alvarado.

Although the Tam-Drake battle is the big one, the stage could be set for some prime ambushes. And Brown is not overlooking San Rafael, only a step behind at 2-1, with the only loss a two-point decision to Tamalpais.

"They could have one of the finest pair of guards in the league in Rich Schau and Roger Widmer," he said. "They'll be tough. That zone of theirs will be tough, if they play it, but we've seen a lot of zones this year. They've got good speed and depth."

"No doubt about it, we could do a lot this week," Schneider said. "If we win both of them, we could get a big jump."

Two wins could leave the Indians 4-0 with only Novato and Terra Linda to play in the first half.

Schneider was elated over his team's easy win against Marin Catholic, and in particular over the play of Floyd Jackson and Pat Schafer.

"I think the big thing was that we got off to a big start," he said. "We just didn't quit. We just played real well. And Jackson you have to remember, hadn't played too much for quite a while until the Petaluma game and Marin Catholic. He came through. And so did Schafer, especially on the boards."

The Indians face Redwood, a disappointed loser to San Rafael in its last outing, but still very much in the race. And the Giants have the home court advantage.

"We'll have to do something about Andre Horn," Schneider said. "They're bigger than we are, but I think we can offset that with speed."

Meanwhile, Dick Hart at Redwood was explaining the Giants' downfall against San Rafael.

"We didn't hit," he said, "and that high zone of theirs bothered us. We tried to hit the basepaths but we threw the ball away. But I like the way we came back after we were down by 12 in the third quarter. And Horn, after that first half, when he didn't hit a basket, really bounced back."

San Rafael's Mike Diaz, the man who could have the final word on the title race, was elated over the Redwood win.

"We had planned to extend that zone," he said. "It worked real well in the first half. Widmer and Schau did an outstanding job on Horn. I think we just got tired in the late part of the game. But we didn't lose our poise."

Diaz praised Mike Donahoo for his all-around play. Donahoo led the Bulldogs with 16 points.

"But our whole team hustled," he said. "It was a team effort. If we play like that against Drake, we'll have a good chance.

Marin Catholic's Gus Hassapakis, whose young Wildcats draw a bye tomorrow, was perplexed by the thrashing his team took.

"It's hard to figure out," he said. "The big thing is that we're not shooting with confidence as we were during practice season. I think the kids are feeling the pressure of having to keep up the good record. Harry Matsinger hasn't found the range and our lack of height, outside of Ches Bornia, hurts. But I think we can get untracked."

Terra Linda coach Bob Corley, whose Trojans upset Salesian, 66-64, praised an outstanding rebound effort and the shooting of Fred Smith.

"I'd just about have to say that was one of our best games of the year," he said. "Fred hit real well (26 points) and helped out on the boards along with Wayne Arsnbarger when Bruce Kilby was in foul trouble. It was just an outstanding team effort."

Stanford's Nerves Jangled After Run-In With Bruins

Alcindor & Co. Rout Shocked Injuns, 116-78

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coach Howie Dallmar of Stanford's shocked basketball team has this consolation:

The Indians have to worry about Lew Alcindor for only two more years. The top-ranked Bruins — led by Alcindor — stunned Stanford 116-78 with a 37-point effort by big Lew.

"Watching UCLA just makes you plain nervous," Dallmar said after the game Saturday night.

"The only way I knew to stop Alcindor is to widen the three-second lane to 50 feet. He's much more advanced than Bill Russell was at the same stage and much quicker and more maneuverable than Chamberlain was, although Wilt was stronger."

PROS WORRY

Added Dallmar: "But I consider myself lucky — We only have to worry about him for three years. The pros will have to worry about him for 15."

The mismatch brought together two conference rivals with 3-0 records in league play. The Bruins remain unbeaten with 12 victories, while Stanford now has an 8-5 record.

The Indians, by the way, haven't beaten UCLA in Los Angeles since 1952.

Cal Gets Its Biggest Win Over Trojans

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's 99-95 victory over Southern California's Trojans may herald a comeback by the Golden Bear basketball squad.

"It was our biggest win of the year," coach Rene Herrerias said after the game Saturday night.

"With a 1-3 record, we would be out of the conference and could only play a spoiler role. But with (Russ) Critchfield and (Charlie) Perkins hitting, we came back after playing sloppy."

TROJANS DROP

Perkins earned 30 points and Critchfield finished with 26 as the Bears, now 2-2 in conference play, dropped the Trojans to a 1-3 record.

The Trojans' mainstays were Steve Jennings with 23 points, Bill Hewitt with 29 and Jim Marsh with 16. Their coach, Bob Boyd, said he was unhappy with some officials' calls.

"I'm glad we have two weeks off to prepare for UCLA," Boyd said. I've never seen so many traveling calls in my life. Some of them were not warranted."

Tight Race In Prep Scoring

The 19-point averages that shone so brightly only a week ago have changed into just average pumpkins as a real race is in prospect for the Marin County Athletic League scoring title.

Steve Woodward of Tam holds the top spot at 14.5, but his lead looks about as permanent as a second season television show. Andre Horn of Redwood follows him at 14.3 and the rest of the league is right behind Horn, with four players bunched at 14.0, one more at 13.7 and another at 13.2.

Longest Streak Over! Litchfield's Beaten

The longest baseball streak since the St. Louis Cardinals went on a late-season rampage in 1963 has ended. And it was certainly the longest streak as far as elapsed time goes.

Litchfield's of San Rafael had its 19-game, two-year San Francisco Triple A Winter League baseball win streak snapped abruptly yesterday when second-place Ellis Brooks Chevrolet handed the Marin nine a 7-5 loss.

The win streak was the longest ever in the San Francisco Triple A league, according to Golden Gate Park announcer San Levin.

The loss dropped Litchfield's to a 7-1 record and left it with only a single-game lead over Ellis Brooks.

Usually dependable Ron Law took the brunt of the damage as he walked four batters in the process. He was the losing pitcher.

Ron Gasper with a single and a double, and Law with a triple led the Litchfield's hitting attack.

Terrell To Share Astrohall Gym With Cassius

HOUSTON (AP) — The proprietors of Astrohall got ready for a second tenant today, Ernie Terrell, who will share the shiny gym with Cassius Clay until their heavyweight title fight across the way in the Astrodome Feb. 6.

Until today, Terrell had been training in New Jersey, chopping wood as part of his workouts.

Clay, who celebrates his 25th birthday tomorrow, sparred six rounds yesterday — four with Jimmy Ellis and two with Mel Turnbow.

A spectator was heavyweight Zora Folley, who fights Floyd Joyner in Houston tomorrow night and whom Clay has mentioned as a possible opponent after and if the champ whips Terrell.

Folley said yesterday he was unimpressed with Clay's training style.

"I think Muhammad showed very little," he said. "He knew I was in the audience and he didn't look impressive to me."

Marin Catholic Frosh Cagers Swamp Tam

The Marin Catholic Frosh basketball team swamped Tam's frosh cagers, 48-20, Friday with three players scoring 12 points each.

Paul Sherry, Bill Kelley and Kan Hanrahan all had a dozen markers.

In a junior varsity contest, the Drake jayvees whipped the Novato junior varsity, 49-26, as Mike Gaffney scored 14 points.

CELTICS SHOCKED

76ers Continue At Record Pace

BOSTON (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers are letting the Boston Celtics do the talking while they keep on winning at a record pace in the National Basketball Assn.

The 76ers are bidding to end Boston's eight-year reign as NBA champions. They shocked the Celtics with 17 straight points within 3½ minutes in the second period and rolled to an easy 110-95 victory yesterday. Philadelphia boosted its Eastern Division lead to 9½ games.

The Celtics, who obviously must look ahead to the playoffs in hopes of keeping the title, continued to maintain they have the best bench in the league, but even most partisan fans would find it hard to believe.

"We lost the game on that 17-point spree," Boston Player-Coach Bill Russell said. "We stopped running and began taking bad shots. I told everyone to run, run, run until they got tired and then tell me.

BEST BENCH

"We've got the best bench in the league and have the strength to run for 48 minutes a game. They just didn't do it."

Wilt Chamberlain, sporting a new look as a complete player instead of just a high-scoring star, played a top role as he scored 19 points, grabbed 25 rebounds, blocked 13 shots and set up baskets for the 76ers.

However, Luke Jackson, Chet Walker and Billy Cunningham did major damage as the 76ers hiked their record to 41-4 with their third victory in five meetings with Boston this season.

"This is the first time the three cornermen put everything together in one game against us," Russell said after the Philadelphia trio combined for 67 points.

Jackson scored 28 points, including six as the 76ers rallied from a 40-35 deficit to a 52-40 lead in the second period. He added 14 in the final quarter while wrecking Boston comeback hopes. Walker finished with 20 points and Cunningham with 19.

"This was Jackson's best game in quite a while," Chamberlain said. "He has been in kind of a slump. This would do him — and us — a lot of good."

Asked if the victory on the Boston court might gave the 76ers a boost in looking ahead to the Eastern playoffs in the spring, Chamberlain played it cool.

WAIT AND SEE

"We beat them here two or three times last year and it didn't do us any good," he said. "Let's wait and see."

Elsewhere, Los Angeles tripped Detroit 127-116, St. Louis edged San Francisco 114-112, and Chicago routed the New York Knicks 131-116.

Jerry West's 39 points led the Lakers into a tie for third place with Detroit in the Western Division as the Pistons lost their sixth straight at home.

INCOME TAX FACTS

No Set Time On Refund Checks

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

How soon can I get my refund? No set time can be given.

The Internal Revenue Service gets them out just as soon as they possibly can.

Interest is allowed on refunds from the date of overpayment to a date preceding the date of the refund check by not more than 30 days, except that no interest is allowed on a refund made within 45 days of the day the tax was due or the several installments thereof, determined without regard to any extension of time for filing the return.

Wikel

If you carefully fill in your return fully and completely and mail it early, you could have your refund in as little as three weeks. If you are unlucky, or do a sloppy job that requires auditing before the return can be paid, it could take several months, or even several years in extreme cases.

This year for the first time, individuals in California will be brought under the new computer controlled Automatic Data Processing system for the handling of federal income tax returns. From now on information about you and your income tax returns will be permanently stored on magnetic tape. Questions about your reported income can be compared with data submitted by your employers and others. In addition, the computers will perform many checking and questioning functions formerly done by hand methods.

Now more than ever before it is important that your income tax return be completely and accurately prepared. Your careful attention to the details of your tax return can save both you and the government needless time and expense answering questions the computers will generate if your return is inaccurate or incomplete.

Here are a few hints which will help insure the smooth handling of your return by the new computer system:

Make sure to list your complete address and Social Security number.

Check appropriate blocks showing your filing status, i.e., "single, married, filing joint return," etc.

Check appropriate blocks concerning your exemptions and dependents.

Put names of dependent children living with you on page 1.

Attach wage forms W-2 to the face of page 1 in the place indicated.

Write or print legibly, or type.

Show your name and address exactly as it appears on page 1 on all schedules accompanying the return.

All applicable items of income, tax computation and deductions should be filled in on the return form and schedules.

Don't alter, substitute or cross out line captions printed on the official forms.

If you use attachments to supplement information on the official forms, put the totals on the proper lines on the tax form 1040.

Be sure to sign your return. If you file a joint return, both husband and wife must sign, even if only one of you had income.

A few extra minutes spent checking your tax return before you send it in could save you hours of explaining later in the year.

Market Closes Lower In Year's First Loss

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today for the first time in 1967. Trading was heavy.

The market snapped off a string of advances at nine straight. For a while it looked as if stocks would chalk up their 10th straight daily advance. After a mixed opening prices rose on balance.

Gains were trimmed gradually, hoeever, and by late afternoon the averages were in minus territory. Profits were taken on a trading basis, brokers said.

Volume for the day was estimated at 10.5 million shares compared with 10.01 million Friday.

The market had difficulty pushing its great 1967 rally into the 10th straight session, but there were some impressive gains.

Corning Glass spurted more than 11 points. Up about 3 were Chicago Great Western, Allied Products, Sprague Electric and Ling-Temco-Vought.

Southern Pacific was unchanged at 31¼ on a block of 25,000 shares.

IBM fell 5 points or more following publication of a report that the company is being investigated for antitrust violations. IBM said it had no knowledge of any such investigation.

Commercial Solvents ran up about 4 points. Gains of 2 points or so were made by Fairchild Camera, Hayes Industries, National Cash Register, Northwest Airlines and White Consolidated.

Douglas Aircraft was up about 4 while McDonnell Co. was a fractional loser following a report they will proceed with merger negotiations.

Gains of a point or so were made by Boeing, Raytheon, Anaconda, General Electric and Control Data. Union Carbide gained nearly 2.

HERRING ARRIVE—WITH GULLS CLOSE BEHIND

The herring run began today in Sausalito. And, undeterred by fog, thousands of sea gulls followed the little fish to gorge themselves as the herring piled up under water along the shore. This was the scene—caught by Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax as the fog lifted briefly—just off the Trident dock, with the moored ferry boat Berkeley in background.

Quentin Muslims Attempt Strike

Fog Also Closes County Airport

Thick, wet fob—the season's worst—shrouded low-lying areas of Marin today, shutting the county airport, ferry service, and slowing auto traffic.

Elsewhere, the fog was blamed for two ship crashes, 12 traffic deaths, closing schools, and snarling transportation from Sacramento to Los Angeles.

Visibility was zero on San Francisco Bay as the Liberian freighter Suan ran aground at Anita Rock, off the Presidio, before dawn. But damage appeared slight as the vessel freed herself for inspection.

DIDN'T GO OUT

The Tiburon ferry to San Francisco did not venture out, and harbor trips were cancelled until the fog lifted. Ferry General Manager Lester Bedient said it was the first time this winter that bad weather had cancelled runs.

The county airport at Novato shut down early this morning, but opened shortly after sunrise. Visual flying was prohibited at Hamilton Air Force Base until 9 a.m.

Commuter traffic was delayed on Highway 101 as fog covered the highway from Marinwood to Corte Madera. Other sections were clear.

By mid-morning, the fog began to lift, and the Weather Bureau said fair weather would extend probably through Wednesday.

SAN DIEGO WRECKS

Massive automobile pileups were reported in the San Diego and the San Francisco Bay areas as zero- zero visibility nearly brought traffic to a standstill.

At San Diego, the fog caused "the worst traffic accident" in the county's hisotry when two persons were killed Saturday night and 29 persons were injured in a tangled 40-car accident on Interstate 5. Twenty-one cars were so badly wrecked they had to be towed away.

Twenty cars were involved in in a single smashup on Nimitz Freeway in the Bay Area this morning and traffic on Bay Area bridges and freeways was slowed to five miles an hour, or stopped completely.

The Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland airports were closed by zero-zero visibility and the same was true of smaller airports from Sacramento through the San Joaquin Valley. Schools were closed temporarily because buses could not move safely on the highways.

An Italian freighter, the Ilice rammed a drawbridge on the Sacramento River late last night with visibility only five feet. No one was hurt although several cars and two boys were on the span at the time. The Coast Guard said the 10,600-ton motor vessel buried 50 feet of her bow into the east side of the bridge and it took six hours to free the vessel.

River traffic was stopped for four hours, and it may be two

Inmate Badly Beaten

One inmate was seriously beaten and 45 others were locked into their cells at San Quentin today in an attempt by Black Muslim prisoners to stop work at the prison.

Associate Warden James W. L. Parks said violence flared this morning when a band of prisoners known to be Black Muslins tried to prevent inmates from going to their jobs.

At least two prisoners were assaulted when they refused to heed the strike attempt.

CLUB OR PIPE

One, Robert N. Holderman, 29, was beaten on the head with a club or pipe, Park said, and was hospitalized in serious condition. Park reported Holderman also suffered puncture wounds in the chest, but it was not known whether he was stabbed.

Also assaulted was William E. Walker, 39, who suffered minor scrapes.

Park said most inmates went to their jobs. However, 45 inmates found walking idly in the yard were locked up in their cells, he reported.

He said the stop-work calls came this weekend after five inmates were relieved of their jobs in the mess hall because of improper conduct.

"The Black Muslims took it up as a righteous cause," Park said, "and tried to stop work this morning.

FOG HAMPERS

Prison officials were hampered in their attempts to maintain order by dense fog which shrouded the lower yard.

"We couldn't see what was going on at first," Park said shortly after the outbreak," but the fog is clearing somewhat now, and we feel we have the situation under control."

Holderman is serving a term for passing bad checks in San Francisco County; Walker for escape and first degree burglary in Del Norte County.

Jets Bomb Fuel Dump; Prison Camp Massacre

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Air Force fighter bombers penetrated North Vietnam's deadliest defenses and for the first time in nearly a month and struck the Hanoi area dump which supplies its Communist MIG jets with fuel, spokesmen said today.

Spokesmen said the American F105 Thunderchief pilots met several flights of advanced Russian-built MIG-21s in the raid yesterday on the Ha Gia jet fuel depot on the fringe of Hanoi's major air base. No dogfights were reported.

In the ground war, South Vietnamese soldiers stumbled on Vietnam's worst prison camp massacre. The government troops reported finding the bodies of 44 men, women and children who were stabbed, shot or killed with hand grenades by their fleeing Viet Cong captors.

The Ha Gia depot was the target of the last U.S. attack on the Hanoi area on Dec. 19. It supplies fuel to the Phuc Yen MIG base three miles away, and is located 14 and one-half miles from the center of Hanoi.

The MIGs based at Phuc Yen defend not only the capital, but the industrialized Red River Valley to the north and the region southeastward to the port of Haiphong. The prime objective of attacks on the fuel depot is to immobilize MIG defenses.

The Viet Cong massacre was reported yesterday from two guerrilla outposts 500 yards apart in jungles 100 miles southwest of Saigon. Government spokesmen said Viet Cong guards bound most of the prisoners in groups of eight and killed them while other guerrillas held off the advancing Vietnamese troops.

The spokesman said only six of 50 prisoners at the camp escaped the massacre by faking death. Two women and two children were among those killed.

Another Vietnamese Ranger battalion operating only four miles from the massacre encountered a Viet Cong force and killed 74 without suffering any casualties, the government said. Most of the guerrillas reported killed were struck by U.S. aircraft supporting the Vietnamese.

In other U.S. air raids on North Vietnam, F105 pilots reported strikes against two surface-to-air missles (SAM) sites within 15 miles of the capital. The Viet Tri rail yard, 31 miles northwest, and the Trai Ca Highway and rail Bridge, 40

Tooke Gets Six Months In County Jail

OAKLAND (UPI) — Castro Valley tax consultant James C. Tooke was sentenced to six months in the county jail today for his part in the Alameda County assessors scandal.

Tooke, the central figure in the scandal, pleaded guilty to one count of grand theft and another of bribery.

Alameda County Superior Judge Redmond C. Staats also fined Earle Parrish, former Alameda County deputy assessor, $4,400 for his role in the scandal. Parrish pleaded guilty to two counts of grand theft involving Tooke's clients.

Staats noted that both men, particularly Tooke, had cooperated with the prosecution, but he said "some punishment was necessary." In Tooke's case, he said, "the court feels jail is in order."

Staats fined Parris $2,200 on each count. Parrish's attorney, George R. Nye, said he felt the judgement was "in error."

Jackie, Manchester Settle Out Of Court

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy reached an out-of-court agreement today with author William Manchester and the publishing house of Harper & Row on a version of Manchester's "The Death of a President."

The end of one of the most sensational controversies in book publishing history was a victory for Mrs. Kennedy, who instituted a suit in State Supreme Court Dec. 16 in an attempt to prevent publication and serialization of the book.

Today's settlement made it unnecessary for Manchester and Harper & Row to stand trial. Manchester's trial was to have started this morning and Harper & Row's on Wednesday. Look Magazine, which is serializing the book, reached an out-of-court settlement with Mrs. Kennedy before Christmas.

A spokesman for Harper & Row said representatives of all parties had signed an agreement this afternoon in the presence of Justice Saul Streit, who had personaliy guided negotiations which led to the settlement.

Still unsettled was the uncut serialization of the book currently running in the German weekly, Stern. Look editor-in-chief William Atwood and attorney William vanden Heuvel, a close friend of Mrs. Kennedy, flew to Germany last week in an attempt to persuade Stern to make the same cuts as those made by Look, but the German magazine refused.

The second serialized article in the current issue of Stern tells of President and Mrs. Kennedy's last night together, an episode which Look agreed to delete. It was this type of intimate detail to which Mrs. Kennedy objected, on the grounds it had no real bearing on history.

Gov. Reagan Suspends New Car Purchases

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan suspended today the purchase of all new state cars, except when urgently needed.

It was another in a series of economy moves launched by the Reagan administration last week in an attempt to cut spending during the current fiscal year, ending June 30.

A California Highway Patrol official said the new freeze would not affect the purchase of new patrol cars, contracted for late last year.

Other economy moves announced last week included the closing of eight service centers to the poor in racially troubled areas, a freeze on hiring of new state employees, and suspension of office equipment and furniture.

Reagan press aides added the governor, himself, is driving the 1964 black limousine used by his predecessor, Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, and there is no plan to buy a new car for Reagan.

Paul Beck, a press assistant, said agency chiefs and department heads could take emergency car-purchase requests to Phillip M. Battaglia, Reagan's executive director, for consideration.

Beck was asked if the administration is considering any new restrictions on the use of present state cars. He said that probably is under study, but it's a complicated problem.

No U. S. Designs On North Vietnam

Rusk made the comment after a four-hour, closed session with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Bromley Says He Gave Half Of Redwood Fee To Baker

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The government's star witness in the trial of Robert G. (Bobby) Baker testified today he gave the former Senate aide half of a $5,000 fee paid after federal approval for the Redwood National Bank in San Rafael.

Wayne L. Bromley, a Washington attorney and a friend of Baker for 24 years, gave the testimony in federal court after Judge Oliver Gasch postponed a ruling on a motion to dismiss charges of larceny, fraud and tax evasion charges against Baker.

Bromley said he and Baker "agreed that the fee would be split if we could expedite the charter" for the Redwood National Bank Bromley said he paid all of the income tax on the $5,000 and Baker told him he would be reimbursed for the amount of the taxes.

The charter was granted Jan. 4, 1963, by the U.S. Comptroller of the Currency. Bromley said he was asked in late 1962 by Maurice Hugett, who was representing a group trying to form the bank, to help in obtaining the charter.

Bromley also testified that on April 21, 1963, he sat in on a Las Vegas conference in which former Nevada Lt. Gov. Clinton

Report On The Red Guards In The Streets Of Canton

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Ian Brodie, 31, Far Eastern correspondent for the London Daily Express, has just spent four days in Canton and southeast China. Here is his eyewitness report on the upheaval shaking the Communist giant.)

By IAN BRODIE
London Daily Express

CANTON, China (AP) — Though one million Red Guards throng Canton's streets and are in effective control, there are no civil disorders. The opposition to the guards is cover, furtive and virtually underground.

Police are still on duty, most of them wearing armbands to show they are in the Red Guards anyway. But traffic in the streets of southeast China's biggest city is limited to a handful of trucks, packed buses and trolley-buses.

On my way to Canton I wondered if I would meet any Red Guards. By now I have seen thousands upon thousands, shaken hands with hundreds who wanted to be friendly and even had one try to press his red armband on me as a mark of honorary membership.

Their fervor is pathetic but self-sustaining. Primed with the thoughts of Mao Tse-tung to solve all problems, they see the golden classless future as theirs to inherit. Their movement is a pilgrimage but the only diety is Mao.

Out in the countryside I saw many more columns of youths marching to join their comrades.

One group of 50, with bedrolls on their backs and mostly barefoot, had been walking behind their red flag along dusty roads for four days. They said it may be a year before they see their village again.

Apart from their teacher, not one of them was over 13.

I was told the influx into Canton has built up suddenly during the last two troubled weeks — since Mao and Defense Minister Lin Piao said the cultural revolution must spread to every work bench and rice paddy in the land.

Apparently, all major cities now have a similar flood of marchers. The disruption of traffic, normal working and food supplies is unimaginable.

Older men who must keep working to feed their families are growing increasingly resentful, I was told. So are some young workers who are not students and who want to get on with learning a trade.

The Red Guards are everywhere in Canton, jammed on the pavement outside my hotel, milling in continuous procession along the main streets, accosting everyone daring them to defy Mao's thoughts. They tolerate no opposition.

And yet it was possible to detect that opposition still exists in Canton. It is underground. It is small. But it appears to be determined.

The Chinese official assigned to me by the authorities — a wary Mr. Wu — admitted that there had been labor troubles and strikes in Canton. From his account they were not coordinated or organized. Yet opponents of Mao had been able to trigger workers' unrest sufficiently to set up a number of wildcat walkouts.

In recent weeks the tempo of ramming home Mao's message has been stepped up. One aim of the cultural revolution is to make his words and image totally ubiquitous.

At every mealtime — delicate Cantonese cooking eaten with chopsticks — I sat under a red banner that said: "Chairman Mao is the Poroletariat in the present era, and the greatest genius in the present era — Lin Piao."

That sets the tone for Mao-think.

The fanatical campaign is defacing China. Every building in Canton is being daubed with quotations from Mao's thoughts, painted in scarlet characters on orders from the town council.

This blanket coverage has aroused critics. One wall poster lamented the waste of paint and the use of good space that could otherwise be used for posters.

If Mao falls from grace with the speed of Khrushchev, millions of Chinamen will need an overnight decorating job on their homes.

Set to music, his thoughts throb through loudspeakers on trains, in cafes, parks, shops and even the customs shed on the Hong Kong border.

I am the first British reporter to get into China since the cultural revolution flared into violence nearly two weeks ago, and my entry visa was for Canton only. I asked whether I could go to the north and was told: "There have been troubles in other parts of China. The situation is not good there, particularly in the north."

When I asked for details, an official told me: "I cannot give state secrets to foreigners."

Although the Red Guards are everywhere, fantastic pressures are bubbling up among the ordinary people and the guards themselves.

The tension is bordering on mass hysteria. Everyone is being told constantly that this present fight against the class enemy ranks with the October revolution. If you tell this to 700 million people long enough, someone will soon demand action. And when action comes thousands of innocent people will be the victims.

That is the mood here, volatile, hysterical, apprehensive.

The city of three million now has another million strangers on its streets who have swarmed in from the countryside. They are all in their teens and 20s. They throng the pavements, discussing in impromptu groups and holding mass sing-songs.

When I looked out of my bedroom window from the Yang-Cheng Hotel at 4:30 in the morning, they were still at it, about 3,000 teen-agers, squatting on the pavement, singing the thoughts of Mao.

Although I saw long early morning queues at a central food market, there did not appear to be shortages of vegetables or fresh meat. The queues were of old women, apparently anxious to be first for the choicest cuts. The favorite dishes: monkey and dog meat.

I met a gentle, white-haired American woman who said she left the United States forever two years ago to join a daughter here and to teach in China. She is Mrs. Doris Dawson, 77, of Palo Alto, Calif., who said she is a member of the American Communist Party.

She used to teach English at a University in Honan Province, but since all colleges were closed last summer for the cultural revolution she is out of a job. So now she is touring around as an honored guest with her own battered limousine and translator.

"His English is dreadful — they've taken all the good ones to explain the cultural revolution," she said.

Everywhere she finds marchers — "Goodness knows how many millions. I passed through a village of 2,000 in the mountains and the previous night they had put up 35,000 Red Guards.

She said the guards pay for food they take. The rate is 4 cents (about a penny) a day.

Mrs. Dawson speaks only a few words of Chinese and having no access to English-language news, she has no idea what is happening at a national level. She would not believe Mao and President Liu Shao-Chi have split.

"Cho En-Lai wouldn't let that happen," she said. Whatever they're doing now has been planned. They're shrewd, you know.

Mrs. Dawson sports a Red Guard armband.

"They gave it to me for my protection. I think the Red Guards are marvelous. Such a wonderful spirit," she said.

"I am not completely starry-eyed about China. I could talk to you for a whole afternoon about things I don't like such as the way they spit in public. But these faults would all be minor compared to the wonderful things happening here."

Mrs. Dawson said she left the states because of Vietnam — "Now I'm delighted the students are protesting at Berkeley and elsewhere."

But she says she cannot go back herself—"It would mean jail. My husband is 94 and very rich and we decided his money could keep him as well as I could. I still write to him."

Mrs. Dawson said goodbye a little wistfully: "It's been a pleasure talking to you. Apart from my daughter, who is married to a Chinese, you are the first English-speaking person I've met in two years."

Mao Foe Reported Forming Own Army

TOKYO (AP) — One of Mao Tse-tung's mouthpieces, the theoretical journal Red Flag, reported yesterday that President Liu Shao-chi has formed a private army against Mao.

Red Flag described Liu's force as the "army of defenders of red state power" and said it was created to protect a handful of persons practising "bourgeois dictatorship."

It gave no details and did not say whether the army was military, paramilitary or just political in nature. But it claimed the 2.5-million-man Red Chinese army is "infinitely loyal to Chairman Mao, loyal to the people."

The article confirmed what has become increasingly apparent in the past two weeks, that Liu's men "in varying degrees still hold party, political and financial power in the localities and units in which they are entrenched."

It said they have to be rooted out, one by one, and "the positions recovered by the proletariat (Mao's supporters) have yet to be consolidated, one by one."

Mao's organs also disclosed over the weekend that counter-revolutionary forces exist within the Chinese army and said the struggle against the usual "small handful" in positions of power was "acute and complicated." It said that "even now they are staging a counterattack."

Sheriff's Lt. Glenn Dyer said finding the car was "the first major break in the case" and officers were also checking reports that two men were seen in Oakland in the vehicle.

Hoischen, an engineer, was last seen Tuesday when he left work. When the body was found, his wallet was missing, authorities said.

Unemployment Down In Watts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The ranks of the jobless in the troubled Watts section of Los Angeles have thinned, but there is still much to do, a business group reports.

The Management Council, which places members of minority groups in jobs, said Saturday that unemployment in the south-central part of Los Angeles—including Watts—is down by nearly half since the August, 1965, riots.

"We are making some gains," said H. C. McClellan, head of the council, "but to succeed it is going to take the combined effort of business, labor and certainly the government."

Public Hearing Tomorrow On Service District

Public hearing on the proposed formation of the Tamalpais Community Services District to take in most of Tamalpais Valley, will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow before county supervisors at the Civic Center.

The supervisors will begin their regular session at 9 a.m.

The morning agenda includes further discussion of the administrative changes proposed for county operation of the Community Mental Health Center. The county's mental health advisory board has asked that the discussion be put off for six months.

Also on the morning agenda is a suggestion that legislation be asked to give the counties control of State Public Works department projects such as the State Division of Highways' maintenance yard recently built near Point Reyes Station without benefit of supervisor or planning commission review.

The afternoon session will start at 1:30 p.m. with a hearing on the proposed second phase development of the road into Marincello. Plans for the two-mile stretch of raod were approved by the planning commission last week.

At 3:45 p.m. the board of supervisors will once again discuss earthquake risk, with consideration of Planning Director Paul C. Zucker's suggestion that he might name a pilot study committee on the problem on his own initiative, despite board turndown last week.

Seminary President's Residence Ransacked

The home of Harold K. Graves, president of Golden Gate Baptist Seminary at Strawberry, was ransacked Friday and silverware valued at more than $6,000 stolen, according to the Marin County sheriff's office.

Deputies said someone entered the home at 10 Chapel Drive while Graves was on a tour of the Midwest.

Among items taken were gifts to Graves for his service: a silver table service for 12 presented by the First Baptist Church of Bartlesville, Okla., valued at $2,000; a silver chafing dish "in appreciation for his service to the district 1953-63," valued at "several thousand"; and a silver tea and coffee serving set inscribed from "the First Baptist Church July 4, 1953," valued at $2,000.

Also taken were a mink stole valued at $550; a camera, valued at $45; two silver trays, valued at $165; a television set, valued at $130, and a bedspread "apparently used to carry away the loot," according to deputies.

Lani Bird Probe To Link Japan, U.S. Via Television

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communications Satellite Corp. plans to inaugurate commercial communications service between the United States and Japan late this month via its new Lani Bird satellite.

Lani Bird 2, officially known as intelsat Satellite 2, was launched Wednesday from Cape Kennedy, Fla., and reached a synchronous orbit Saturday 22,300 miles above earth.

The new Lani Bird, replacing Lani Bird 1 which failed to achieve synchronous orbit, is designed to serve as a new communications link between the United States and the Far East.

A spokesman said Comsat will begin today 10 days of tests to determine the spacecraft's communications capacity. It is expected to have about 240 circuits. The first, for use between America and Japan, is scheduled tentatively to be opened Jan. 26.

When launched, Lani Bird 2 reached an eliptical orbit ranging between 160 and 19,911 nautical miles above earth. Comsat sent the spacecraft Saturday into a stationary orbit over the Pacific at the international date line.

Because Lani Bird 1 did not reach a synchronous orbit, it could be used for communications only on a part-time basis.

On April 1, the Defense Department will claim 30 circuits —10 each for communications between Hawaii, Japan, the Philippines and Thailand. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has contracted for half of the new satellite's communications channels.

miles north of Hanoi, also were struck.

American B-52 bombers staged three raids in South Vietnam, spokesmen said. The targets included guerrilla base camps 280 miles northeast of Saigon, just west of Hue and south of Marine positions along the Demilitarized Zone.

U.S. spokesmen also announced that Operation Deckhouse V, a Marine amphibious assault in the Mekong Delta, had come to a close. The leathernecks reported 21 enemy killed and 14 captured in the 10-day operation south of Saigon. A North Vietnamese broadcast monitored in Tokyo today described the operation as a "gigantic flop."

On another front, former Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, visiting Vietnam for three days "as a taxpayer", today called for stepped up bombing of North Veitnam.

"It won't bother Communist China," he said. "They are not going to war with us at this time. They're not ready . . . "They're not ready for war."

Goldwater said he believed there were "some more lucrative targets" to be bombed in the North beyond the "wooden bridges" that often are present targets.

Goldwater, who arrived with his wife Peggy from Bangkok, Thailand, was greeted at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airbase by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, American commander in Vietnam, and U.S. deputy Ambassador William Porter.

Corte Madera Costs Below Budget Figure

Corte Madera is expected to finish the fiscal year $20,000 ahead of its budget, Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher said today.

He will present a mid-year budget review to the Corte Madera Town Council today at 7:30 p.m., and will ask that a total of $13,995 be transferred from the reserve, but the town will still spend $20,000 less than the budget called for, he said.

The council is to make an appointment to the planning commission.

Annexation of Industrial Way to Larkspur will be considered, as part of the continuing boundary adjustment project between Corte Madera and Larkspur.

The council will consider an ordinance regulating encroachments within town rights-of-way. Usher said the town has until now had a procedure for handling encroachments, but no ordinance.

The council may call for bids on widening, curb work and reconstruction of portions of Palm and Buena Vista Avenues, estimated to cost $13,000.

Cherry Bomb Blast Hurts Teen-Ager

A 16-year-old Novato boy was in fair condition today in Letterman General Hospital, San Francisco, from injuries suffered when a cherry bomb exploded yesterday in his hand.

Novato police said Patrick and three 17-year-old companions, Donald Edward Herriott of 1527 Buchanan Street, Thomas Alan Herrnberger of 9 Gothic Drive, and Harold Edward Kruth of 760 Tamalpais Avenue were in a car in front of the Kruth home at 12:15 a.m. yesterday. Patrick produced the cherry bomb and used a dry cigarette lighter to make sparks to ignite it, the officers said.

He was given emergency treatment at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital, then transferred to Letterman.

Still A Few Empty Beds At Hospitals

Marin County's three general hospitals aren't so crammed with patients as last week, but there are still few empty beds.

Today Marin General Hospital had 170 adult patients and 20 newborn babies, down 14 from 184 adults last Thursday, near capacity.

Administrator Ray Bolinger said the hospital is admitting elective patients, "but it's difficult to say the situation is over yet. So far so good; we hope we can take care of all requests for admission."

Ross General Hospital had a few empty beds during the weekend, reported administrator Dr. John C. Siemens, "but they're filling up rapidly toady." Last week Ross Hospital had only one empty bed, out of 149.

Novato General Hospital administrator Milton Scott could not say how many empty beds were available, "but everything's going along normally."

At Center Medical Hospital in Kentfield, administrator Donald Barksdale said last week's full-house continued. All 99 beds in the hospital were occupied.

Kaiser Foundation's Terra Linda Valley Hsopital is still the only hsopital in the county with many vacancies. Today there were 53 patients with a total of 97 beds available.

Jones arranged to pay Baker $10,000 by sending checks of $1,000 a month through Bromley.

Jones said "he wanted me to report it on my income tax and he would pay the difference on it," Bromley said.

Former Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges testified about a partnership deal in a Charlotte, N.C., restaurant which he had with Baker and another man.

Hodges said that in 1961 he arranged to sell his share to the other two partners.

Gasch said before ruling on defense motions to dismiss the charges against Baker, he wanted to read the transcript of more than an hour's questioning of Bromley.

Defense Attorney Edward Bennett Williams filed two motions last week protesting that Bromley had been illegally equipped with a microphone transmitter so that federal agents could listen to his conversations with Baker.

Bromley, in questioning without the jury present, acknowledged that government attorneys listened in on a phone call he had on March 25, 1965, with Baker but said it was a completely insignificant call.

He also related that on March 26, he went to Los Angeles and conferred with Baker in a hotel room. At that time, he said, there was a transmitting device concealed on his belt line and a hidden microphone on his shirt.

Bromley said he did not know where the conversation was being monitored but he supposed that this was being done. He also said that he understands that a tape of the monitored talk exists but is "useless."

The government witness said that he agreed to the "bugging" on the advice of his attorney.

Mrs. Wallace Taking Oath In Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) —Lurleen Burns Wallace was to take the oath of office today as Alabama's first woman governor and the third in the history of the nation.

The honey blonde former dime store clerk succeeds her husband in a family-affair inauguration which evolved when the legislature refused to change laws to allow George Wallace to succeed himself as governor. Wallace ran his wife for the post and she won handily.

Mrs. Wallace, standing on a bronze star on the steps of the Alabama statehouse where Jefferson Davis was sworn in as president of the Confederacy 106 years ago, was to take the oath following the longest parade ever in Alabama —a five-hour extravaganza of 300 units.

She also planned to use the same tattered Bible Davis used to complete the latest chapter in her Cinderella story.

Fair skies and balmy temperatures combined with the magnetism of the Wallaces were expected to draw thousands for the afternoon swearing-in ceremonies at the capitol, gleaming white with a fresh coat of paint especially for the event.

Mrs. Wallace began her big day with a traditional prayer breakfast, along with her husband and Lt. Gov. Albert Brewer and several other state leaders.

The Wallaces broke tradition by refusing to sanction an official ball out of deference to Alabamians fighting in Vietnam.

The only other woman ever to serve as governors were Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming and Mrs. Miriam (Ma) Ferguson of Texas, both elected in 1924.

FIRE ENGULFS EXPOSITION HALL

Billowing smoke rolls from Chicago's huge lakefront exposition hall, McCormick Place, this morning as the large modern building was destroyed by fire. A security guard, who discovered the fire, was credited with saving the lives of 150 persons by racing through halls ahead of the smoke and warning them to flee. (AP Wirephoto)

Operation Restores GI's Normal Voice

BOSTON (AP) — A Marine wounded in a Viet Cong ambush last fall said "Hello, how are you?" And became, doctors believe, the first person to speak normally without a voice box.

Doctors at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary fashioned a tube and valve from the skin of Lance Cpl. Walter Lopata to replace a shattered larynx and restore his voice.

The second of two operations was performed Friday and Lopata, 25, greeted reporters Saturday with "Hello, how are you?" They were his first spoken words since he was wounded by Viet Cong shrapnel Oct. 11.

The two-stage operation was developed by Dr. William W. Montgomery of the infirmary who termed results of what he said was the first such attempt "a complete success."

Dr. Montgomery said general use of the procedure is "still in the future."

He said an estimated 6,000 Americans have their voice box removed each year because of cancer. He said perhaps 70 per cent of these eventually might be candidates for the new surgery.

A patient without a voice box must try to learn esophageal speech in which air is swallowed into the stomach and words are formed by "burping" into the throat, Dr. Montgomery explained.

The new surgical procedure allows the patient to breathe into the lungs and back up the throat in the normal way, giving the voice a good volume and pitch control never possible with esophageal speech.

In Good Condition

Mrs. Helen G. Belsey, 51, of 205 Second Street, Sausalito, was reported in good condition today in Marin General Hospital with a neck concussion, fractures, and arm cuts suffered Friday night while riding in a car which struck an abutment on the southern approach to the Golden Gate Bridge.

Only Few Are Objecting Now To Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the American Medical Assn. says that after six and one-half months of Medicare the nation's doctors are voicing few objections—publicly or privately—to the federal health program for the elderly.

"In the beginning, there were some rebellious ones who spoke as if they wouldn't cooperate," with medicare, said Dr. Charles L. Hudson.

But now, he said, "I just don't hear the number of remarks. There are not so many who say they won't participate" in portions of the program.

Have doctors found that medicare is not the bureaucratic monster they feared?

Dr. Hudson, interviewed during his appearance at a medical conference, smiled and paused for a moment.

What doctors were fighting against, he said, was an intangible thing. "It was, he said, "whether you were going to lose your professional freedom. You have to let it run a while to see how obnoxious it is.

"The unknown is always worse than the fact."

First Negro Government Is Installed In Bahama Islands

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — These sunny islands get their first Negro government today. But despite the political questions, life proceeded as before.

Tourists who jammed Nassau rode down Bay Street apparently as oblivious to the political turnover as were the horses wearing straw hats and pulling pink surreys.

But among resident in the 700-island chain stretching from near Florida to near Cuba, the talk was about Premier-designate Lynden O. Pindling, who pulled the election upset of Bahamas' history.

Will his party embark on radical policies that could rock a tourist-laden prosperity boat or will it tread cautiously?

In the native straw market, one of the women who make hats to sell to tourists, remarked: "We have a government now that is for the people and not for themselves. Now we are going to have price controls and low-cost houses and better schools and hospital facilities."

In bigger business circles, there was some apprehension.

Pindling, 36, London-trained barrister whose Progressive Liberal party won a resounding election victory over the white-dominated United Bahamian party said: "We are not going to cut our throat. Business interests, tourists and investors have nothing to fear.

"We will open our doors to legitimate English and American industry and thus take the present stranglehold away from the minority that controls the economic welfare of the country."

Woman Hurt In Accident

A 61-year-old Fairfax woman suffered minor injuries in a three-car, rear-end chain collision on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, west of Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Injured was Vivien Neill Dean of 133 Willow Avenue, who suffered a cut lip, bruised knees and chest pains. She was treated at Kaiser Terra Linda Valley Hospital.

Officers said a car driven by Mrs. Dean hit the rear of a car driven by Raymond Edward Estelita, 42, of 82 Redwood Road, Fairfax, pushing it into a car driven by Hel LeGriel Barker, 80, of 101 San Carlos Avenue, Sausalito. All were eastbound.

STRUCTURAL SPINAL DISORDERS

Nearly every person at some time during his life suffers pain and disease due to structural distortions of the spine.

THE NORMAL SPINE . . . not only provides the main support of the human body; it also provides a protective enclosed tube through which pass the NERVES THAT SUPPLY EVERY PART OF THE BODY. THE SPINE THAT HAS BECOME DISTORTED BY EXCESSIVE PROLONGED MUSCLE TENSION, MINOR FALLS, OR ACCIDENTS AND STRAINS does not adequately support the body . . . the result is REPEATED PAINFUL BACK DISORDERS AND INCREASED SUSCEPTIBILITY TO DISABLING SPINAL INJURY. If allowed to persist, the increased stress of excessive spinal muscle tension and structural distortion of the spine is likely to play a major role in later years in the development of DEGENERATIVE SPINAL DISEASE.

THE STRUCTURALLY DISTORTED SPINE . . . NOT ONLY FAILS TO SUPPORT THE BODY: IT FAILS TO PROVIDE ADEQUATE PROTECTION FOR THE DELICATE SPINAL CORD AND SPINAL NERVES . . . in many cases a structural distortion or segment displacement may actually injure a nerve which supplies vital energy to a major organ or tissue. Everyone is familiar with the fact that a displaced spinal segment may "pinch" a nerve and cause neuritis in an arm or leg. FEW PEOPLE REALIZE THAT THE SAME TYPE INJURY MAY OCCUR IN A NERVE THAT SUPPLIES A VITAL ORGAN. A REGULAR PROFESSIONALLY DIRECTED SPINAL HYGIENE PROGRAM ALLOWS YOUR CHIROPRACTOR TO DETECT AND CORRECT SPINAL DISTORTIONS IN THEIR EARLY STAGES

IF YOU NOW HAVE A CONSTANT BACK PROBLEM THAT YOU HAVE DECIDED THAT YOU WOULD JUST HAVE TO LIVE WITH OR ONE THAT COMES AND GOES . . . NOW IS A GOOD TIME TO PHONE SO WE CAN CORRECT YOUR PROBLEM.

Rockefellers, Eaton Will Build Giant Soviet Bloc Trade Bridge

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rockefeller brothers and Cyrus S. Eaton Jr., representing two of the nation's richest families, plan to build a better trade bridge between the Western Hemisphere and Communist countries in Eastern Europe.

The financial alliance, linking Wall Street and the Midwest, was disclosed yesterday and confirmed by Richard S. Aldrich of the Rockefeller interests.

It will involve cooperation between the International Basic Economy Corp., controlled by the Rockefeller brothers, and Tower International, Inc., headed by Eaton, a Cleveland industrialist.

Aldrich, a vice president and director of IBEC, said his organization's objective "is to improve the standard of living of the peoples of the world.

"An initiative that creates a commercial and industrial dialogue between the East and the West cannot help but contribute to a better world."

The trade exchange plan — encompassing the United States, Canada and Latin America — brings together the enormous investment skills of the Rockefellers and the almost unique relationship the Eatons have with the Soviet bloc.

Cyrus S. Eaton Sr., long an advocate of closer ties between the United States and the Soviet Union, has cultivated some support behind the iron curtain by his trips to Moscow. He has entertained Soviet leaders, including former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

CYRUS S. EATON
Trade planning

In today's New York Times, a two-page Soviet advertisement stresses that ideological differences are no barrier to trade, and assures American businessmen that Soviet foreign trade organizations "are also ready to strike up relations with you."

The two-page spread, headed "Foreign Trade—Two-Way Traffic," further states that "The USSR favors mutually beneficial trade relations with the countries and this is not a mere political assertion." The advertisement was placed by Amtorg Trading Corp., which handles most trade between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The IBEC, organized in 1947 by Nelson A. Rockefeller, now New York's governor, specializes in investments in underdeveloped nations. It has interests in 29 nations, but none in the Communist bloc.

Tower International has specialized in promoting and arranging the financing of projects in Eastern Europe.

Youth Attack Firefighter

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Four Oakland youths attacked a fireman late Saturday night at the scene of a two-alarm fire in a Mission District Hotel.

The firemen, Robert G. Cotton, 47, was hospitalized with facial injuries.

Police said Cotton was helping battle the blaze when the four youths walked out of a crowd of spectators and assaulted him. Cotton was struck several ties in the face with a sap made of a steel bar wrapped in electrical tape.

Not a word was exchanged between the fireman and his assailants, officers said.

Golden Gate Bridge Victim Was San Anselmo Resident

Edward Walsh of 15 Ramona Way, San Anselmo, has been identified as the man who leaped to his death from the Golden Gate Bridge Friday afternoon.

Walsh, 38 years old and out of a job, was identified Saturday by his brother-in-law, Frank Milani of 15 Taylor Drive, Fairfax. Milani reportedly told the San Francisco coroner's office that Walsh was despondent over family problems.

A native of Portland, Ore., Walsh lived six and one-half years in Marin County. He had worked as a piano player, gardener, and library clerk.

He is survived by his wife, Adele; his daughter, Patricia; his mother, Mary Walsh of Richmond, and his sister, Betty Ann O'Rourke of El Cerrito.

Two workmen looked over the bridge railing Friday and saw Walsh's body floating in the water below. The California Highway Patrol said no one saw him jump. There was no identification in his pockets, only a cancelled bus ticket from Martinez to Sausalito.

Walsh was the first known suicide off the bridge this year, according to the highway patrol.

Smith's appointment is subject to Senate confirmation.

Smith owns a real estate firm in Bellflower near Los Angeles. His state salary will be $22,500 a year.

Severe Storm Sweeps Into The Midwest

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A "severe storm" that had the makings of a blizzard swept into the Midwest today—loaded with heavy snow, Arctic cold and winds above 50 miles an hour.

The U.S. Weather Bureau posted blizzard warnings for North Dakota and Minnesota and heavy snow or hazardous driving warnings from a seven state area from Nebraska and the Dakotas across Minnesota and Iowa to Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

Up to four inches of snow was expected in central and southeast Minnesota across northern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan.

Winds roared at 50 miles per hour with gusts above 100 miles an hour across the northern Rockies late Sunday night and early today.

The storm system's winds promised to close roads with drifts.

Winds of up to 115 miles per hour smashed Boulder, Colo., late Sunday night and early today, tossing light planes like twigs and tumbling heavy trailer homes on their tops.

"It's the worst wind I have ever seen," said Boulder Deputy Sheriff Paul Hooven. "It's really quite a mess out here."

Officials at the Atmospheric Research Center southwest of Boulder said they clocked the winds at 115 MPH, the highest velocity their instruments could measure.

Winds with gusts up to 60 and 70 MPH hit west of Denver. The Jefferson County Airport, northwest of Denver, reported winds at 90 MPH.

Two inches of new snow fell after 1 a.m. today at Great Falls, Mont., and Fargo, N.D. One inch snowfalls were common from Wyoming and Montana across to western Wisconsin.

Some freezing rain and sleet mixed with the snow in South Dakota. The hazardous mixture was expected to spread eastward to the southern Great Lakes region by tonight.

The storm system brought frigid temperatures to the beleaguered areas. Cold wave warnings boding of 20-25 degree below zero marks were hoisted for Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Nebraska and Iowa.

Intercom Theft Is Reported

Theft of intercom speakers and a door bell worth $30 from a vacant house at 5 Upperhill Road, Mill Valley, was reported to police Saturday by Gerald J. Origlia of 37 Reed Ranch Road, Tiburon, the owner. A speaker system was taken from the house last week end.

Mrs. Rodney B. Hartman of 38 Bigelow Avenue, reported that a radio antenna and battery were stolen from her car Friday night while it was parked in front of her home.

Joe Eastburn of 299 Throckmorton Avenue reported a beer bottle was thrown through the rear window of his car while parked at home last night.

Safety Standard Decisions Due

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Johnson administration, already worried about a possible business slowdown, soon must decide whether its battle for safety standards will hurt the nation's vital auto industry.

The pressure is on Dr. William Haddon Jr., the young physician who heads the National Traffic Safety Agency. He is to meet soon with U.S. and foreign auto industry officials who insist that proposed federal safety standards be changed.

The outcome of these discussions will be the final standards, to be made public by Jan. 31. Their aim is to effect changes in production of new cars, starting this fall.

Henry Ford II set the pace for the "big four" of American automakers when he said that industry shutdowns could result unless the standards were modified in keeping with Detroit's wishes.

But a little noticed comment by the auto industry's most respected safety expert has taken some of the edge off Ford's position. And it indicated that Haddon could come up with a liveable set of standards for both Washington and Detroit.

Roy Hauesler of Chrysler Corp., considered by his colleagues as the most knowledgeable in the safety field, said last week there was little chance of industry shutdowns. He said Haddon was interested in cooperating with the industry.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., the lawmaker most responsible for pushing through traffic safety legislation, today urged the auto industry to "stop arguing" about why they cannot comply with the proposed standards and "start competing" to deliver a safe car to the public.

In a speech to a traffic safety conference at Hartford, Conn., Ribicoff conceded "there is a vast shortage in our knowledge about traffic safety. But to hold up the construction of safer cars until we have absolute proof is a reckless argument."

Thant Asks Israel, Syria To Calm Down

JERUSALEM (AP) — Foreign Minister Abba Eban warned today that Israel cannot tolerate any more "aggressive acts" by Syria and that it has "both the will and the strength to halt the activities."

Speaking o foreign newsnen, Eban repeated an Israeli offer for an informal emergency meeting of the Syrian-Israel Mixed Armistice Commission to discuss outstanding issues, but said "shooting and bombing has first to stop to make such a meeting possible."

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant appealed yesterday to both Syria and Israel to restrain their military forces, warning that a large-scale clash could result from continuing tension along their border.

Thant's appeal, sent to the two governments Sunday, said he had received word of a big military buildup along the border from Lt. Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, chief of staff of the U.N. truce supervision organization in Palestine.

Eban said the buildup "was originally caused by Syrians establishing tanks and heavy armor in defensive areas on the Syrian side of the border and by activation of their arms against Israel. We were compelled also to bring tanks into our defensive area—reluctantly, but inevitably."

Deployment of troops, heavy arms and armored vehicles along the 50-mile-long border area was reported as daily violence continued along the frontier.

An Israeli spokesman said three antivehicle mines were found and disarmed in the Tel Kazir area less than a mile from the Syrian border this morning. He said they had been planted by infiltrators who crossed the border Sunday night.

San Franciscan Remains Fair From Attack

A 23-year-old San Francisco man, attacked by a group of thrill-seeking teen-agers Friday night, remained in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Roger T. Jensen suffered back injuries, a concussion and multiple bruises when he was assaulted by one of four 17-year-old boys who terrorized the car carrying Jensen and his wife, Uatricia, on Highway 101 in Patricia, on Highway 101 in Valley police.

The youths, who were taken in custody later, threw stones and bottles at the couple. Jensen was punched as he alighted from his car at a service station, where they had gone to seek help.

Reno Busboy Shot To Death

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gerald W. Eddy, 25, a Reno busboy, was shot and killed today by a man he apparently intended to hold up.

Police said the man who did the shooting fled the scene, as did a companion of Eddy's. Officers said a witness told them that he saw Eddy and another man frisking a third man. Suddenly the intended robbery victim stepped back, pulled a gun from his coat and shot Eddy, according to the witness.

Both the killer and Eddy's companion then fled south on Leavenworth, the witness said.

Eddy, shot in the left temple, was dead when officers arrived.

Dallas Paper Calls City One Of Decency

NEW YORK (AP) — The Dallas Times Herald purchased a full-page advertisement in the New York Times today to reprint an editorial entitled "Dallas: City of Patience, Decency" that appeared in the Texas newspaper on Jan. 8.

The editorial was written by Felix McKnight, executive vice president and editor. It quotes from another editorial that appeared in the paper at the time President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas: "What happened there could have happened in any city. But first there had to be the seeds of hate —and we must pray that Dallas can never supply the atmosphere for tragedy to grow again."

The new editorial says the death of Jack Ruby "has brought new arrows from the shoulder slings of our critics."

It concludes: "In this city there is a high degree of decency, respect, admiration and continuing grief. Very patiently we have labored to close a wound.

"We wince only when the misinformed outsider rips the sutures."

James F. Chambers Jr., president of the Times Herald Printing Co., said the Jan. 8 editorial had elicited a favorable response and the company decided to run it in the New York Times as an advertisement to gain wider readership.

A new study of health manpower supply and needs in the nation's hospitals indicates that the United States is facing significant shortages in all categories of professional and technical personnel.

Mayor Of Dallas Rips Manchester's Book

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Earle Cabell, who was mayor of Dallas at the time of the Kennedy assassination, has accused author William Manchester of a "deliberate attempt to distort history."

Cabell called a news conference during the weekend to "set the record straight as an eyewitness" to events surrounding the death of President Kennedy.

The Texas Democrat said repeated references to the "scurrilous charges" in Manchester's controversial book, "The Death of a President," compelled him to "set the record straight and to clear those public officials involved who were only carrying out their sworn duties."

Cabell, who was riding in the second car in the Kennedy motorcade, said he arrived at the hospital immediately behind the President's car and remained there until Kennedy's body was removed.

The Congressman said:

The allegation that a Dallas City ordinance prohibited transportation of the casket in an ambulance is "completely false." He said no such ordinance existed.

The "implications of a wrestling match" between Kennedy aides and Texas officials over removal of the President's body from Parkland Hospital are untrue. "I was there," Cabell said. "There was no incident of any physical violence in attempts to force the removal of the casket."

There was no delay in arranging to transport the President's body from the hospital to the airport. Cabell said that when funeral director Vernon O'Neal "was requested to bring his finest casket to the hospital, he did so in an immaculate new funeral coach. Not one minute of delay was encountered in this transaction."

The Congressman said he would hold further news conferences to comment on other portions of the book as they are released.

Marin City Study Center On Tamalpais Agenda

The Tamalpais High School District board will decide whether to continue the Marin City study center at its 8 p.m. meeting today in the superintendent's office.

The tutoring center, which started five years ago as a volunteer program, was financed this year with $6,000 in federal and district funds, but the money will be gone Jan. 31. The board will decide whether to continue financing the center.

Architect Ralph Priestley will present preliminary plans for the San Geronimo Valley high school, and the board may authorize working drawings.

The board will consider the final purchase of 47.75 acres for a school site in Tiburon for $350,000.

An application for $54,000 in federal funds for a one-year, experimental English composition program will be considered, as well as an application for $500 in federal funds for equipment for visually handicapped programs.

The board will hear a report on physical fitness tests given all district students during the fall semester.

Contracts may be awarded for a simulated driving unit and language laboratory equipment. Two bids were received on the driver training unit, $4,160 by Triple E, Inc., of Riverside and $4,400 by Educational Training Systems of San Rafael. Roger Wurtz Co. of San Rafael was the only bidder on the language laboratory equipment, at $10,800.

Dr. Karl H. Koenig is president of the Ross Valley Camera Club.

Permit For TV Antenna To Be Heard Tonight

A use permit for a community antenna television site on Sugarloaf Drive near the water tank will be discussed at the Tiburon Board of Adjustments today at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

George Born of the Belvedere-Tiburon CATV Co. has applied to the City of Belvedere for a franchise for the television service. The Tiburon site is the property of Philip Ehrlich Jr., 333 Belvedere Avenue, Belvedere.

The board will also consider a request for a permit for professional offices on property owned by Frederick G. Zelinsky of Belvedere on the east side of Tiburon Boulevard between Safeway Store and Mar West Street.

"If approved, this could have quite an impact on Tiburon's downtown plan," according to development administrator Phil V. Scott. "It will be the entrance to Tiburon."

High-Speed Link Studied For Airport

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—The West Bay Transit Authority is considering a link by which San Francisco Airport passengers might use the high-speed trains of the Bay Area Rapid Transit System.

The plan is one of four alternatives listed in a year-end report issued yesterday by the San Mateo County district's director, John C. Lilly.

The alternatives:

Extending the present San Francisco BART lines on to a San Mateo County transfer hub "in the vicinity of San Francisco Airport."

Extending BART all the way down the Peninsula. This was originally rejected by San Mateo County when BART proposed it.

Modernizing and extending Southern Pacific Railroad Facilities to connect with BART and the Municipal Railway system at Market Street in San Francisco.

Use of buses on exclusive freeway lanes.

San Mateo County, along with Santa Clara County, withdrew from BART when it was in its formative stages.

Addition On Agenda

The Corte Madera Board of Adjustments will consider the application of Mr. and Mrs. Warren R. Cushman to build an addition to their home at 45 Ash Avenue, Corte Madera, at 7:30 p.m. Mednesday at Town Hall.

Expert Says Reward Plays Big Role In Teaching Handicapped

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

A piece of candy took on unusual significance to 650 psychologists, parents, social workers, school principals and teachers meeting in Strawberry Saturday.

It was stressed time and time again as a key in encouraging responses during the teaching of educationally handicapped children.

Whether candy was given to a child as an award for achievement, or whether the offering was a hug, a kind word or merit marks, was not important.

What was important was that a handicapped child should realize that effort will always be followed by a reward, Dr. Frank M. Hewett, assistant professor of medical psychology at University of California School of Medicine, told his large audience at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary.

"This is not a fadist theory," he said. "The one big idea is in finding how to use some sort of reward within the conventional teaching structure. It so happens that candy seems to be of some use."

He was one of the speakers at a one-day institute on "Behavior Modification and the Educationally Handicapped Child" sponsored by the Marin County Superintendent of Schools and six Marin school districts.

Others were Dr. Arnold Lazarus, director of the Behavioral Therapy Institute in Sausalito; and Dr. Ivar Lovaas, associate professor of psychology and Dr. Robert Schwitzgebel, both of University of California at Los Angeles.

Explaining his own method of making rewards, Dr. Hewett pointed out it is done under medical supervision.

"I don't want you to get the impression we are a bunch of irresponsible nuts working behind locked doors in a hush-hush atmosphere on theories only we believe in," he said.

He maintained there were patients in mental hospitals who were, for the most part, left alone and merely sustained. This, he believed, was cruel in the long run.

The handicapped—particularly children—needed stimulation. "They must be rewarded, or they will not learn," Dr. Hewett said.

Teachers should not preoccupy themselves with trying to solve the reason why a child behaves in a certain way. Rather, they should analyze what the child does and set about soliciting the right response.

He said that among programs, systems and routines of teaching handicapped children, he was often asked, "Where is the love?"

He replied: "There is no greater manisfestation of true teacher love than to give a sense of dignity to someone who can learn. And providing a child with predictable consequences may be the most loving thing that can be done under the circumstances."

He pressed teachers to make school a welcoming place to handicapped children. If normal adults found themselves in an non-productive, unsatisfying environment, they could change jobs.

Handicapped children were not in that position and invarably found means of expressing their resentment.

Common Bible Agreement Near By Churches

ROME (AP) — Roman Catholics and Protestants are near agreement on the text of a common Bible despite opposition to the book remaining in both churches, the Vatican's chief negotiator on common Bible problems said last night.

The Rev. Walter M. Abbott of New York told a group of priests at the Pontifical Bible Institute that the churches were working toward compromise on two crucial points and "we practically have in our hands the common Bible text."

Biblical scholars of both churches met in Rome this month to begin studying translation needs for a common Bible. Pope Paul VI recently authorized Catholic participation on the basis of a suggestion by the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Territories To Satehood

LONDON (AP) — Five British territories in the West Indies will become self-governing states associated with Britain in the next seven weeks and will have the right to become independent if they want to without further action by the British Parliament.

Antigua and St. Kitts-Nevis-Anguilla will have "statehood day" Feb. 27, Dominica and St. Lucia on March 1 and Grenada on March 3. The islands will be known as the West Indies Associated States.

Britain's will retain control of the islands' defense and foreign affairs.

Greek Orthodox Leader Honored

CHICAGO (AP) — Archbishop Iakovos, spiritual leader of six million Greek Orthodox faithful, was honored last night at a banquet in Chicago.

The dinner culminated celebration of "Archbishop Iakovos Day" officially proclaimed in all 50 states of the nation.

Services in his honor were held in the 400 Orthodox churches in North and South America. He has been head of the church in the Western Hemisphere for the past seven years.

Attending the dinner was Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who said of the archbishop: "America is a much better country because of the spiritual leadership of this man."

Reagan To Ask Legislature For Tougher Crime Laws

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Gov. Ronald Reagan plans to ask the legislature tomorrow for tough new laws to fight crime and crack down on smut peddlers.

Reagan's crime message is the first of a series spelling out the details of his "creative society" program.

Other parts of the governor's legislative program will be unveiled during the next six weeks, Reagan said. They include proposals on reorganization of the executive branch of government, agriculture, education, welfare and the all-important subjects of spending and taxes.

The Senate and Assembly begin the third week of the 1967 session today following a three-day weekend. Although hundreds of bills have already been introduced. The lawmakers are more-or-less marking time waiting for Reagan to spell out his proposals.

Reagan, meanwhile, distributed the first of a series of weekly "reports to the people" for showing by television stations tonight.

The three-minute program was recorded Friday before Reagan was stricken with a flu attack which kept him in bed most of the weekend.

Although the governor does not plan to submit his budget to the legislature until Jan. 31, the constitutional deadline, he has already made it clear the key word will be "economy."

Reagan said his budget proposal for the fiscal year beginning July 1 would reflect a 10 per cent cut in the "workload budget" of all state agencies, including the University of California and the state colleges.

He explained the workload budget is determined by taking the present budget and adding a factor for population growth and inflation.

The governor announced the timetable for his messages to the legislature during the weekend. He said the crime proposal tomorrow would be followed by a reorganization plan for the executive branch of state government before the end of the week.

Youth Reports He's Fired At

Thomas Russeel Gore, 18, of 49 Valencia Ave., Apt. 7, San Rafael, reported to police Friday that two bullets have been fired at him in the past two months.

Gore said he received a letter threatening his life from Flagstaff, Ariz., and on Dec. 29 at 11:25 p.m. someone fired a shot at him while he was walking along Embarcadero Way in San Rafael. The bullet kicked dust in front of his feet, he said.

Then on Jan. 9 at 7:20 p.m. someone fired at him while he was "behind a movie theater in Mill Valley," he reported. This shot narrowly missed his knees and glanced off a wall, Gore said.

Marinite Given The Air Medal

Army Warrant Officer Donald A. Davis, 24, of 733 Bamboo Terrace, San Rafael, has received the Air Medal while serving with the First Cavalry Division in Viet Nam.

Davis, a helicopter pilot, earned the award for aerial support of ground operations.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Davis of the Bamboo Terrace address.

"GOD ...not chance"

The more deeply you understand the power and love of God, the less you believe in chance. There's a law of Spirit much greater than the law of averages, and those who discover it, and live by it, will help to light the world's way out of chaos. Meet Ralph Frey, Jr., 19
He's a college junior.
He can read 3,000 words a minute.
He is not skimming.

Watching Ralph's hand fly over the pages (his hand acts as a pacer), you can't believe that he's actually reading. He must be skimming.

But he's not.

Ralph Frey can read the average novel in a little under 40 minutes. Once, while standing in a bookstore, he read three complete novels before he was asked to leave.

He studies between 1,500 to 2,000 words a minute, and rarely dips below 1,000 wpm, even on the toughest material.

Most significantly, however, is that he can comprehend and recall what he's read—right down to the details.

Ralph Frey is not a mental freak. Nor is he a naturally fast reader. He learned this revolutionary technique of rapid reading at the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute. He is one of more than 17,000 graduates in Northern California.

Ralph was one of our better students. He started the course at about 400 words a minute and increased his rate 8 times. Our average student begins at about 300 words a minute and works up to speeds over 1,500 words a minute.

You can do this, too!

"Reading dynamically," says Ralph, "means that I can cover both the required and the suggested reading for a course during the first month of the semester. That leaves time for more extracurricular activities. On the weekend before an exam, I've reread several complete texts."

You may not learn to read quite as fast as Ralph Frey (and then again you might!), but the nationally known Reading Dynamics Institute guarantees that you'll at least triple your reading efficiency—or receive a full tuition refund. Reading efficiency combines rate and comprehension, not speed alone.

Evelyn Wood

The technique of dynamic reading was discovered by a Utah schoolteacher.

Evelyn Wood first observed dynamic reading 18 years ago when a university professor read her term paper at an amazing 6,000 words a minute.

Mrs. Wood's curiosity caused her to look for other exceptional readers, and over the next few years, she found 50 people who could read faster than 1,500 words a minute, with fine comprehension, outstanding recall, and great reading satisfaction. She was now sure it was possible to read faster than anyone had thought, but the question of how was not yet answered. It took 8 years of toil and research, working with "natural" fast readers before she developed a technique whereby average students learn to read 3 to 10 times faster.

The first Reading Dynamics Institute was opened in Washington, D.C. in September, 1959. Since that time institutes have been opened in 63 cities throughout the country, and national enrollment for the course now tops 250,000.

No skimming techniques.

At a recent teacher training conference Mrs. Wood emphasized that dynamic reading is nothing like the skimming techniques commonly used in speed reading courses. "You read five times faster," she pointed out, "not by reading every fifth word, but by reading five times as many words in the same amount of time." Mrs. Wood emphasized that using her technique of rapid reading, every word on the page is read.

Money back guarantee

We guarantee to increase the reading efficiency of each student AT LEAST 3 times. We will refund the entire tuition to any student who, after completing minimum class and study requirements, does not at least triple his reading efficiency as measured by our beginning and ending tests. Reading efficiency combines rate and comprehension, not speed alone.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

What Kind Of People Govern California School Districts?

There are more school board elections than any other kind in California, and there are plenty throughout the United States.

The 1962 Census of Governments, covering 212 metropolitan areas throughout the nation, showed 18,442 local governments in these urban and suburban areas; of these, 6,605 were school districts. Virtually all the school districts had elective boards, although the governing boards of many of the other units included were appointed by city or county governors.

CALIFORNIA CONTRIBUTES an evengreater proportion of total school districts than of population. As of this year, there are approximately 1,300 school districts in operation in California, and almost every one of them will elect one or more board members in April. In addition, 57 of the 58 counties will elect members to the county board of education (the sole exception is the City and County of San Francisco, where a single school board governs and its members are appointed by the mayor).

What kind of people are found for the jobs (nearly all of which are unpaid) of running these multitudinous school districts?

H. THOMAS JAMES, professor of education at Stanford University, believes they are mostly well-intentioned, high-minded citizens but without political experience. Here are his words:

"The role of school board members is one of the last remaining opportunities in the political world for the 'gentleman in public office.' . . . 'Gentlemen in public office' have a marked distaste for controversy and public uproar, and will usually attempt to reduce conflict rather than extend it. Therefore, some of the most consequential educational issues of our time, because they have been the most violently controversial, have too often been side-stepped by boards of education, and so have had to be resolved in the less squeamish but more realistic arenas of partisan politics."

IF SCHOOL BOARD members are, as Professor James believes, often gentlemen in public office, they are also well educated gentlemen. Data compiled by the U. S. Office of Education in 1962 on the 6,605 urban and suburga school districts showed that 89 per cent of all suburban boards had one or more members who were college graduates, and 67 per cent had two or more college graduates. Since most of the boards were of five members, this shows a very high percentage with college degrees.

In California suburban districts, the education of board members may range even higher. I checked on the educational backgrounds of the boards of 14 school districts, ranging from small to medium-large, in one Bay Area county and found they included 10 lawyers, six doctors of medicine, and two doctors of Ph. D. degrees.

BESIDES THESE, seven of the trustees in these 14 districts had master's degrees, and 26 more had bachelor's degrees. One held the degree of doctor of veterinary medicine.

A growing number of school trustees are or have been teachers. In the 14 districts mentioned, I identified five trustees now teaching and six former teachers; there may have been others who had taught at some time in their careers.

It would seem, therefore, that the "gentlemen in public office" on school boards (of whom quite a few are actually gentlewomen) are not likely to be lacking in education themselves—although they are invariably referred to by the teachers and administrators as "laymen." (They were so called even in one of the 14 districts which had on its board one member with a master of education degree and another with a B. S. in education, and on another which included a university professor and two former teachers.)

THE LACK OF POLITICAL background cited by Professor James, however, may be a handicap to the best-educated and best-intentioned. It may tend—as Professor James and some others have suggested—to cause school boards to make decisions without enough thought of their implications to the other political jurisdictions which overlap the school district.

It may or may not mean anything that, among all those degree-holders in the 14 districts I catalogued, there was no trustee with a degree in political science. Nor did I identify any former holder of elective public office other than school office.

The award was presented at the Presidio, San Francisco, where Alich is staff aviation officer in the Sixth Army's operations and training division.

It was Alich's third decoration for Vietnam service.

Special Services Report On Agenda

'MORE TIME NOW'

Mother Will Open Gallery

By BETTY FROST

"Now that I only have five children at home, I have time for other things again," said Mrs. Paul Allsman of Tiburon.

The new project which Anna Allsman is beginning with the enthusiastic support of her husband, Paul and their 10 children, is the Tiburon Gallery, which will be officially opened on Jan. 29.

The gallery will feature the work of Marin professional artists. "We think the gallery will be an addition for Tiburon and will offer a greater outlet for the county's talented professional artists," she said.

The small dark-eyed woman resumed an early interest in art during a three-year stay in the Philippines. Anna Bellis Allsman is a graduate of the University of California, where she majored in Spanish and minored in art. The Allmans, who have had a home on the water at Paradise Cove for 15 years, left Tiburon for the Philippines four years ago. Paul Allsman, an importer-exporter, assisted with the family business which Anna's father started after his service in the islands during the Spanish-American War. Anna was born in the Philippines, but came to the Bay Area as a young child.

DURING HER recent residence in the Philippines, she continued studies begun in her college years in Oriental scroll work, studying brush technique with Chinese artist and philosopher I Hsiung Ju. "The exacting Chinese brush work was an excellent discipline and helped me when I returned to water color and took up oil painting," she said. However, she will not be showing her own art at the gallery, preferring to spotlight the work of others.

The Allsman children are Peter, 24, who is married; Dan, 23, student at Sonoma State College; Leonarda, 21, student at San Francisco State College; Annette, 20, student at University of California extension; Karen, 18, student at San Francisco City College; Robin, 15, student at Marin Catholic High School; Marc, 13, Del Mar School; Ancilla, 7, St. Hilary's School, and Jerome, 5, who attends kindergarten at the Bel Aire School.

"WE HAD to have a system in raising such a large family," said Mrs. Allsman. "All of the children know how to cook, and all have jobs to do. Each child is in complete charge of cleaning his own room. Chores like the house are rotated. Every three days the family assembles and the children draw lots for a particular job. If the youngster who had that chore previously had been careless, it was the other children who policed him."

The children assisted in making additions to the nine bedroom family home in Tiburon." They all know how to put in sub-flooring," their mother laughed.

"The task I like least is cooking," Anna confessed. "We had 12 at every meal for a long time. Now if the older daughters want something special, I let them 'earn' it by spending enough hours in the kitchen at a pre-agreed upon rate, to pay for the desired item—usually clothes."

THE BIG close-knit family enjoys outings together. They have done a lot of camping. "Just sleeping bags under the stars," says Anna. "No tent was big enough for us." They also enjoy skiing. At their home on the water they have a motor boat, a rowboat and a "Moro Venta" outrigger carved out of a log for some tribal chief in the Philippines. The picturesque craft has multi-colored sails of yellow, orange, red and green.

Among the Marin artists who have been invited to initiate the new Tiburon Gallery are Gwen Stone, Helen Steinau Rich, Ada Garfinkel, Eleanor Bender, Miriam Rice, Ray Rice, Frank Milner, Russ Chatham, Doris Chatham, Harry Crotty, Pat Lamerdin, William Grant Sherry, Art Grant, Luigi Ferrario and Gil Wheat.

Mrs. Gilbert Hofling of Belvedere is the interior decorator advisor, and Carolyn Lowe will assist the Allsmans at the gallery, which will be open six days a week. It will be closed Monday. Each month the art display will be changed.

DESPITE the obligations of her extraordinary family, and the demands of the new venture, Anna finds time to volunteer with SERVE, the recently formed Tiburon Peninsula ecumenical group which offers a program of assistance to patients at the Marin Rehabilitation and Convalescent Hospital. To support the activities of the five children still at home she belongs to the Parent-Teacher Groups at Marin Catholic, Del Mar, St. Hilary's and the Bel Aire Schools.

WHILE MRS. Paul Allsman admires a mosaic which will soon be on display at the Tiburon Gallery, Mr. Allsman and two of the couple's ten children, Marc, 13, and Jerry, 5, help prepare for the Jan. 29 opening of the Main Street gallery where the work of professional Marin artists will be shown. Wonacott-Ringchop Vows Are Traded

Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda was the setting for the wedding of Janita Ringchop and Peter Wonacott, both of San Rafael, which took place at 2 o'clock on Saturday. Janita is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ringchop of San Rafael.

The Rev. James C. Upshaw performed the ceremony for which the bride wore a full length Empire gown of white crepe and lace. Peggy Ruse of San Rafael wore a gown of light pink and cranberry as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids Joanne Elkin, Carla Ringchop, the bride's sister, and Victoria and Lisa Wonacott, sisters of the bridegroom, all of San Rafael, wore gowns of light pink and rose pink.

Robert Peterson of San Rafael acted as best man and ushering were Ronald Teague, David Haskell, Curtis Miller and Stephen Ringchop, brother of the bride, all of San Rafael.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the bride's family home.

The newlyweds will make their home in Denver, Colo., where Peter is stationed at nearby Lowry Air Force Base.

Janita, who was graduated from Terra Linda High School this month, will enter University of Denver. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Carl Ringchop of San Francisco.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wonacott of San Rafael. He attended Terra Linda High School and College of Marin.

Trigere Goes Sexy In Her Spring Styles

By MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP) — Pauline Trigere, known for her ladylike dress designs, has gone sexy in her spring collection. She's done it in a tantalizing but discreet way — we hasten to say — and she calls it "forbidden fruit."

In a show Thursday afternoon, Trigere's models wore tight-fitting strapless slip-dresses with built-in bras. But over these figure-revealing casements they wore overdresses to partially hide them. Made in transluscent materials, the overdresses were sleeveless, high-necked and full-skirted.

Sometimes the outer-dress was net, sometimes lace, sometimes a brightly patterned chiffon casting shadows on the heavy silk slip-dress made in the same colorful pattern.

One among the "forbidden fruit" look was a short version of the full-length gown Trigere designed and wore to opening night of the new Metropolitan Opera. It was in black wool, with black net overdress, very full and sparkling all over with jewels.

For daytime wear, Trigere's famous trademarks of genteel elegance were all in evidence.

She showed the "nothing dress" — so subtly eased that it is neither a form-fitting sheath nor a loose shift. This is a deceptively simple looking dress that doesn't call attention to itself, is comfortable to wear and goes easily under the slimmest coat.

Trigere makes up for her underplayed dresses with her coats. She showed several sleeveless coats over long-sleeved dresses, since her attitude is that the function of a spring and summer coat is less that of warmth than of "finishing" a costume.

Study Says Newborn Sees Shape, Form

WASHINGTON — The mother who insists her newborn baby can see shape and form, despite all she has been told to the contrary, now has the backing of two new studies on infant development.

From birth, babies consistently choose to look at patterns rather than at blank squares or colors, which means they can see them, reported Dr. Robert L. Fantz of the Western Reserve University in Cleveland.

His study of hundreds of infants overturns the long-held belief that infants' eyes are too immature to see anything but brightness, color and size.

In a separate study, Dr. Peter H. Wolff of Harvard University Medical School has demonstrated that infants are capable of fixing their attention, even in the first week after birth. Together the two investigations point up how infant capabilities have been underestimated in the past.

They reveal an innate human interest in the complex and the novel—an interest which is evident from birth.

To collect his data, Dr. Fantz devised an ingenious method of peering into the blacks of babies eyes and observing the reflections there. When he saw an image fixed directly on the pupil, he surmised the baby was seeing that picture.

Whether or not the picture means anything to the infant is irrelevant, said Dr. Fantz. The important point is that he has an innate, unlearned interest in patterns.

Newborns appear to be most attracted by linear arrangements — checkerboards or stripes, Dr. Fantz found.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'We Try To Enjoy Our Dessert As Catty Female Brags Of Her Figure'

DEAR HELEN:

Tell me how I can put a catty female in her place. She's always making remarks about her perfect figure, which isn't all that good, being of the shifted hourglass variety, and sneaking in little asides about how the rest of us should watch our eating.

She never misses a chance to brag that her top weight is 124, while staring us up and down as we try a bite of dessert. Well maybe, but you should see her without a girdle! How can we squelch her?—36-26-36

DEAR 36:

Why not murmur — with a pointed look: "Nice about your top weight, dear, but buttom weight is more important — that's where it shows!" —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Bully for the Spanking Mom. Why shouldn't unmannerly children be spanked in front of their friends? I give you the Bible, Deut. 21:18-21:

"If a man have a stubborn and rebellious son, which will not obey the voice of his father . . . or mother . . . then shall his father and his mother lay hold on him and bring him out unto the elders of his city and unto the gate of his place; and they shall say unto the elders . . . this our son is stubborn and rebellious, he will not obey our voices; he is a glutton and a drunkard. And all the men of the city shall stone him with stones, that he die." —GRANDMOTHER

DEAR GRANDMOTHER:

Seems like this treatment is a little severe—you'd lose a lot of kids that way. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

My daughter tells me there's a rumor around school that one of the boys takes birth control pills. I'd like to know if there's any reason a boy should take them and why. —CONCERNED

DEAR CON:

There's a very good reason a boy should take The Pill—if he has acne.

My doctor tells me the mildest (2½ mg) birth control pill is now being used to combat adolescent blemishes caused from hormone imbalance. It has done wonders in some cases; in others—nothing. But many physicians are trying this new treatment, along with the usual diet and cleanliness routine.

The Pill is also used to help regulate the menstrual cycle and correct difficulties which cause pain and discomfort in young girls just starting their periods. Mothers sometimes react to such news with extreme shock, says my doctor, who has asked me to reassure them.

So for all parents I write: The Pill is beneficial in many ways. If your doctor recommends it for your teenage daughter, take his world — it is meant as a corrective medicine and I'm sure will be regarded as such.

He may also prescribe it for women who need medical help getting through the menopause. It's truly a versatile little disc—that birth control pill! —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I wrote to you 10 months ago. You answered in the paper, very sarcastically, and made it sound like I was a hateful, jealous woman, which is not the case at all.

Must you be so mean? I realize a lot of people need and deserve to be put in their place, and I enjoy some of those answers, but what I don't understand is why you must be so sarcastic and sometimes downright cruel with people. —T.Y.

DEAR T:

What I don't understand is this: My column wasn't running in your newspaper 10 months ago. Are you sure you have the right person? Please send in your problem again, with a stamped self-addressed envelope. I'll answer personally, and, believe me, not sarcastically! —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

WHAT'S CHIC?

Skirts To Continue Rising, Say Stylists

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Skirts will continue to diminish. Pants will be acceptable to everyone, even maitre d's. Paper will revolutionize utility fashions, but not necessarily couture fashions.

Nearly every designer will have a hand in improving the chic or archaically dressed men.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy will remain on her fashion pedestal.

All this was made clear at a luncheon meeting of America's most influential apparel makers Friday. The discussion among some 200 style reporters was the closing session of a weeklong preview of spring fashions called the American Designer Series.

ALTHOUGH GASTON Berthelot, French couturier for New York's house of Christian Dior, expressed hope that the opening of European collections next week might promise some hemline surprises, Americans, and particularly Oleg Cassini, offered the consolation that the eye would eventually get used to the escalating skirt.

"As skirts get shorter we will concentrate on the leg as a whole," said Oscar De La Renta, who does so with glittering knee pants, tights and silver stockings in his current collection.

HE COMPLIMENTED Rudi Gernreich, creator of the topless bathing suit, for paving the way with bright leotards and striped stockings to complement his dresses. His latest collection concentrates the eye on the leg by means of pasties and decals from chin to thigh-high hem line.

The belted waistline will return, Donald Brooks promised. "We have had all the little shifts we can stand. I think we will all go back to what nature intended a modern woman to look like."

AS FOR PANTS—party kinds or slack suits — designers feel that they have done such a good job of retaining the femininity that all objections will be withheld, even by headwaiters at posh places.

Because workmanship is costly, paper is not practical for high fashion, insisted Gernreich. But he is convinced that it is tomorrow's answer to utilitarian and travel clothes.

Disposable paper shirts for men would be ideal, if properly packaged, decided John Weitz.

DRAMA REVIEW

BY KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO—Dylan Thomas returned to the City Theater Friday night in the person of actor-manager Jack Aranson, who last year set some records with an eight-month run of Sidney Michael's play, "Dylan."

Now Aranson, a Mill Valley resident, has come back from a successful visit to the Dublin Film Festival, where critics raved about "Dylan," and is presenting "The World of Dylan Thomas."

For buffs of the Welsh poet it is a must, for any poetry lover a should-see, and for the average theater goer, it's an above average night in the theater.

What Aranson does is simple enough—he presents Dylan Thomas on the lecture platform reading his works as he did in three American tours.

The effect the actor achieves is neither simple nor easy to define. Aranson comes as close as any actor can to being the real character he is playing, and he does it tthrough artistry, not similarity. Aranson is slender, smaller than Dylan, and has a pointed-chin pixie face rather than the moon face of the poet.

STRANGE THINGS

But after Aranson makes his entrance and the resonant voice booms a few choice Thomasian phrases, the eyes do strange things and Aranson looks more and more like Dylan. That is, when he is not looking like one of the characters in Dylan's poetry. This I am sure Aranson does with even greater savoir faire than Thomas, for he is a seasoned, virtuoso actor, and as he slides into the lines of Mrs. Ogmore-Pritchard or Captain Cat, his features also blend into theirs.

Aranson has assembled the material for the two-hour entertainment himself, and has done a masterful job of selection. Stories, poems, sketches and talks are interwoven with a continuity that leaves us with the impression that we have heard the major portion of Dylan's life unveiled by the time the evening is over.

Beginning with "Reminiscences of Childhood," concluding with "Return Journey," and including such great favorites as "A Child's Christmas In Wales" and "Do Not Go Gentle into That Good Night," Jack Aranson brings us in this one-man recital a completely literate evening.

A LECTURE

The one thing that could be held against Aranson is that technically this is not "theater" as such. It is a lecture, and coming from an actor who has run the gamut from Hamlet to Strindberg, audiences may find a certain disappointment in the lack of bombast which characterizes a show devoted to —in his personal and public life—a most bombastic person.

But Aranson is too good a showman not to take advantage of his opportunities, and so, just as one is lulled into full belief that here is Dylan Thomas reading his "Lament," the light begins to fade; the face of the man on stage greys into a death mask and disappears into darkness. Many touches such as this lift "The World of Dylan Thomas" from the lecture platform and place it in the realm of theater.

NO BUILDUP

Cleverly, the actor uses no introduction, no buildup to the fact that this is an impersonation. The lights rise on a bare stage with a chair and two lecterns. After a moment, Dylan Thomas walks on, removes his dark coat and hat, throws them on the chair, steps to a lectern and begins his lecture. Just like that.

Those who have seen neither Aranson nor Thomas — only heard the Thomas recordings—may have to pinch themselves.

Those who miss seeing "The World of Dylan Thomas" have only themselves to blame. It should be seen, and is being presented Thursday through Sunday nights at 8:30 at the City Theater, 465 Post Street.

DRAMA CRITIC TO APPEAR IN WILDE COMEDY

Independent-Journal drama critic Karl Barron may miss a few reviews in the next two weeks, while he appears with the Oakland National Repertory Company in Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Silvia Sydney stars as Lady Bracknell in the comedy, directed by Rachmael Ben Avram. Barron will play Lane, a butler to Algernon, one of the romantic leads.

The play opens Thursday night and will continue nightly at 8:30 except Sunday, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees at 2:30 through Feb. 1. It is being presented at the Oakland Auditorium Theater, 10th and Fallon streets.

Youngster's Custody Fight Finally Ends

KINGSTON, N.Y. (AP) — A four-and-one-half-year-old blonde girl named Beth formally and officially became Beth Liuni today as a judge signed her adoption papers climaxing a long and sometimes bitter custody fight.

Judge R. Waldron Herzberg signed the adoption papers at the Ulster County courthouse during a 45-minute conference in his chambers.

For the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Liuni, of nearby Tillson, it was a nightmare turned into a dream come true.

Judge Hersberg, sitting in Family Court, permitted a habeas corpus suit to be withdrawn by the county welfare commissioner. The petition, if granted, could have given the child's legal and physical custody to the commissioner.

Joseph Fitzsimmons, the welfare commissioner, had opposed the adoption for "medical reasons" and because he said the Liunis, who are both 48, were too old to have a child Beth's age.

The Liunis have contended that the opposition to the adoption stemmed from their Italian-American descent. Beth is of English-Irish-German decent. She is blonde and blue eyed. The Liunis are olive skinned. The child has been in the Luinis' care since she was five days old.

$3 Million In Insurance Refunds Due

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Wage earners who overpaid their disability insurance premiums last year will receive about $3 million in refunds in 1967, the Department of Employment said today.

Albert B. Tieburg, Department director, said about seven million California wage earners had payroll deductions for nonoccupational disability insurance in 1966. He said persons who worked for two or more employers during the year may have had too much deducted.

Last year more than 102,000 California residents applied for the refunds and received checks averaging $28.46 for $2,719,398.

Sausalito Soprano Wins Bay Area Met Opera Auditions

Dramatic soprano Lorie Kutsko, 26, of Sausalito was named winner for the Bay Area in the district Metropolitan Opera auditions held Saturday afternoon at San Francisco State College.

In four weeks she will go to Los Angeles to compete against 10 other singers from the western states for the regional title. The winner of those auditions then will go to New York for the national competition.

The young singer, in private life Mrs. Michael Kutsko and mother of a four-year-old daughter, Kimberly, was a member of the College of Marin Opera Workshop and performed last spring in its production of the one-act comic opera, "A Dinner Engagement" by Lennox Berkeley, under direction of Peggy Donovan.

A daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh of Boston, Mass., Larie was graduated from the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston and traveled with the Ruby Newman Musical Comedy Review in the East.

After she and her husband came to the Bay Area four years ago, she sang with the San Francisco State College Opera Workshop and with the San Francisco Opera chorus in 1963 and 1964. She is now studying with Julia Monroe in Sacramento.

Corte Madera Girl Missing

Karen Rene Peterson, foster daughter of Mrs. D. L. Hughes of 357 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera, was reported missing today by Corte Madera police.

Mrs. Hughes told police at 10 p.m. yesterday that Karen, a ward of the court, had been missing since 6:30 p.m., and she believed the girl had run away.

Karen is 15 years old, five feet, three inches tall, weighs 140 to 145 pounds, and has dark brown hair and brown eyes. She was last seen wearing an orange shirt and blue slacks.

Jail Term On Drunken Driving

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court today gave Lynden Mervin Smith, 44, a 90-day county jail term for felony drunken driving. He also placed Smith on two years probation.

Smith, of Forest Knolls, had pleaded no-contest Dec. 18. He was driving north on Shoreline Highway near Marshall on July 3 when his car struck a southbound motorcycle operated by Alan James Horn of Oakland. Horn, thrown dow a cliff, suffered a broken right leg and severe cut on his left leg.

UFO Expert Says Picture Is Authentic

DETROIT (AP) — One of the nation's leading experts on unidentified flying objects said today that photographs of a "flying saucer" taken near here last week are apparently authentic.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, chairman of the astronomy department of Northwestern University, also said the pictures were strikingly similar to other pictures of UFOs he has investigated.

Hynek, a scientific advisor to the Air Force's Project Blue Book, which coordinates all UFO reports for the military, commented in an interview with the Detroit News.

Hynek had examined negatives copied by the News from the original Polaroid prints taken last week near the Detroit suburb of Mount Clemens.

The pictures were taken around 2:30 p.m. last Monday by two Harrison Township youths, Grant Jaroslaw, 15, and his brother Dan, 17.

The youths said the object hovered over Lake St. Clair behind their home before speeding off to the southeast.

The brothers said they snapped four photos of the UFO and one of an Air Force helicopter, which reportedly was in the area at the same time, although its crew reported seeing nothing.

Petty Theft Charge

A 16-year-old San Rafael boy and a 17-year-old Mill Valley boy were cited Saturday by Mill Valley police for reportedly trying to break open vending machines at Mill Valley Coin Car Wash, Lomita Drive and Ashford Avenue. They were cited for petty theft and conspiracy to commit petty theft.

Marin College Student Group Makes Chamber Music Debut

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A new musical group of much promise made its debut Saturday night in the art building as the latest addition to the College of Marin's expanding and improving music department.

This was the chamber ensemble group of 11 young people (two were absent because of illness), students in the class instructed by Charles Meacham, one of Marin's top violinists.

Whether it was the lure of something new, many friends of performers, or the real taste for this intimate type of music, a good sized and receptive audience filled nearly every seat.

In most numbers it was evident that Meacham had instilled one of the major objectives of chamber playing — the careful balance among instruments that permits each to be heard almost as a soloist while the total sonority leaves a single, harmonious impression.

One of the most difficult problems of this kind was in Milhaud's "La Cheminee Du Roi Rene" suite for woodwind quintet, played by Raymond Pancost, oboe; Richard Caldwell, flute; Peter Hathaway, bassoon; David Lea, horn, and Alan Johnson, clarinet, substituting for Dianne Roberts.

After a somewhat hesitant beginning their rhythmic and harmonic concord was impressive.

Another outstanding number was Beethoven's Sonata in F Major, Op. 24 (spring) performed by violinist Deborah Donaldson with Robaline Meacham substituting for Barbara Armington at the piano. Deborah has a real talent, but she had an unusual problem. While playing with a professional of the caliber of Mrs. Meacham can be an inspiration and support, it can also be intimidating. The result was that the violin volume was no match for the piano.

Some very fine teamwork was shown in Haydn's Trio in G Major with Kathleen Baird playing the violin, Sylvia Ruby the flute, and Chris Jennings the cello. As well as in Mozart's Divertimento in G Major performed by the same players with the addition of Susan McClees on the second violin. It was a pleasure to note how Kathleen—whom we remember as concertmistress of the Marin Youth Orchestra—has matured in her style of playing so that it is far more controlled and consistent.

The same was true of this group, except for Sylvia Ruby playing the flute in place of a second violin in Hindemith's "Abendkonzert."

While some of the movements went well in Telemann's Sonata in F Major, played by violinist Frances Alvord and pianist Shirley Starr, some suffered from imperfectly synchronized time and rhythm in the two instruments.

Joint Opera Venture Is Of High Quality

Another new venture of the College of Marin music department, which is proving of great interest and evidently worth while, is the collaboration of its opera workshop with the Festival Theater in two operas and four recitals of operatic scenes.

The theater on the grounds of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo proves far more satisfying as a setting than the college's Onley Hall.

The workshop under the direction this year of Larry Snyder, with Phillis Murphy as assistant, is carrying on the high level tradition established by Dr. Peggy Donovan. The main difference seems to be the use of a minimum of staging, allowing for full concentration on the production of the operas.

Vocally pleasing yesterday in the complex musical texture of "Der Rosenkavalier" by Richard Strauss were the three soprano voices of Joan Smith, a lovely Marschallin; Kay Collete, an attractive Sophie, and Darlene Brock, believable as Octavian.

Soprano Shirley Bodo was a delightful Cio Cio San in both singing and acting in the scenes from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," and the mezzo soprano voice of Patricia Brake as Suzuki was good. The tenor voice of Thomas Brennan as Pinkerton suffered in quality from too intense efforts when singing at full volume.

Tenor Kenneth Rowland had the same problem as Cavaradossi in the scene from Puccini's "Tosca," but his handsome appearance and enthusiastic acting made him otherwise excellent. Soprano Martha Ward as Tosca sang better than the last time we heard her in January as Mimi.

Acting honors unquestionably went to the comic antics of tenor Louis Santini as the simpleton suitor of Marie, well acted and sung by Jackie Hall.

Santini as Don Curzio and Baritone John Graulich as Bartolo were the only ones showing much life and naturalness in the scene from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro." Baritone Hargan Nelson as Figaro had a potentially good Baritone voice. Sopranos Sylvia Hyde as Susanna and Diane Roberts, Marcellina, need more experience. Baritone Joe Reade was the Count.

Owen Orser of the Festival Theater handled the helpful verbal setting of scenes very smoothly. It is surprising how effective the double piano arrangements are as accompaniment. Larry Snyder and Phyllis Murphy were ably assisted in this by Margaret MacLaury, Andrew Coburn and Thomas Tidy.

The remaining recitals will be on Wednesday at 8 p. m. and Sunday at 2 p. m.—M. S.

Code Of Ethics To Be Discussed

The Marin County Personnel Commission Wednesday will again discuss establishment of a code of ethics for county employees. The meeting will begin at 3 p.m. at the Civic Center.

The commission is also to consider the board of supervisor's request for establishment of policy and guidelines in recognizing employee organization and handling of disputes.

Injured In Wreck

Myra Alice Bartlett, 30 of 875 Tamalpais Avenue, Novato, was treated at Novato General Hospital for a face cuts yesterday after her car swerved off Highway 101 near Lucas Valley Road, flipped over and hit a board fence at 5:15 p.m., the California Highway Patrol reported.

Court Rules In Favor Of Attorney

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled 5 to 4 today that lawyers may not be disbarred for refusing on self-incrimination grounds to testify concerning their dealings with clients.

The Fifth Amendment protection "should not be watered down by imposing the dishonor of disbarment and the deprivation of a livelihood as a price for asserting it," Justice William O. Douglas said for the majority.

With its ruling in the case of a Brooklyn lawyer, the court overruled its own 1961 decision that the self-incrimination clause of the Fifth Amendment was not applicable to the states through the 14th Amendment in such instances. Douglas said the clause "extends its protection to lawyers as well as to other individuals."

The ruling reverses an order by the Appellate Division of the New York Supreme Court. That court had ordered lawyer Samuel Spevack disbarred, holding that the constitutional privilege against self-incrimination was not available to him in light of the Supreme Court's 1961 decision.

Rowboat Theft

Martin Prescott, 29, of 10 Doris Avenue, Novato, reported to police yesterday the theft of a 14 foot rowboat, valued at $175, from its mooring on the Petaluma River at the Boathai subdivision. The boat was taken sometime betweeen Dec. 18 and yesterday, he said.

Empty Money Bags Found

Empty money bags imprinted Wells Fargo Bank and Bank of America were found by two teen-age boys in a field close by Sequoia Valley Drive, Lucas Valley, Saturday.

Sheriff's duputies counted 27 bags together with torn coin wrappers and an uncashed check dated April 9, 1966.

The bags, which deputies believe may be the remains of one or more bank raids, were being checked out today.

GOP Assembly Unit Selects New Officers

Col. Avery M. Cochran (Army, retired) of San Rafael will head the San Rafael unit of the California Republican Assembly as president for 1967.

He was elected at. the group's annual meeting last week in the San Rafael courthouse.

Other officers elected were:

Michael K. Jones, first vice president; Anita Smith, second vice president; Col. W. S. Richards, third vice president; Helene Browne, secretary; Robert Guthrie, treasurer; Dr. Robert H. Conner, Dr. Stephen Duff, Mrs. Charles Martel, William O. Weissich, and Robert Weinmann, members of the board of governors.

President Cochran announced that the unit studied the controversial new eighth grade history text, "Land of the Free," and expressed "great concern" over the facts presented. "The unit will continue to study the problem with a view toward removal of objectionable texts from approved lists," he said.

The San Rafael unit of CRA claims a membership of 250.

Condition Of Eye Shooting Victim Better

Matt Cernac Jr., 43, of San Rafael, shot through the eye with a .22 caliber pistol at his 1825 Lincoln Avenue apartment Friday morning, remained in fair condition at Marin General Hospital today.

His alleged assailant, John W. Frederick, 36, of 50 Sullivan Lane, Novato, was scheduled to enter plea in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Frederick, who has followed the advice of his attorney, Joseph A. Dahlman, and remained silent about the incident, was arraigned Friday.

Police Inspector Gerald R. Souza said today that police have established that the two men were together earlier in the evening, at San Rafael Joe's.

Frederick called police to the shooting scene. Cernac was found lying in a hallway in his apartment with a bullet in the head.

TV Set Stolen

Guy T. Korpi of 400 Canal Street, Apt. 209, San Rafael, complained to police Friday that someone with a key to his apartment stole his $200 television set and a chair from his living room.

Patrick Loses Bid At GOP Conclave

An attempt by William Penn Patrick of Marin to gain a foothold in the state Republican Central Committee failed yesterday, as more than a thousand Republicans convened in Sacramento to elect a slate headed by James W. Halley, San Francisco attorney.

Patrick was pushing Dr. Bernard Tully, a West Covina surgeon, for the post of vice chairman, but Tully pulled out of the race when it became evident that he would be heavily outvoted by Dennis E. Carpenter, Newport Beach attorney.

Both Chairman Halley and Vice Chairman Carpenter were backed by outgoing Chairman Gaylord Parkinson and by Gov. Ronald Reagan, who was represented by Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch at the convention.

The only Marin resident to win a statewide post was Thomas C. Reed, 32, who was elected assistant secretary. Reed, who was northern California chairman for Reagan, is appointments secretary in the new Administration.

Other party leaders elected yesterday were:

Mrs Jackie Keas of Sacramento, northern women's vice chairman; Mrs. Jane Wood of Merced, central women's vice chairman; Mrs. Eleanor Ring of Coronado, southern women's vice chairman; Karl Von Christierson of Salinas, secretary; Louise Hutton of Huntington Harbor, assistant secretary; Edward Mills of Laguna Beach, treasurer; Arch Monson Jr. of San Francisco, assistant treasurer; and Sen. George Deukmejian of Long Beach, assistant treasurer.

TV Viewer Will Aid Sea Mineral Hunt

When the Virginia City leaves the Marine Mineral Technology Center in Tiburon for Alaska in May to collect mineral samples from the ocean floor, her crew will be able to observe underwater operations by a television viewer on deck and her operation will be stabilized by a tank-storage system.

Capt. Kenneth E. Taylor, project coordinator at the Marine Mineral Center at the old Navy net depot thinks the Virginia City is the only vessel in the Bay Area to have this system for underwater work.

Award of contracts for the equipment by the U.S. Bureau of Mines was announced today by Rep. Donald H. Clausen, R-First District.

Smith - Meeker Engineering Co. of New York will supply the tank-storage system for $46,275. Taylor said it will stabilize the 205 foot ex-Navy tug, reduce its "roll," and give a more stable platform for bottom-core drilling for the ocean mining program.

Hydro-Products Division of Oceanographic Engineering Corp., San Diego, was awarded a $13,225 contract for the underwater television system. According to Taylor, the camera will be lowered under water where men are working to gather minerals from the ocean floor and the television viewer will be on deck where operations can be observed and directed.

Two hydraulic cranes have recently been delivered by Grove Mfg. Co. in Pennsylvania which cost approximately $35,000, Taylor said. Foundations are being built to install the self-contained cranes on the fore and aft decks of the Virginia City.

Demonstration Given Firemen

San Rafael Fire Department yesterday put on a demonstration for visiting delegates to a conference of the Northern California Firemen's Assn.

The demonstration, at the department's Canal Street depot, wound up the two-day event held at the Bermuda Palms Motel, San Rafael.

Saturday's program included talks on fire fighting techniques and a luncheon address by San Rafael Fire Chief Vance Trivett. Chief speaker at a banquet at San Quentin Prison Saturday night was Fire Chief Robert Madden of El Monte.

Among new officers of the association is San Rafael fire engineer James Kennon, who was elected to the board.

Ex-Anchorage Planner Urges Survey

The former planning director of Anchorage, Alaska, now a resident of Lucas Valley, has urged Marin County supervisors to reconsider their vote against an earthquake survey in Marin.

E. Jack Schoop of 216 Mount Shasta Drive, wrote supervisors saying that he was planning director in Anchorage at the time of the devastatiing March, 1964, earthquake there.

He said in the letter that California is earthquake country. "It is something to live with, not get afraid of. But it certainly is not something to ignore."

He said application of what is is known about slopes, soils and building requirements will save many lives and much property.

"If a survey of earthquake risks were made and the results carried out, the cost would suddenly appear small and very justified if a major earthquake occurred and considerable unnecessary loss was avoided thereby," he wrote.

Supervisors, who voted down a pilot earthquake study last Tuesday by 3-2, with Supervisors Peter H. Behr and Thomas T. Story dissenting, are going to consider the matter tomorrow and decide whether County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker can order the study on his own initiative.

STATE HOLDS THE SCHOOL STRINGS

Novato's San Marin High May Wind Up Different Due To Fund Argument

Novato's San Marin High School may be delayed in opening and may wind up a rather different school from that which was planned.

The reason is a difference in approach between the Novato Unified School District and the bureau of school planning in the State Department of Education. Since the Novato district is dependant on state loan funds to build the school, the state calls the tune.

The Novato district planned a school of 1,775 capacity, to be built in three stages. Some buildings were to be deferred to the final stage. Among these were the shops, the idea being that San Marin students could travel to Novato High School to use the shops there during the first few years.

Included in the first phase for a school of 800 enrollment, were administration offices and a gymnasium designed for the full capacity school — 1,775 enrollment.

These drew fire of the state planners, according to Novato Supt. James G. Bunker.

Charles D. Gibson, chief of the bureau of school planning, held that each phase of the construction program should be a complete school — with gymnasium, shops, etc., for the number of students to be initially enrolled.

He refused to approve the Novato plans until they are changed to conform to that concept. He particularly objected to the big gymnasium and the administration offices, according to Bunker.

The result, the Novato superintendent said, is that plans must be revised within two weeks sufficiently to get state approval, or the whole project will be set back. This would mean that Novato High School, already bursting at the seams with 2,229 students in a plant with capacity of 1,800, would be even more crowded before a second high school can be opened.

Novato's timetable calls for opening the San Marin school in September, 1968. But no state money will be authorized until the plans receive state approval.

Gibson held out that the gymnasium should be constructed in stages and shops added, Bunker said.

"That is what we may wind up doing — leaving 5,000 square feet off the practice rooms end of the gymnasium and adding it later, then taking that allotted square footage and adding it for 11,700-square-foot shops," Bunker said.

Gibson wants complete schools built, not just units of schools, Bunker said. His argument is that if there is a loss of population, the schools will be complete units.

"I suppose somewhere districts are losing population, but I told Gibson that it hardly seemed possible in Marin County," Bunker said.

This concept of complete schools might make it so that the library and administration buildings also would be constructed in parts. Bunker hopes not.

The first stage of the proposed San Marin high school would include science wing, library wing, physical education building, administration building, English and social science wing and business education building. These were planned to be innermost in a cluster of buildings around a court.

The other buildings, to be constructed later, would be farther away from the court and their construction would not interfere with operation of the school, Bunker pointed out.

If the district followed this plan, it would build the gymnasium and install adjacent playing field and parking area at the front of the complex, with connecting corridors to the first group of buildings, Bunker said.

If it has to construct the shops at first, it will mean developing part of the back portion of the lot at the same time, and letting some of the work in the front go, he said.

He said that he believes Gibson will probably approve such things as constructing the entire science wing at one time because the rooms could be used for other classes before they are equipped as laboratories.

Novato High School was constructed in the manner the state wants, and wound up with two gymnasiums, Bunker commented.

Four Power Failures Within Three Hours

A total of 1,700 businesses and homes were affected last night as power failed four times within three hours in parts of San Rafael.

The blackouts began at 7:17 p.m., according to Z. P. Melcon, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. spokesman, when a high voltage cable failed in Peacock Gap. An area from Peacock Gap west to downtown was out for periods up to a half-hour.

That failure triggered three others in the downtown section, and a second blackout in Peacock Gap.

Downtown was dark for periods of about five minutes at 8:29, 9, and 10:14 p.m. Peacock Gap customers lost power for about two hours as a result of the last failure.

The spokesman said the first failure caused a switch to malfunction in the downtown area.

Guilty Pleas In Marijuana, Check Cases

Pleas of guilty to misdemeanor offenses of passing a worthless check and to being present in a room where marijuana was being used were entered for Fern Christine Liggatt, 18, in Marin Superior Court today by her attorney, Carl B. Shapiro.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson placed her on two years probation. Miss Liggatt, now residing with her mother in Kansas City, Mo., originally was charged with felony forgery and with marijuana possession.

The please to lesser and included offenses were not opposed by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales. Miss Liggatt had been accused of marijuana possession Feb. 19 while living at 1533A Fourth Street, San Rafael and with forging a $14.44 check with intent to defraud Mac Disco Department Store, 555 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, last Feb. 23.

Vandals Hit The Plumbing In Building

Vandals attecked the plumbing in San Rafael's Kaehler-Farrar Building yesterday afternoon, and the result was water damage to all floors, walls and ceilings beneath the fifth floor, according to police.

The damage will probably be more than $1,000, according to Jack Farrar, who built the five-story structure and now manages for Erickson Investment Co. of Sacramento.

Police said some form papers in the Social Security Office on the main floor were soaked, and records in attorney Roy P. Vallarino's store room on the third floor were damaged.

Cause of the leakage was toilets topped up with paper towels and sinks plugged, with the water left running, on the upper floors.

Jess R. Nunyon, in charge of maintenance of the building, told police the drains were plugged and the water turned on sometime about 4:30 p.m.

James Owen Rains, a janitor in the building, said he had seen several teen-agers in the building that afternoon.

Police also found vending machines which had been pried from the walls in the restrooms. The coin box was missing from one of them, police said.

Anti-Tiburon Leader Says Petition Slow

Less than half the registered voters required have so far signed the petition to dis-incorporate the City of Tiburon, according to Fred Mantegani, leader of that movement.

More than 200 persons have signed the petition, he said, while about 450 signatures are necessary before the issue can be placed on the ballot.

"There was a little letup over the holidays," Mantegani admitted, "but the committee to dis-incorporate Tiburon is back in full swing."

He said registered voters can sign the petition at the Corner Market, 1690 Tiburon Boulevard. He also reminded that a program on dis-incorporation will be shown at 10 p.m. today on KQED (Channel Nine).

Would-Be Span Leaper Saved

A possible second leap of the year from Golden Gate Bridge was prevented Saturday when a San Francisco cab driver flagged down a California Highway Patrol officer at Vista Point and warned him his fare had asked him to stop on the bridge so she could jump.

Nils Vanstrom didn't stop his cab, though, until he saw the patrol officer. Officer Richard A. Chelemedos took Helen Oas of San Francisco to the bridge office, where she told him she had committed herself to a Mendocino hospital for alcoholism but was asked to leave when she started drinking again. She said she had no money and no place to go.

She was released to a friend, Barbara Miller of San Francisco, to be taken home to her mother.

Three Persons Are Hurt In Novato Crash

Three persons were injured in a two-car accident at 2:04 p.m. Saturday at Reichert and DeLong avenues in Novato, according to Novato police.

Barbara Louise Greenwald, 17, of 1396 Donna Street, Novato, was in good condition today in Novato Hospital with a broken right arm and strained back. Her brother, Terry James Greewald, 14, same address, who was a passenger was skinned on his face and was treated at Novato hospital.

Miss Greenwald was turning from DeLong onto Reichert when her car collided with a northbound car on Reichert driven by Earl Phillip Lowe, 18, of 2219 Center Road, Novato, police said. He received a bloody nose and was to see his own doctor.

New President Of Shriners Takes Office

Austin W. Little of San Rafael was installed as Marin Shrine Club's 52nd president Saturday in ceremonies at the Marin Golf and Country Club.

Little retired three years ago as personnel manager for Pacific Gas and Electric Company's North Bay Division. He is chairman of the advisory board of Tamalpais Assembly 191 of the Rainbow Girls, a past president of the Marvelous Marin High Twelve Club, and started High Twelve activities in the county.

Frank R. Thatcher of Greenbrae was installed as first vice president and Eliot W. Seymour of Tiburon as second vice president. C. R. (Hap) Banfield of Fairfax was installed as secretary-treasurer, and Jay D. Jones of San Anselmo as executive officer.

Installation ceremonies were performed by the new potentate of Islam Temple, Theodore H. Balliet, and his divan officers.

Burglars Take Video, Clothes

Masib Al-Saud told San Rafael police Saturday that burglars pried a side door to his home at 220 Rivera Drive while he was on vacation and stole $,1986 worth of electrical equipment and clothing.

He said the theft occurred sometime between Dec. 22 and Friday, when he returned.

Included in the missing items were, five cashmere sweaters worth $250, five sports coats worth the same amount, 10 ties worth $100, $117 in change, a television set worth $549, a portable phonograph worth $220 and a taperecorder worth $400.

Sister City Exchange Promotes Brotherhood

During the seven years that Sausalito's Sister City program with Vina del Mar in Chile has been in existence, the program has proved itself to be more than just a lofty idea.

Each year, both Sausalito and Vina del Mar engage in specific people-to-people projects to exchange ideas on culture, education and technical know-how.

What Sausalito and Vina del Mar are accomplishing is a practical application of such high sounding and general themes as "The Good Neighbor Policy" and "Brotherhood of All Men."

We believe we speak for the rest of Marin when we say that we deeply admire the accomplishments of those individuals in Sausalito who are making this Sister City project function on a local level.

At the moment, Sausalito's People-to-People Committee, headed by Loren L. Jay, is engaged in a student exchange program, now in its second year.

Next month, a junior at Tamalpais High School will leave for Vina del Mar as a representative from this community, and a Chilean counterpart will be coming to Marin to attend classes at Tamalpais High School.

Transportation costs of the Marin student are financed by contributions from the Sausalito Sister City Fund. Living costs while in Chile are provided by the Chileans. Similarly, transportation costs of the Chilean student coming here are paid by the Vina del Mar community, and a host family in the Tamalpais High School attendance area will provide a home for the visiting student. The Sausalito Sister City Fund provides for health insurance and a small monthly allowance for the visiting youngster.

The Fund is now soliciting contributions from Marin residents to help finance the project. And the amount of contribution (from $1 to $10 or more) is modest enough to be well within the means of most Marin residents.

This is an opportunity for Marin admirers of Sausalitio's efforts to become participants in this experience in international understanding.

January—The Cold Time

Throughout the north temperate zone, January is the coldest month of the year. In Marin, it is also usually the wettest and the gloomiest.

There are no important holidays in January and the flood of Christmas debts make the month seem as cold as a bill-collector's heart.

But already Nature is stirring—the grass is lush and green, some acacias in sheltered places are starting to bloom, and the buds of the ornamental quince are swelling expectantly.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

DO YOU LIKE YOUNG PEOPLE?

One key to communicating with one's children is a liking for young people in general.

As Dorothy Rose put it: "Liking is a beam that helps support the whole structure of love."

The parents of teen-agers who have gotten into trouble ask the question, "Where did I fail?" Too often the answer lies in the fact that their youngsters got the impression at an early age that home was "out of bounds" for their friends.

Parents have the right to some privacy, to be sure. Still, their life is a continual service, which calls for decisions that carry them beyond merely personal enjoyment or convenience. For example:

* Take an interest in what your own children are thinking and learning.

* Make their friends welcome in your home.

* Show them by the practical expression of concern that your love of God applies to them as well.

* Reflect frequently that, with divine help, you can do far more than you might imagine.

"And above all these put on love, which binds everything together in perfect harmony." (Colossians 3:14)

Let my interest in others, Jesus, be sincere, evident and untiring.

Reagan Faces Tough, Unpopular Campaign For Financial Realism

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Something of a difficult task confronts the new administration of Gov. Ronald Reagan in convincing segments of the population that it's time to face the facts of life, rather than continuing to wander in the morass of fanciful fallacy.

The fallacy is that generally people appear to believe government can continue to spend more money than it has, or can get through taxes, for an unlimited length of time.

This fallacy has been nurtured during the past eight years of state government administration, and even since the early 1950s, when spending started on a wholesale scale, with the excuse that the "exploding population" in California made it necessary.

THERE HAVE BEEN only meager warnings concerning the final outcome of government give-away, government borrowing, and government extravagance.

Therefore, it appears to be the task of the Reagan administration, and it has been mandated by the electors to do so, to call a halt to profligacy with the taxpayers' money.

THIS TASK will not be easy, nor will it be without attacks and criticism. Almost every government agency involved—that is, asked to hold the line—will call upon its supporters, constituents and others to lodge loud and lengthy protests.

A case in point was the mere suggestion that university and state college students pay some tuition, rather than have the taxpayers foot the major part of the costs for higher education.

NO SOONER was the suggestion made by Governor Reagan and his state director of finance, Gordon Smith, than the educators almost en masse brought forth hearty denunciation of the suggestion, along with strong protests against cutting budgets which have not as yet been submitted to the State Legislature.

The facts of life to the taxpayer are different. The big question is how long can the people continue to borrow money to build bigger and better educational institutions, and support these institutions through added taxes after they are constructed, without expecting at least some help from those who benefit most?

When private business borrows money for expansion, it contemplates returns which not only will pay off the loan, but also interest and dividends for the investor.

When government borrows money, there is no prospect for a monetary return. The only prospect is added taxes to retire general obligation bonds, and pay interest. Obviously, there are limits to even state credit, and to amounts citizens can pay in taxes, and the limits are being reached fast in California.

Red Cross Writer Called Inaccurate

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In tonight's (Jan. 11) I-J was another inaccurate accusation against me. So I expect my defense to be as promptly printed as the accusers are. And so far, my defense of two hate letters has gone without being printed. This is very unlike the principles of the I-J.

Tonight a very poorly informed Red Cross worker wrote a very authoritative sounding letter blasting me. That letter was totally inaccurate. When the Flores were given (lodging, etc.) money when they were burned out of their apartment, they were given liberal time to repay it. But repay it they did. In 1963 we had to have a lady live in and take care of our children while I had cancer surgery. We paid back the Red Cross for the ladies services.$70. We thought it was fine.

The Flores aren't complaining. It just happens to be facts and anyone who works for the Red Cross should have more knowledge especially before sounding off in the newspapers. I worked as a Grey Lady for the Red Cross. But I don't consider myself an authority on the loans of the Red Cross. Every word printed against the letter I wrote concerning Sue Flores has been false. Every word I wrote concerning her has been absolutely true.

Gnoss Disavows Musser's Views

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Mr. Musser appeared before the San Anselmo City Council as a member of the staff of the County Clerks Office, assigned to the Election Department.

His appearance was without official authorization of the County Clerk, and believed to be at the request of said Council, to clarify questions as to the exact locations of certain polling places for the last general election in the San Anselmo area.

I understand Mr. Musser discussed certain changes relative to the counting of voted ballots entirely on his own and the policy he outlined as reported does not indicate the policy of this office and has no official sanction on my behalf.

Smoking Film Shows Results

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Marin citizens can take pride in the important influence which the Marin Medical Society through the Marin Interagency Council on Cigarette Smoking exerted in helping pass the resolution of the California Medical Assn. urging its 23,000 member physicians to quit smoking and to advise their patients to do likewise.

Beginning five years ago with a smoking education program which was offered to the local schools, the Medical Society joined forces with the local Cancer, Heart, TB and Health agencies plus the Health Dept. and the county schools to form the Interagency Council. Our counterpart of the California and National Interagency Councils has been continually updating and expanding its programs available to the community.

Two years ago the Marin Medical Society used its available funds to make the first satirical smoking film. The lead article in the Wall Street Journal for Jan. 9 refers to our film in its national article captioned "Anti-Smoking Drive Seems to Make Gains, Worries Tobacco Forms." In describing the U.S. Public Health Service "community laboratory" in Syracuse, N.Y., reference is made of a program for 900 junior high school students in which was introduced ". . . a 17-minute satirical movie called Too Tough to Care. The movie is about the president of a mythical tobacco company, maker of Finster cigarets, who demands that his advertising man dream up a new sales pitch. The slogan: 'The Finster Man is Too Tough to Care.' . . . After the film, teachers dressed in forbidding costumes enacted a skit featuring such performers as Mr. Death, Heart Disease, Emphysema, and Tuberculosis. The climax came when two students decide smoking is a 'crummy habit' and ask advice on how to stop . . . "

Because of this success and the need for a film suitable for elementary school children, the Marin Medical Society has decided to proceed with the making of another film.

It is ironic that Marin County smoking education efforts are better known and requested outside our community than within it. It is becoming increasingly clear that anti-smoking programs the country over are successful in relation to the vigor with which they are carried out.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A WHOLE BOOK of Volkswagen jokes will strike many people as too much of a good thing, but Charlie Preston has gotten away with it handsomely. Here are a few highlights: 1. Woman frantically phoning her husband: "George! You know that big dog on Elm Street that chases cars? Well, he's caught our Volkswagen!" 2. Gas station attendant to VW driver in Boston: "Shall I fill it up?" Driver: "No, thanks, I'm only going as far as Los Angeles." 3. An eccentric Texas billionaire was asked if his little car was air-conditioned. "No," he drawled, "but I always keep a couple of cold ones in the refrigerator." 4. Station attendant to VW driver: "What will it be, sir? Regular, high test, or sauerkraut juice?"

JAYNE MEADOWS tells about the little girl watching her mother apply an assortment of cosmetics to her sagging countenance. "What's all that routine about?" she inquired. "It's to make me beautiful, my dear," crooned Mama. The little girl eyed her critically and sniffed, "Well, mom, I guess it didn't work, did it?"

Johnson, Congress Embarking On Time Of Changing Powers

WASHINGTON — From the mood and substance of the President's State of the Union message it is clear that:

1. This year Congress will be able to recover the political initiative and Congress, not the White House, can dominate the whole range of domestic affairs.

2. This year and next the Republicans, 47 seats stronger in the House, will show whether they are going to improve their chances of winning in '68 —or throw them away by creating a negative, do-nothing Congress. On most issues the GOP now has the votes to do it either way. LBJ is giving them plenty of rope.

3. This year President Johnson's conduct of the war in Vietnam—"a limited war in order to prevent a larger war"—will continue unchanged. He will not rashly escalate; he will press on with patience. His message to Congress was the most candid, realistic, and persuasive exposition of why we are in Vietnam.

THERE WILL be more of the same plain-speaking in the weeks to come. It is my judgment that the more forthrightly the President speaks to the nation the more fully the nation will support the President in whatever it takes to prevail.

Mr. Johnson was at his best in dealing with Vietnam and his statements earned him the strongest applause in Congress.

In domestic policy the State of the Union address shows how perceptive a politician LBJ really is. He knows better than most that, in electing more Republican congressmen, governors and state legislators, the voters were saying to him and to Congress: Let's digest some of the Great Society cooking before piling more on the plate.

THAT IS EXACTLY what Mr. Johnson is doing. He isn't stepping back, but he isn't asking for anything new. Where there are some modest increases in spending, they will be centered on two priorities—the war on poverty and a stronger attack on improving life and living in the big city ghettos.

But in all his suggestions as to what Congress might want to do this year, LBJ was soft-voiced and placatory. More than in the past, he spoke to Congress as a co-equal branch of government, bespoke cooperation, and frankly stated that, while the President can propose, Congress alone can dispose.

And that is what Congress is going to do. It is going to make its own legislation and to a very large degree it is going to shape its own legislation.

In his message Mr. Johnson several times spoke of past mistakes but he didn't identify them. Congress is going to look over recent legislation, trying to identify those mistakes and repair them.

Congress will listen to the President, but for this session at least it will for the most part be making its own decisions.

And what will be the role of the strengthened Republicans? The answer won't be clear for a time. The Republicans have an intention. It is to help reshape some of the Great Society innovations to make them work better and to offer their own positive solutions to national problems.

BUT IT IS not yet evident whether they can live up to that intention. They have the votes to block almost anything; they haven't the votes to pass anything unless it pleases the conservative Southern Democrats.

This means that positive legislation on the most pressing domestic matters will have to reflect a merging of Republican and liberal Democratic views. This means willingness to compromise in the interests of action where action is needed.

The alternative will be a statemated, do-nothing Congress which, if the Republicans bring that about, will virtually insure a Republican defeat in 1968.

ON THE FIRST day of Congress, they voted positively to deal with Adam Clayton Powell. They voted negatively to repeal the 21-day rule which is a method of preventing the House Rules Committee from subverting the will of Congress. Score to date: 50-50.

LBJ Sets Up China Crisis Committee

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is setting up a special National Security Council committee to "review" all intelligence relating to Red China.

The turbulent and seemingly chaotic situation there is now deemed by the President and his top advisers the most crucially important foreign problem facing them. Therefore, the President has established the special committee as President Kennedy did during the Cuban crisis.

Designated the "Executive Committee" (Ex-Com), it consists of four members headed by Secretary Rusk.

THE OTHERS are Defense Secretary McNamara, Central Intelligence Director Richard Helms and Dr. Walt Rostow, special White House assistant on foreign affairs. Rusk and McNamara served on the Kennedy "Ex-Com."

The President immediately gave it a series of urgent assignments, as follows:

1. What faction or factions control China's nuclear arsenal; are any of the atomic weapons or devices in the hands of elements opposing the Mao Tse-tung clique?

2. What is the extent of actual fighting between rival factions, and do conditions for extensive civil war really prevail?

3. What impact, if any, would large-scale strife between the rival factions have on the Vietnam conflict?

4. What are the likely Russian attitudes and policy toward China in the event of large-scale civil war?

President Johnson also directed increased flights by high-flying planes and satellites over Red China.

PARTICULAR emphasis is to be placed by these intelligence-gathering flights on changes in the disposition of Chinese army units, particularly those in southern China, on the borders with Russia and opposite the Nationalist stronghold of Formosa. Information on these matters is to be reported to him immediately.

Still being discussed is whether attempts should be made by low-flying U. S. planes to photograph reported civil strife in various large Chinese cities, or in the vicinity of the atomic plants and areas.

At one point, the President somberly remarked that never before in history had a country possessing nuclear weapons been confronted with the possibility of full-scale civil strife.

"OUR LACK of information about what is going on concerns me more that anything else," said the President. "It gives me a nightmare to even think about it. There must be ways to resolve this so decisions can be based on accurate information."

U. S. authorities have more than a casual interest in the Madrid murder of Mohammed Khider, Algerian opposition leader.

For several weeks prior to his assassination Khider met with U. S. intelligence agents both in Spain and France, reputedly conveying information on Russian preparations to make Algeria an intermediate range ballistic missile base in 1967.

This secret information is deemed by some U.S. authorities as the most important so far obtained regarding Soviet plans in Algeria.

Two weeks before the February visit to Algeria of Communist party boss Brezhnev was announced, Khider notified U.S. officials of this plan. His last warning, delivered the day before he was slain, was that Algeria's President Houari Boumediene was firmly in the Soviet camp and had agreed to make his country a Russian missile base.

Saga Of The Tossed-Out Ballots Inspires A Civic Center Opera

Do the happenings in the Marin election department sometimes seem like a light opera to you, with the chorus, hero and villain ready to burst into song at the first sour note?

PERHAPS that is an unfair question to pose on a Monday. It was not a serious question anyhow. The whole idea is to lead up to this script discovered in a wastebasket one dark night.

The curtain rises on the never-never land of Data Errata (sometimes Datum Erratum) where the lowly punch card can not only talk, but sing as well—well, not very well.

CHORUS

Perfect punch cards all are we
With proper punches A to Z.
We have won our diadem
From the boys at IBM.
Stacked and counted, duly noted,
We tell how most people voted.
We're not spindled, mutilated;
None of us was duplicated.
Shame on all the cards that erred,
You caught our leader unprepared,
And made elections seem erratic
When handled by the Votomatic.

HERO

A wayward punch card I,
A thing of shreds and tatters,
A victim of Mad Hatters
With busted stylii.
O pity on my plight,
I cannot be computed.
I tried but was refuted.
Something is not right.
An outcast now am I,
And though the law is flouted,
I may remain uncounted.
O please tell me why.

CHORUS

Tramp, tramp in fearful dread,
Comes the man of whom you've read.
Bouquets on him in profusion,
Assistant clerk of high confusion.
We were all punched to perfection,
But there's another in defection.

AC OF HC
(Assistant Clerk of High Confusion)

Ha, ha!
I do just as I choose
With cards that have a bruise
If pencil punched
You shall be munched
Or crunched 'neath old golf shoes.
Ha, ha!
I do just as I choose
With cards that might refuse
To cooperate
And make us late
In getting out the news.
Ha ha!
I do just as I choose.
I'll cut you into twos.
I'll spindle and fold
And let you mold
Without any sad adieus.
Ha, ha!

HERO (on his knees)

A wayward punch card I,
O save me from this fate.
Perhaps I'll make you late,
But I just might break a tie.

ART BUCHWALD

Artist Should Have Known Better Than To Insult LBJ

WASHINGTON—It seems a pity that after all President Johnson has done for the arts, the least the artists could do is paint a decent portrait of him. Last week it was revealed that the President angrily rejected artist Peter Hurd's commissioned portrait of him as "the ugliest thing I ever saw."

Mr. Johnson, whose taste in paintings leans more toward Norman Rockwell's magazine style, objected to the Hurd portrait on the ground that it was too large, the Capitol building in the background was too prominently lit and "inappropriate," and the positioning of the figure and the general style was not consistent with other White House portraits.

Many people, including art critics and museum directors, have come to the defense of Hurd. But as has been the case lately, very few people have come to the defense of the President. I wish to be included in the minority.

I BELIEVE the President had every right to reject a portrait of himself if it didn't fit the image he has of himself. The likeness of the President as I saw it in photographs leaves much to be desired.

In Hurd's portrait the President seems to be looking off dreamily into the distance as if searching for a consensus or a friendly congressman. His lips are set as though he has just had a conference with a group of Democratic governors. His chin looks as if he's just heard a report from Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge on Vietnam, and his nose looks as if he's just smelled another resignation in his White House staff.

The suit he is wearing is dark and conservative, with a vest, giving the impression the President might be a wealthy real estate man or a successful television station owner. And the book he is holding in his hand looks as if it could have been written by Arthur Schiesinger.

BUT FORGETTING the portrait for a moment, anybody could see why the President would object to the way Hurd positioned the Capitol in the background.

Anyone who knows the President's personality should have been aware that the only way to pose the President in such a picture was to have him standing on the Capitol itself with one foot on the Senate and the other on the House of Representatives.

Also, if Hurd had studied his subject more closely he would have painted the light shining over the Capitol coming from the President's face and not within the Capitol itself.

In the commissioned portrait, President Johnson objected to the size of the Capitol, which is one-sixth the size of the President. The implication from the portrait can be clearly drawn that the Capitol plays a great part in the President's life, when anyone who lives here knows the exact opposite is true.

I THINK Hurd owes it to the President to try again. He could start by showing the President smiling as if he just heard that Bobby Kennedy had an accident while skiing. Instead of a book, he could be holding a 1964 Lou Harris or George Gallup opinion poll.

And instead of the Capitol, Hurd could paint in the LBJ ranch or the Pedernales River.

Many museums are bidding for Hurd's portrait, but I think it would be unfair if it were publicly displayed, particularly when people know the President doesn't approve of it.

YOU CAN SAY anything you want to about President Johnson's taste in art, but at least he knows what he likes.

West's Demos See Recoup In Two Years

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — The executive committee of the 13-state Western Democratic Conference headed home today confident that better party communications and more presidential cooperation will recoup losses of the 1966 election.

"We do feel that we lost contact in the last campaign through a breakdown in communications," Kenneth R. Harding of Washington, D.C. told conference delegates.

Harding, director of the National Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, said: "We are going to try to correct that."

Western Democrats said they felt President Johnson is much to blame for the 1966 election gains by Republicans.

"Washington has never seemed so far away from the Democratic party," said Eugene L. Wyman, national committeeman from California.

Although the conference criticized President Johnson, delegates also praised his administration and passed a resolution endorsing his leadership.

Smokers Ignore Health Warnings

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Californians are ignoring health hazard warnings and smoking cigarettes at a record pace.

Richard Nevins, nember of the Board of Equalization, said yesterday that cigarette sales increased 2.5 per cent during 1966 for an average of 142.7 packages per capita consumption, highest of any state. The national average was 138.3 packs, he said.

"Apparently the health warning on each package makes little difference," Nevins said.

He said the board, which administers the state 3 cent a pack tax, realized $75.5 million in revenue after expenses from the cigarette sales tax.

Youth Is Killed; Falls Beneath Bus

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Robert F. Lothian, 18, San Francisco, was killed yesterday when he fell beneath the rear wheels of a bus as it turned a corner at 25th and Diamond sts.

Police said Lothian was walking with two friends in the crosswalk and fell beneath the wheels after bumping the side of the bus. The bus driver was not cited.

Welfare Workers Out On Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—About 7,500 social workers, their demands for higher salaries unmet by the city Department of Welfare, went on strke today for the second time in two years.

The walkout was not expected to have any serious impact on the city's 600,000 welfare recipients immediately. But a repeat of the 28-day strike of January, 1965, would cut welfare services to a bare minimum.

Ex-Con Found Shot To Death

STOUGHTON, Mass. (UPI) — A man was found shot to death in a parked car late last night in this Boston suburb, the victim of what was believed to be the 40th gangland execution in eastern Massachusetts in three years.

Police tentatively identified the victim as William L. O'Brien, 40, an ex-convict from Stoughton. He was released last week on $20,000 bail after being taken into custody following an $86,000 oil company holdup in Quincy, Mass.

Workers Give Up In Rescue Attempts

PUSAN, South Korea (AP) — Rescue workers gave up hope today of finding more survivors from the coastal ferry Hanil-Ho, whose collision with a Korean navy destroyer-escort left at least 75 persons dead or missing.

Police reported that 12 of the ferry's 87 listed passengers and crew were rescued and 15 bodies were recovered. But they said it was possible 10 to 20 persons were aboard without being on the passenger list.

New Suspense Story Can Teach Correct Trump Play

You can take it from Jame Winkman that even the best players occasionally stumble into an awkward contract.

As the hero of "Ace of Spies," the latest paperback chiller-diller by Don Von Elsner, Winkman brings his contract home and solves all the mysteries.

THE CONTRACT

Four spades is a pretty miserable contract, but we all get to spots like this if we bid energetically. It hurts only if we try to draw trumps.

Jake Winkman won the first trick with the ace of diamonds to lead his singleton heart.

West covered with the jack, and dummy's king of hearts won the trick. This made the rest of the play fairly easy.

Winkman ruffed a heart, led a diamond to dummy's king and ruffed another heart. To prevent a club discard, Winkman now cashed two high clubs.

When the jack fell, declarer decided to believe East's story.

RUFFS DIAMOND

Our hero ruffed a diamond in dummy and led a fourth heart. East ruffed in with the ten of spades, and Winkman overruffed with the queen, thus winning his ninth trick.

Winkman could then afford to lead a high club and let East ruff.

No matter what East returned, dummy was sure to get a trick with the king of spades, which would assure the contract.

NO DEFEAT

West could not defeat the contract by taking his ace of hearts at the second trick. At best, West could then take the ace of spades and lead the jack of spades to dummy's king. Declarer would then continue with the king of hearts and an eventual diamond ruff in dummy. East would get a trump trick, but nothing else.

Evidently a modern hero must learn how to handle weak trump suits and strong women. Both seem very easy—in fiction.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid three spades.

This raise, forcing to game, shows strong trump support and about 13 to 16 points, counting distribution as well as high cards. In this case you have 11 points in high cards and 3 points for the singleton (when combined with trump support of 4 or more cards).

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, Jan. 16, the 16th day of 1967 with 349 to follow.

The moon is approaching the first quarter; the morning stars are Mars and Jupiter; the evening stars are Saturn, Jupiter and Venus.

American desiner Samuel McIntire was born on this day in 1757.

On this day in history:

In 1833, the United States Civil Service was established.

In 1920, saloons closed their doors as the Volstead Act to enforce prohibition went into effect.

In 1952, Russia ordered all foreign diplomats in Moscow to limit their movements to within 25 miles of the city, allegedly to stop spying on military installations.

In 1961, 28 men died when a "Texas tower" radar station sank in the Atlantic 83 miles southeast of New York City.

A thought for the day—American humorist Ogden Nash said, "Women would rather be right than reasonable."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Bone Infection Slow To Make Itself Obvious, Hard To Cure

VAN DELLEN

Bone infections (osteomyelitis) usually begin at one end of the marrow cavity where the causative microbe is able to gain a foothold and multiply. The inflammation is confined initially to a closed space and the resultant pressure leads to intense pain and disability. X-rays at this early stage offer no clues.

Within a few days the infection begins to spread and pus forms beneath the outer shell of the bone. The purulent material may strip away the outer coating as it inches its way up and down the bone. Shortly thereafter an abscess forms or the pus ruptures out of the bone and invades the soft tissue. It is surprising how much bone becomes infected and killed by the disease before the X-ray reveals the source of the trouble.

ACUTE osteomyelitis usually is caused by staphylococci or streptococci. The condition often arises from a pre-existing lesion such as a boil or an ear infection; the bacteria reach the bone via the bloodstream.

In others the involved area was injured previously, the trauma often being so slight it was quickly forgotten.

The antibiotics have revolutionized the treatment of osteomyelitis. In some instances the early use of large doses of penicillin aborts the infection.

NOW AND THEN the surgeon must drill into the abscessed area to allow the pus to escape. Meanwhile the infected bone becomes separated from the normal tissue (a sequestrum) and is replaced by healthy bone. During this process fever, rapid pulse, prostration and severe pain over the involved area ensue. The infected segment may be puffy and extremely tender to the touch even though the skin is not reddened.

IT IS FOR these reasons that early diagnosis is difficult and the physician must use his own judgment because X-rays are of no help during the first week or 10 days. Drainage (surgical decompression) relieves the pain by allowing the pus to escape and minimizes the amount of bone destruction.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

MIGRAINE IN CHILD

Mrs. V. Y. writes: I never thought a happy child could suffer from migraine but my doctor has made this diagnosis in my 8-year-old daughter. Is this possible?

REPLY

Yes. Migraine frequently begins in childhood and many of the victims are conscientious persons who are perfectionists. They develop headache when their plans do not materialize.

WEATHER, MOOD

P. E. Z. writes: Storms, winds, and dull weather make me depressed. When the weather is stormy, my stomach turns over. Can you explain this peculiar sensation?

REPLY

Weather affects individuals in many different ways, possibly because of the effects of barometric pressure changes upon the tissues of the body.

SLEEPING POSTURES

Mrs J. writes: What causes a child to assume peculiar positions when going to sleep?

REPLY

Nothing in particular, either in children or adults. You may have noticed a mattress company's billboard delineating typical sleeping postures such as the bird dog and the catnapper.

CANCER PROGNOSIS

T. A. D. writes: I have heard varying reports on how long after cancer strikes it becomes fatal. Can you give me some information along this line?

REPLY

There are many types of cancer and some grow faster than others. The highly malignant varieties may kill in less than four months; others proceed so slowly that 10 years may elapse before they become disabling.

Today's Health Hint—Don't quarrel in front of the children.

Scientist Attacks Government Controls

WASHINGTON (SS) — A top-rank government scientist, just retired, last week attacked government science programs.

"Vital scientific programs are threatened by dangerous trends and controls that could be disastrous to them," declared Dr. Robert M. Page, former chief scientist and director of research at the Naval Research Laboratory.

"A complete lack of confidence is being shown in the integrity and judgment of responsible operating officials, which will certainly lead to bad management of federal programs," he said.

Dr. Page, a physicist, made important contributions to radar and pioneered in space exploration and rocket astronomy. As an administrator, he managed NRL as it gained wide reputation for excellent work.

Tight restrictions on travel funds and overtime, arbitrary ceilings on the number of higher-paying jobs, and uninformed budget cuts were cited by Dr. Page as "self-defeating, tying the hands of managers, hampering the work, eliminating judgment in decision making, and failing to save money as they are reputed to do."

Travel fund restrictions, Dr. Page declared, prevent scientists from attending professional meetings, which are essential to their work. These sessions are important to the on-the-job training of professional people. Scientists who aren't trained in developments in their fast-changing fields, Dr. Page said, soon lose their usefulness, and he fears this may start to happen in government.

The "fetish" of overtime reduction, Dr. Page continued, has "led to a dangerous, critical situation" in government science. It is often economical to pay overtime to teams of government employees on field trips, he said, rather than keep them in the field for a longer period.

Arbitrary ceilings on the number of $15,000-a-year positions, he said, are most discouraging to the federal scientific community. Recent studies show the salaries for private-sector scientists far outstrip those in government, yet the government prevents, by directive, merited appointments and promotions to high level positions. The responsible administrator, he said, has only restricted authority to reward those who perform high quality work.

The last battle of the American Revolution fought in New York was at Johnstown.

Park Director Will Present New Projects

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department will consider capital improvement projects for the 1967-68 budget today at 7:45 p.m. at city hall.

Recreation Dir. A. J. Snyder Jr. said all of the items he will present for consideration are for memorial park, including underground irrigation system and drinking fountains, resurfacing of the asphalt play area and the park service road, and purchase of a lawn and garden tractor.

Snyder will report on the winter recreation program and will present a comprehensive parks and recreation study he prepared.

The commission will consider asking the San Anselmo School District for financial assistance for recreation programs.

Court Throws Out Public Confessions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that confessions obtained from public employees "under threat of removal from office" may not be used to prosecute them criminally.

The 5-4 decision was announced by Justice William O. Douglas in a New Jersey case involving five police officers convicted of conspiring to obstruct administration of state traffic laws.

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Newspaper ads. Magazine ads. Catalogs and brochures. This is where sales get started. This is where people turn to ferret out the facts which allow an intelligent buying decision.

People can linger with a printed page: two minutes, five minutes, ten. They can come back to it again and again. They can compare one product with another. They can study styles, features, sizes, prices at their own pace. They can rip out a printed ad, save it, show it to friends, make notes on it, clip coupons. They can and they do. Don't you? If you've something to sell, it will pay to promote it in print—where people on the brink of buying can get their hands on it. Print makes sense because print makes sales.

TV REVIEW

The Joys Of Watching The Pro Frolic

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The day came up warm and sunny city. We shaved with our super city. We shaved with oursuper stainless steel razor blade and then headed for the studios of one of the naton's three super networks, NBC-TV, where we could see the Super Bowl football game Sunday, since it was blacked out in Los Angeles because it was played here.

As we drove, we suddenly were thankful to television for freeing us from the discomforts of opening up to us the world of mind over matter, for helping us do away with the cultivated discipline that is, after all, only important to professionals. The days are so much easier to take without bothersome criticism of exaggerations and wheeler-dealers. Come on in. Join the club. Be a good fellow.

Poor Sammy Baugh. Poor Walter Johnson. Poor George Mikan. They were only stars. If they had only had press agents —or better ones—they could have been super stars. It's like the fellow said when he was asked the difference between a public relations counsel and a press agent. "About $50,000 a year," he said.

At NBC-TV, we watched the super game in a marvelous room with some terrific people who had the wonderful choice of looking at either one of two great sets—one color, the other black-and-white. It was fabulous and everybody had a fantastic time seeing Green Bay beat Kansas City, 31-10.

German Says France Knows Troop Needs

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger said today President Charles de Gaulle of France recognized the West German view that U.S. troops are needed in Europe.

But Kiesinger told a news conference some differences on future relations with the United States cropped up during his talk with De Gaulle in Paris Friday and Saturday.

He gave no details. He said that the United States quite legitimately represents its own interests in Europe and that it must be examined to what extent these coincide with those of the European countries.

Asked whether De Gaulle made any alternate suggestion when presented with the German view on U.S. troops in Europe, Kiesinger said: "No, he recognized the German view."

NFL Super-ior As Packers Roll Over Chiefs

By JACK HAND

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vince Lombardi thinks the Kansas City Chiefs simply don't rate with the top teams in the National Football League after watching his Green Bay Packers whip the American Football League champs in yesterday's first Super Bowl game.

"They have a good football team with fine speed but I'd have to say that NFL football is tougher," said Coach Lombardi following the Packers' 35-10 victory before a rather disappointing crowd of 63,036 at the Memorial Coliseum.

The game was supposed to prove which league played the best ball and the NFL came out of this first prestige test with flying colors.

Hank Stram, coach of the Chiefs, paid his respects to the Packers as an excellent team but he maintained, "One game is not a true test of the abilities of both leagues."

Perhaps the best comment of all was made by Lamar Hunt, owner of the Chiefs, founder of the AFL and a major factor in the merger of the two leagues.

"I'm disappointed," said Hunt. "I told somebody they didn't keep the time right. The first half didn't run long enough and the second half ran too long."

At the end of the half the Packers clung to a precarious 14-10 lead and had been outgained by the Chiefs.

In the second half the NFL champs manhandled Len Dawson, the Chiefs' quarterback, and dominated play by a 21-0 edge.

Willie Wood's interception of a Dawson pass early in the third quarter was the first indication that the Packers were aroused. In the first half they had failed to pressure Dawson and let him scramble around.

Wood rambled 50 yards to the Chiefs' five after picking off the pass that was deflected by Lee Roy Caffey. Elijah Pitts went in on the next play and the Packers were on their way.

Bart Starr had a tremendous day, picking out receivers or calling the right ball carrier on those important third down situations. Of 14 third down calls in the game, Starr produced first downs 11 times. He was named the Most Valuable Player of the game and winner of a special sports car award by a magazine.

Starr threw two touchdown passes to 34-year-old Max McGee, who caught only four passes during the regular season. The 11-year-veteran led the receivers with seven for 138 yards including the scoring plays of 37 and 13 yards.

Independent-Journal Sports

FOURTH SECTION Mon., Jan. 16, 1967 29

On most of his catches the victim was Willie Mitchell, a corner back who was signalled out for special attention in the Packers' game play.

McGee got into the game when Boyd Dowler, the regular flanker, suffered an injury to his right shoulder on the third play of the game.

"It was our game plan to throw a lot to the receiver on the weak side," said McGee. "I just happened to be the one."

Talking about the first TD pass that he caught one-handed, McGee said, "I was so surprised that I expected to open my other hand and find a silver dollar."

Starr completed 16 of 23 for 228 yards and two TDs but also had one intercepted by Mitchell, his first in 173 tosses since Oct. 16. He also had a 64-yard touchdown pass to Carroll Dale called back because of a penalty.

Jim Taylor, who still has not signed his 1966 contract and may have played his last game for the Packers, stormed home from the 14 in the second period.

Elijah Pitts, who took Paul Hornung's place, scored twice from the five and one. Hornung, suffering from a pinched nerve in his neck but supposedly available for duty, did not get into the game.

Several of the Packers reportedly have been thinking of calling it quits but the rich postseason rewards ($15,000 for winning the Super Bowl, plus about $8,500 for beating Dallas for the NFL title) may make them change their minds. McGee was one of those who said he planned to retire.

The failure to sell out the Coliseum for this game was blamed on the ticket scale ($12, 10, 6) and a backlash from fans about the local area being blacked out on television. Another factor was the late date in announcing the site of the game due to prolonged negotiations with the TV networks, two of which (NBC and CBS) finally did a joint telecast.

When Dawson was not pressured strongly in the first half he was able to hit with 11 of 15 including a seven-yarder to Curt McClinton for a touchdown.

Mike Mercer, who missed with a 40-yard field goal attempt in the first period, made good from 30 yards out in the dying seconds of the first half.

The Chiefs never got closer than the Packers' 44 in the second half and that was after Pete Beathard had taken over for Dawson at quarterback. Dawson wound up with 16 of 27 for 211 yards. The two Kansas City quarterbacks were dumped six times for 61 yards, trying to pass.

"I thought Dawson did a fine job in the first half," said Wood. "After we got that quick six in the second half he had to play our game. Then I knew we had them."

One of the most interesting comments about the game by a Kansas City player, came from Jerry Mays, the co-captain and defensive end.

"It hurts more than I thought it would," said Mays. "It's bad enough to let yourself down but when you let other people down, too, it hurts.

"All the talking is over now. As Hank (Coach Stram) says they beat us on the grass. They beat us physically and they used a little witchcraft on us.

"They're a great ball club. The best we've played? That's hard to say. They're not superhuman—but they're great."

SUPER SALES—When I left you Saturday we were discussing Marinite Reg Carolan's thoughts on the Super Bowl.

Well, today I am delighted to report I am super proud of Reginald, the Drake High graduate who teaches in Marin County schools when he isn't playing tight end for the Kansas City Chiefs.

Oh, I know the Packers of Green Bay belabored the bejabbers out of the Chiefs, but our local Super Teach performed beautifully in the clutch.

AND I'M not speaking of his footballing ability, although he caught the only pass thrown to him for a seven-yard gain, blocked nicely and made some nifty tackling assists in his limited combat.

I'm referring to his presence on camera. He should have worn a gray flannel suit and registered out of Madison Avenue.

I read somewhere that commercial time for the Super Bowl television was $70,000 per minute. Well, Carolan hogged a bundle of free time, particularly toward the end of the game. The cameras gave a closeup of Kansas City Coach Hank Stram pacing up and down the sidelines. But the clever Carolan neatly stationed himself BETWEEN the camera and Stram, so that each time the coach walked by—BINGO!—there was Reg, bigger than life being beamed across the nation.

IN COLOR it was beautiful. The back of his curly red hair glistened in the sunlight and his surname and number (80), emblazoned in red across the back of the white jersey, looked brilliant.

I'd say Reg's exposure to the estimated 45 million televiewers (90 million eyes!) was worth at least $35,000 by Madison Avenue standards.

I think Reg should abandon his teaching career and open up a hot dog stand. "Reg Carolan's Nationally-Advertised Super Tube Steaks!"

Well, it was only a thought.

ANYONE WHO didn't enjoy yesterday's telecast has to be a super duper pooper.

In color, it was breathtaking, even better than the Orange Bowl. Whoever directed the halftime pageantry deserves a gold star on his forehead. It was the best these old orbs have ever seen—the precision marching bands, the rocket-powered men zooming into the air, the hundreds of AFL-NFL "peace" doves, the balloons, the 250-member chorus and the jazzy trumpet of Al Hirt.

Also, the Packers weren't bad, either.

Hornung To Play Wait-See Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Paul Hornung, the Golden Boy of the Green Bay Packers, said yesterday after the Super Bowl game that he hadn't yet decided on whether he was going to retire.

"I'm going to have the doctor thoroughly check me out," said Hornung. "I'm going to wait and see how my arm is."

Hornung's arm has been giving him trouble ever since he suffered a pinched nerve in his shoulder in 1960.

Seals Strong In Clutch, Sweep Gulls

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The California Seals win the close ones, already nine this season by a single goal, and lead the Western Hockey League in doing this.

The Seals slipped by San Diego's last - place Gulls 4-3 in a sudden-death overtime last night for their seventh victory in a row.

The Seals swept the weekend series with 7-0 and 5-2 decisions Friday and Saturday.

Wayne Maxner slapped a 10-foot backhander at 7:42 over the extra period after the Gulls had erased a two-goal deficit in the third period. The Seals took the 3-1 lead on power play goals by Dan Belisle in the second period and Tom Thurlby in the third.

California's first goal was scored by Charlie Burns. The Gulls' points were netted by Warren Hynes, Len Haley and, Ed Ehrenberth, the latter's goal sending the game into overtime.

Belisle, with 14 goals now, has scored 11 in the last nine games.

The second-place Seals have a 9-2 record in one-goal decisions. The victory was their sixth in overtime, against one loss and six ties.

San Diego King Bob Goalby Ready For A Big Challenge

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Bob Goalby's swing is back in the groove and his nerves no longer jangle like guitar strings and he's ready, he says, to make a charge at Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Bill Casper on the pro golf tour.

"I feel I am solidly back on my game," the 6-foot, 195-pound former University of Illinois quarterback said after winning the San Diego Open yesterday, the first event on the $4.5-million pro tour.

Starting the final round with a bulging five-shot lead over the field, Goalby saw his advantage quickly erased by a rallying Gay Brewer Jr. Instead of folding, according to the usual script, Goalby looked the issue dead in the eye and won as a champion should.

He sank a 12-foot birdie putt on the 71st hole to go one stroke ahead and then, after hitting his tee shot into a trap on the 207-yard, par-3 finishing hole, he made a magnificent explosion to within 3½ feet to save his lead.

He finished with a 69 for 269 while Brewer, six strokes back at the start of the day, closed with a 64 for 270. The victory, first in four years by Goalby, was worth $13,200.

Brewer put together an almost flawless round without a bogey or a 5 on his card. He had 11 fours, six threes and a deuce. He had five birdies in a row, starting at the sixth hole.

"I set my sight on a 64," Brewer said. "I thought that might do it."

"I thought a 70 would win for me," said Goalby. "I found out it wasn't enough."

Goalby, now 35, grew up in Belleville, Ill., received a football scholarship to Illinois but never took advantage of it. He turned to golf in 1957.

His best year was 1962. He won both the Los Angeles Open (his previous high check of $7,500) and the St. Petersburg Open, setting a record of eight straight birdies in the latter event. He finished second in the National Open.

In 1962, he won the Insurance Open and Denver Open, then his game suddenly collapsed. He virtually dropped from sight.

"I don't know what happened," Goalby recalled today. "I never had thought about how I hit the ball. Then I seemed to lose the groove.

"Last year, my friend, Paul Runyan, looked over the swing and straightened me out. For the first time in four years I had an understanding of my game."

Goalby said he also got some psychological help from Sam Snead and the late Tony Lema.

"I was always hot as a thermometer under the collar," Bob explained. "Sam and Tony showed me how foolish it was to get sore at myself. I don't get bothered by bad shots any more."

The field in the $66,000 San Diego open did not contain the game's two biggest names—Palmer and Nicklaus—but the field included PGA champion Al Geiberger and U.S. Open winner Bill Casper, the 1966 Golfer of the year.

Tars Again Win, 71-53

I-J Special Report

EUREKA—For the second straight night, College of Marin's streaking cagers manhandled a bigget but slow College of the Redwoods team to win their fourth straight Golden Valley Conference battle, 71-53, and this time they did it almost left-handed, Saturday.

The Tars played without leading scorer and floor leader Bill Pandiani for much of the game Pandiani played for only eight minutes as he suffered a pulled back muscle early in the game. He finished with two points, far below his 16-point average.

As a result, it was almost a battle for portions of the game. As in Friday night's game the Tars streaked to an early lead, this time 10-0, and held off the lumbermen the rest of the way.

Redwoods came to within 51-54 early in a slow second half but Tar coach Cal Riemcke called on Pandiani for help and the 5-9 sparkplug guard settled the Tars down. The rest of the way was strictly butter on butter.

Bob Phillips led Marin with 16 points and 11 rebounds, not bad for a 5-9 guard. Terry Overlid added 14 points, Russ Smith had 12 and Ron Blasingame came off the bench to score 10.

Riemcke praised the work of Blasingame and Russ Williams in relief roles.

The Tars, although smaller, held a whopping 51-39 rebound edge, marking the third game that the three-guard lineup has out rebounded the opposition.

College of Marin now has a 4-1 Western Division record in the GVC. Its nearest competitor is almost out of sight with Napa trailing at 1-3, Santa Rosa at 1-4 and Redwoods at 0-4.

98-Point Weekend For Rick

ST LOUIS (AP)—The weary San Francisco Warriors get two days rest before resuming their National Basketball Assn. campaign with a game against Chicago Wednesday night at Evansville, Ind.

The Warriors wound up five straight nights of play over the weekend and were still leading the Western Division by 8½ games.

They beat Detroit 136-121 Saturday, then lost to second-place St. Louis 114-112 yesterday on Len Wilkins' hook shot in the last three seconds.

Rick Barry, the NBA's leading scorer, poured in 50 points against Detroit and 48 against St. Louis for a weekend total of 98.

Barry sank 12 of 13 free throws against St. Louis, including two that tied the game near the end. But the Hawks then stalled out the clock until Wilkens drove in for the winning bucket.

Super Star McGee's Three Wishes—One Comes True

By MIKE RATHET

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Max McGee had three wishes, but without a genie it's doubtful if his last two will work out as well as his first.

Wish No. 1 was to play for the Packers in the Super Bowl against the Kansas City Chiefs Wish No. 2 was to go on a honeymoon. Wish No. 3 was to retire.

The first worked out sensationally when the 34-year-old veteran of 11 National Football League seasons came off the bench and played a hero's role as the Packers whipped the Kansas City Chiefs 35-10 Sunday in the first Super Bowl game.

The second almost certainly will not happen since the honeymoon McGee wants to go on is Paul Hornung's. And the third remains doubtful since the final word on his retirement probably rests with Coach Vince Lombardi.

Taking them one at a time in the Green Bay dressing room after his key performance, McGee spoke softly with more than a trace of a Southern drawl as he explained his desires in the cubicle he was sharing with Hornung.

"I figured I was going to play some," McGee said, "but there are plenty of times when things are going good that you don't get in, so I really didn't know. My legs are still good but the old windpipe gives me trouble now.

RIGHT SPOT

"The last couple of years I've played only infrequently. "When you do that, you can't really stay in the best of shape. I don't get there as fast as I used to as a result, but I still get to the right spot, and that's what's important."

McGee got to the right spot seven times against the Chiefs, pulling in 138 yards worth of passes, scoring twice and pulling in strikes from Bart Starr in key situations during two other Green Bay drives.

McGee grabbed a 37-yard pass from the first touchdown, caught an 11-yard pass on a third down play during the second touchdown march, snared a 11 and 16-yarders before scoring the fourth touchdown on a 13-yard pass and pulled in a 37-yarder during the fifth scoring drive.

"Fantastic. That's Max," said Hornung when McGee slipped out of the cubicle for a minute. "He makes the big play. He's been around a long time and he has an uncanny ability to get across the goal line.

"He's as dangerous inside the 40 as anyone playing."

ON THE BENCH

But when the game started McGee was on the bench. The former Tulane star lost his job two years ago when he was injured and during the regular season had caught only four passes and scored once in 14 games.

However, when flanker Boyd Dowler suffered a slight shoulder separation on the third play of the game, Lombardi sent McGee in — and McGee knew exactly what had to be done.

"I can still get the job done because it's mostly in knowing the defenses," McGee said. "You take two steps off the line and you know what defenses they're in. The rest is getting to the spot.

"We didn't think their defensive backs were that good. So we went to work on them. You blitz a lot like Kansas City did and you're gonna get hurt. No one can cover you man to man even if you're an old man like me."

And it didn't hurt the old man with the thinning hair and the lean body to be playing against a team from another league.

"In our league the defenses are a little sounder, especially as far as the deep backs are concerned," McGee explained.

QUICK PATTERN

"They don't give you the quick in pattern in the NFL. I've been running it for 11 years and they just don't give that to us anymore. The NFL crowds that out."

That isn't all that's getting crowded out of McGee's life. There's also Hornung, the one-time Golden Boy who has been McGee's buddy since he joined the Packers in 1957.

While McGee wants to retire, Hornung hasn't made up his mind about his future in that area and right now is only thinking about next Wednesday in Hawaii.

"My roomie's getting married," McGee pointed out. "And I'm going on the honeymoon."

And he laughed. As for what he saw for himself, McGee didn't laugh, saying:

"Sayonora! It's a great one to quit on — and I quit."

But then, later, he hedged.

"It's really pretty much up to Coach Lombardi if I change my mind," McGee said. "I imagine Mr. Lombardi will retire me when he thinks the time's right."

Chiefs' Dawson Still Not Convinced Packers Best

He'd Like One More Opportunity

By FRANK O'REILLY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Len Dawson, veteran quarterback of the American Football League champion Kansas City Chiefs, spoke affirmatively:

"I don't think our performance in the second half is an indication of the strength of our league.

"I'm not convinced they're a better football team than we are. I think we compare favorably with them."

The Chiefs were beaten harshly, 35-10, yesterday by the Green Bay Packers, titlists of the National Football League, in the Super Bowl — the first competition between the rival professional leagues.

But Kansas City, a two-touchdown underdog, fought its NFL counterpart on even terms in the first half, yielding only when Green Bay's Willie Wood intercepted a pass to set up a touchdown early in the third quarter. The score put the Packers ahead 21-10, and they rolled from there.

Kansas City Coach Hank Stram said, "At halftime, I thought we could come back and win it. We played well in the first half, but the interception seemed to change the personality of the game. Once we got behind, we had to deviate from our game plan."

Dawson, a 10-year veteran of pro football, wished he had a second chance. "I shouldn't have thrown it," he said of the intercepted pass. "Their blitz bothered me, and I didn't have any zing on the ball. I shouldn't have thrown it."

Insisting his team may be as good as Green Bay, Dawson conceded that the Packers are better than any AFL club the Chiefs have faced.

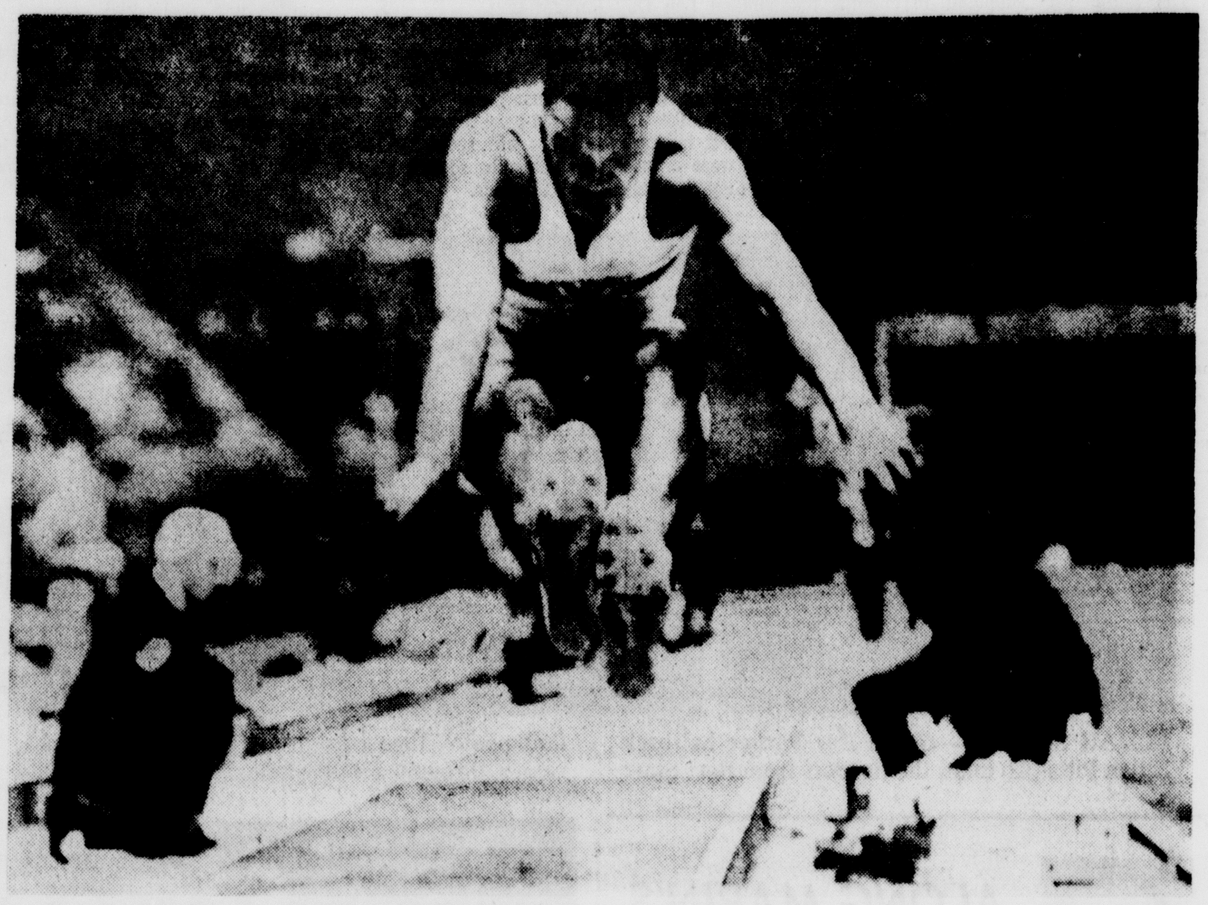
Stram was likewise complimentary as he spoke softly from a corner of the crowded locker-room. "I was very impressed with the Packers," he said. "They're great offensively and defensively. Everybody knows this. You don't give them anything the easy way. We did, and it lost for us."

But the likeable, articulate coach would not be brought into the inevitable comparison of the respective leagues.

"I said before the game and I still maintain that I don't think any one particular game is a measure or a criterion of the league's strength — or that you can compare the two leagues by playing one game."

In describing the Packers, the Chiefs consistently resorted to the word "great," but rookie halfback Mike Garrett was already rebounding with optimism befitting his 22 years, said Garrett:

"Believe me, they're not super humans. They're a really fine team, but they make mistakes. We just made more. We'll be back next year. We got a little taste of it today, and we'll be back."



DOUBLE WINNER — Veteran Olympian Ralph Boston flies through the air for 26 feet, 3 inches to win the broad jump last night at the Athens Invitational meet in Oakland. He also won the 60-yard hurdles event. (AP Wirephoto)

Greek Pole Vaulter Cops Athens Trackfest Honors

OAKLAND (AP) — His two indoor track meets have brought Greek pole vaulter Christos Papanicalaou a second place, a first place and a desire for the world record.

The fellow with the long name won at the Athens Invitational last night with a 16-foot 4½-inch effort after placing second to record holder Bob Seagren at San Francisco a week earlier.

Named for the sponsoring athletic club in Oakland and not for the capital of Greece, the meet brought Papanicalaou his first victory since coming to study under the exchange student plan at San Jose State two months ago.

"I came real close at 16-8½," the 24-year-old vaulter declared after winning his event at the track inaugural in the new Coliseum Arena. "I was over but I hit the bar with my elbow.

"I'm going to Los Angeles next Saturday and I'm going to try to break the indoor record."

BEST MARK

Christos placed second in the outdoor European championships and has a best mark of 16-6¾; so he faces a tough task reaching the 17-1 indoor mark of Seagren. Still his victory provided confidence, and he hadn't vaulted at all until he was 18.

Seagren and his University of Southern California teammate, Paul Wilson, each suffered from a slight injury so didn't compete. Mel Hein, who won at Boston on Saturday night at 16-0, competed in the West Coast meet but could clear only 15-6.

The performance of left-handed Papa-nickel-ow and the double victory of veteran Olympian Ralph Boston in the high hurdles and the long jump proved the brightest spots in an evening which failed to come up to full expectations for the crowd of 6,951.

Several Los Angeles atheltes were grounded by fog in Southern California, and Art Walker's bid to beat his own triple jump record died when the pit wasn't long enough for him to go all out. He won at 54-1¾, his first leap, and then quit.

TWO FOR BOSTON

Boston captured the 60-yard hurdles in 7.2 after deciding at the last minute to compete. Minutes later, he won the long jump at 26-3. Jerry Proctor, the 17-year-old high school senior from Pasadena, finished second at 25-3¾.

Charlie Greene of Nebraska took the 60-yard dash in 6.1, edging Jim Hines of Texas Southern.

Oregon's team of Wade Bell, Roscoe Devine, Arnie Kvalheim and Jere Van Dyk won the two-mile relay even though the second runner dropped the baton.

San Jose State, with Lee Evans and Tommie Smith running the final two legs, blazed the mile relay in 3:17.4.

Otis Burrell squared his 1967 high jump dual with John Rambo by winning at 7-2. A week ago Rambo went 7-3 but this time 7-0 proved his highest.

Former University of Texas runner Rich Romo took the mile in 4:10.4, and Tom Laris of New York posted an 8:48.6 in winning the two-mile.

Surprise in the women's race came in the 60 when blonde, high schooler Janet MacFarlane of Gridley, bested her more experienced foes in 7.0.

"I never heard such a loud starting gun and when it went off, I jumped," she explained.

Wood's Interception Rated Turning Point By Packers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Few would say today there was any one real turning point in Green Bay's 35-10 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs in he Super Bowl yesterday.

But a key point certainly came when the Packers' Willie Wood intercepted a Len Dawson pass intended for Fred Arbanas and, in an electrifying run, ran it back 50 yards to the Chiefs' five.

One burst by Elijah Pitts put it across and what had been a 14-10 Green Bay lead became 21-10.

"We know they'd pass on a third down and five and I was ready," said Wood, performing in the same Memorial Coliseum where he starred for the University of Southern California.

The ball was deflected, Wood revealed, "and I thought it would never come down."

It was another ex-USC Trojan, Mike Garrett, who hauled Willie down.

Wood then disclosed that Green Bay has a policy of setting up an opponent for a kill, giving away passes to the outside for short yardage — and then hawking in when the enemy thinks it has found a weak point in the defense.

Green Bay's postgame dressing room was typically Packer. There were broad smiles, friendly back slapping but anything but riotous.

Coach Vince Lombardi, repeatedly pressed for comparison between his National and the American League, finally said:

"Kansas City has a real top team but I don't think it compares with the top teams in he National Football League.

"That's what you wanted me to say — now I've said it."

Lombardi said there were no adjustments made at halftime.

"We just played more aggressive football in the second half," he said, fondling the game ball presented him by the players.

"I don't know what a key play is," the coach continued. He added with a smile, "I'd say it was the touchdown they called back."

He referred to a 64-yard scoring pass from Bart Starr to Carroll Dale which was nullified by an illegal motion. An interior lineman made it but Lombardi politely declined to identify the offender.

"Sure, I was disturbed in the first half," Starr said. We weren't moving the ball at all. Then we settled down and did just what we were supposed to — get out there and win the ball game."

Fullback Jim Taylor, who played out his option for Green Bay last season, said he had no comment about future plans, but reportedly he'll discuss the matter soon with Lombardi.

Taylor only laughed when asked what the trouble was between 6-foot-7, 287-pound Buck Buchanan, Kansas City's tackle.

"That big devil is too big to tangle with," Taylor said.

"They're a fine football team but their defense was not that good," Starr added. "We've seen it before (Detroit's is similar) and we knew pretty well what to do out there."

Cadets Win Cage Game

San Rafael Military Academy's basketball team broke loose from a 40-41 deficit in the final period and went on to down Concordia, 56-52 last week.

Stan Bradshaw picked up the slack of a low output by ace Tommy Smith to pace the Cadets with 24 points. Davis wound up with eight points and Kirk Snyder had 11.

The win brought SRMA's record to 8-6.

A Big Week For Marin Cagers

By GARY TISCHLER

This is the week the Marin County Athletic League basketball frontrunners turn into bullfighters.

Drake and Tamalpais, now sharing the league lead with 2-0 records, face their moment of truth this week, first in what could be a pair of dangerous tests tomorrow, then in a head-to-head high noon showdown at Tamalpais Friday.

Both breezed to easy wins last week in awesome fashion, the Pirates whistling past hapless Novato, 66-47, and the Indians thumping Marin Catholic's ambitious but young Wildcats, 55-38.

Both coach Carl Brown of Drake and Bernie Schneider of Tamalpais see it as a big week.

Brown, whose Pirates meet the upset team of the league when they battle San Rafael at Drake at 8:15 tomorrow night, thinks this is the week for the defending champs to shine.

"This is really the week when we start league play," Brown said.

In other words, this is the one that counts. The Pirates have breezed past Terra Linda and Novato, cellar-sharers in the MCAL and competition which some might not consider exactly top flight.

"We've settled down now," Brown said of his defending champs. "We've got a solid unit there. And another thing, the boys are proud. They know they're defending champs."

The things the Pirates will undoubtedly take the most pride in is a league-leading defense led by 6-6 Jerry Sprout and Don Alvarado.

Although the Tam-Drake battle is the big one, the stage could be set for some prime ambushes. And Brown is not overlooking San Rafael, only a step behind at 2-1, with the only loss a two-point decision to Tamalpais.

"They could have one of the finest pair of guards in the league in Rich Schau and Roger Widmer," he said. "They'll be tough. That zone of theirs will be tough, if they play it, but we've seen a lot of zones this year. They've got good speed and depth."

"No doubt about it, we could do a lot this week," Schneider said. "If we win both of them, we could get a big jump."

Two wins could leave the Indians 4-0 with only Novato and Terra Linda to play in the first half.

Schneider was elated over his team's easy win against Marin Catholic, and in particular over the play of Floyd Jackson and Pat Schafer.

"I think the big thing was that we got off to a big start," he said. "We just didn't quit. We just played real well. And Jackson you have to remember, hadn't played too much for quite a while until the Petaluma game and Marin Catholic. He came through. And so did Schafer, especially on the boards."

The Indians face Redwood, a disappointed loser to San Rafael in its last outing, but still very much in the race. And the Giants have the home court advantage.

"We'll have to do something about Andre Horn," Schneider said. "They're bigger than we are, but I think we can offset that with speed."

Meanwhile, Dick Hart at Redwood was explaining the Giants' downfall against San Rafael.

"We didn't hit," he said, "and that high zone of theirs bothered us. We tried to hit the basepaths but we threw the ball away. But I like the way we came back after we were down by 12 in the third quarter. And Horn, after that first half, when he didn't hit a basket, really bounced back."

San Rafael's Mike Diaz, the man who could have the final word on the title race, was elated over the Redwood win.

"We had planned to extend that zone," he said. "It worked real well in the first half. Widmer and Schau did an outstanding job on Horn. I think we just got tired in the late part of the game. But we didn't lose our poise."

Diaz praised Mike Donahoo for his all-around play. Donahoo led the Bulldogs with 16 points.

"But our whole team hustled," he said. "It was a team effort. If we play like that against Drake, we'll have a good chance.

Marin Catholic's Gus Hassapakis, whose young Wildcats draw a bye tomorrow, was perplexed by the thrashing his team took.

"It's hard to figure out," he said. "The big thing is that we're not shooting with confidence as we were during practice season. I think the kids are feeling the pressure of having to keep up the good record. Harry Matsinger hasn't found the range and our lack of height, outside of Ches Bornia, hurts. But I think we can get untracked."

Terra Linda coach Bob Corley, whose Trojans upset Salesian, 66-64, praised an outstanding rebound effort and the shooting of Fred Smith.

"I'd just about have to say that was one of our best games of the year," he said. "Fred hit real well (26 points) and helped out on the boards along with Wayne Arsnbarger when Bruce Kilby was in foul trouble. It was just an outstanding team effort."

AN EASY TWO—UCLA Bruin Lew Alcindor almost bumps his head on the rim as he goes up for an easy stuff shot during Saturday night's game against Stanford in Los Angeles. (UPI Telephoto)

Stanford's Nerves Jangled After Run-In With Bruins

Alcindor & Co. Rout Shocked Injuns, 116-78

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coach Howie Dallmar of Stanford's shocked basketball team has this consolation:

The Indians have to worry about Lew Alcindor for only two more years. The top-ranked Bruins — led by Alcindor — stunned Stanford 116-78 with a 37-point effort by big Lew.

"Watching UCLA just makes you plain nervous," Dallmar said after the game Saturday night.

"The only way I knew to stop Alcindor is to widen the three-second lane to 50 feet. He's much more advanced than Bill Russell was at the same stage and much quicker and more maneuverable than Chamberlain was, although Wilt was stronger."

PROS WORRY

Added Dallmar: "But I consider myself lucky — We only have to worry about him for three years. The pros will have to worry about him for 15."

The mismatch brought together two conference rivals with 3-0 records in league play. The Bruins remain unbeaten with 12 victories, while Stanford now has an 8-5 record.

The Indians, by the way, haven't beaten UCLA in Los Angeles since 1952.

Cal Gets Its Biggest Win Over Trojans

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's 99-95 victory over Southern California's Trojans may herald a comeback by the Golden Bear basketball squad.

"It was our biggest win of the year," coach Rene Herrerias said after the game Saturday night.

"With a 1-3 record, we would be out of the conference and could only play a spoiler role. But with (Russ) Critchfield and (Charlie) Perkins hitting, we came back after playing sloppy."

TROJANS DROP

Perkins earned 30 points and Critchfield finished with 26 as the Bears, now 2-2 in conference play, dropped the Trojans to a 1-3 record.

The Trojans' mainstays were Steve Jennings with 23 points, Bill Hewitt with 29 and Jim Marsh with 16. Their coach, Bob Boyd, said he was unhappy with some officials' calls.

"I'm glad we have two weeks off to prepare for UCLA," Boyd said. I've never seen so many traveling calls in my life. Some of them were not warranted."

Tight Race In Prep Scoring

The 19-point averages that shone so brightly only a week ago have changed into just average pumpkins as a real race is in prospect for the Marin County Athletic League scoring title.

Steve Woodward of Tam holds the top spot at 14.5, but his lead looks about as permanent as a second season television show. Andre Horn of Redwood follows him at 14.3 and the rest of the league is right behind Horn, with four players bunched at 14.0, one more at 13.7 and another at 13.2.

Longest Streak Over! Litchfield's Beaten

The longest baseball streak since the St. Louis Cardinals went on a late-season rampage in 1963 has ended. And it was certainly the longest streak as far as elapsed time goes.

Litchfield's of San Rafael had its 19-game, two-year San Francisco Triple A Winter League baseball win streak snapped abruptly yesterday when second-place Ellis Brooks Chevrolet handed the Marin nine a 7-5 loss.

The win streak was the longest ever in the San Francisco Triple A league, according to Golden Gate Park announcer San Levin.

The loss dropped Litchfield's to a 7-1 record and left it with only a single-game lead over Ellis Brooks.

Usually dependable Ron Law took the brunt of the damage as he walked four batters in the process. He was the losing pitcher.

Ron Gasper with a single and a double, and Law with a triple led the Litchfield's hitting attack.

Terrell To Share Astrohall Gym With Cassius

HOUSTON (AP) — The proprietors of Astrohall got ready for a second tenant today, Ernie Terrell, who will share the shiny gym with Cassius Clay until their heavyweight title fight across the way in the Astrodome Feb. 6.

Until today, Terrell had been training in New Jersey, chopping wood as part of his workouts.

Clay, who celebrates his 25th birthday tomorrow, sparred six rounds yesterday — four with Jimmy Ellis and two with Mel Turnbow.

A spectator was heavyweight Zora Folley, who fights Floyd Joyner in Houston tomorrow night and whom Clay has mentioned as a possible opponent after and if the champ whips Terrell.

Folley said yesterday he was unimpressed with Clay's training style.

"I think Muhammad showed very little," he said. "He knew I was in the audience and he didn't look impressive to me."

Marin Catholic Frosh Cagers Swamp Tam

The Marin Catholic Frosh basketball team swamped Tam's frosh cagers, 48-20, Friday with three players scoring 12 points each.

Paul Sherry, Bill Kelley and Kan Hanrahan all had a dozen markers.

In a junior varsity contest, the Drake jayvees whipped the Novato junior varsity, 49-26, as Mike Gaffney scored 14 points.

CELTICS SHOCKED

76ers Continue At Record Pace

BOSTON (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers are letting the Boston Celtics do the talking while they keep on winning at a record pace in the National Basketball Assn.

The 76ers are bidding to end Boston's eight-year reign as NBA champions. They shocked the Celtics with 17 straight points within 3½ minutes in the second period and rolled to an easy 110-95 victory yesterday. Philadelphia boosted its Eastern Division lead to 9½ games.

The Celtics, who obviously must look ahead to the playoffs in hopes of keeping the title, continued to maintain they have the best bench in the league, but even most partisan fans would find it hard to believe.

"We lost the game on that 17-point spree," Boston Player-Coach Bill Russell said. "We stopped running and began taking bad shots. I told everyone to run, run, run until they got tired and then tell me.

BEST BENCH

"We've got the best bench in the league and have the strength to run for 48 minutes a game. They just didn't do it."

Wilt Chamberlain, sporting a new look as a complete player instead of just a high-scoring star, played a top role as he scored 19 points, grabbed 25 rebounds, blocked 13 shots and set up baskets for the 76ers.

However, Luke Jackson, Chet Walker and Billy Cunningham did major damage as the 76ers hiked their record to 41-4 with their third victory in five meetings with Boston this season.

"This is the first time the three cornermen put everything together in one game against us," Russell said after the Philadelphia trio combined for 67 points.

Jackson scored 28 points, including six as the 76ers rallied from a 40-35 deficit to a 52-40 lead in the second period. He added 14 in the final quarter while wrecking Boston comeback hopes. Walker finished with 20 points and Cunningham with 19.

"This was Jackson's best game in quite a while," Chamberlain said. "He has been in kind of a slump. This would do him — and us — a lot of good."

Asked if the victory on the Boston court might gave the 76ers a boost in looking ahead to the Eastern playoffs in the spring, Chamberlain played it cool.

WAIT AND SEE

"We beat them here two or three times last year and it didn't do us any good," he said. "Let's wait and see."

Elsewhere, Los Angeles tripped Detroit 127-116, St. Louis edged San Francisco 114-112, and Chicago routed the New York Knicks 131-116.

Jerry West's 39 points led the Lakers into a tie for third place with Detroit in the Western Division as the Pistons lost their sixth straight at home.

INCOME TAX FACTS

No Set Time On Refund Checks

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

How soon can I get my refund? No set time can be given.

The Internal Revenue Service gets them out just as soon as they possibly can.

Interest is allowed on refunds from the date of overpayment to a date preceding the date of the refund check by not more than 30 days, except that no interest is allowed on a refund made within 45 days of the day the tax was due or the several installments thereof, determined without regard to any extension of time for filing the return.

Wikel

If you carefully fill in your return fully and completely and mail it early, you could have your refund in as little as three weeks. If you are unlucky, or do a sloppy job that requires auditing before the return can be paid, it could take several months, or even several years in extreme cases.

This year for the first time, individuals in California will be brought under the new computer controlled Automatic Data Processing system for the handling of federal income tax returns. From now on information about you and your income tax returns will be permanently stored on magnetic tape. Questions about your reported income can be compared with data submitted by your employers and others. In addition, the computers will perform many checking and questioning functions formerly done by hand methods.

Now more than ever before it is important that your income tax return be completely and accurately prepared. Your careful attention to the details of your tax return can save both you and the government needless time and expense answering questions the computers will generate if your return is inaccurate or incomplete.

Here are a few hints which will help insure the smooth handling of your return by the new computer system:

Make sure to list your complete address and Social Security number.

Check appropriate blocks showing your filing status, i.e., "single, married, filing joint return," etc.

Check appropriate blocks concerning your exemptions and dependents.

Put names of dependent children living with you on page 1.

Attach wage forms W-2 to the face of page 1 in the place indicated.

Write or print legibly, or type.

Show your name and address exactly as it appears on page 1 on all schedules accompanying the return.

All applicable items of income, tax computation and deductions should be filled in on the return form and schedules.

Don't alter, substitute or cross out line captions printed on the official forms.

If you use attachments to supplement information on the official forms, put the totals on the proper lines on the tax form 1040.

Be sure to sign your return. If you file a joint return, both husband and wife must sign, even if only one of you had income.

A few extra minutes spent checking your tax return before you send it in could save you hours of explaining later in the year.

Market Closes Lower In Year's First Loss

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today for the first time in 1967. Trading was heavy.

The market snapped off a string of advances at nine straight. For a while it looked as if stocks would chalk up their 10th straight daily advance. After a mixed opening prices rose on balance.

Gains were trimmed gradually, hoeever, and by late afternoon the averages were in minus territory. Profits were taken on a trading basis, brokers said.

Volume for the day was estimated at 10.5 million shares compared with 10.01 million Friday.

The market had difficulty pushing its great 1967 rally into the 10th straight session, but there were some impressive gains.

Corning Glass spurted more than 11 points. Up about 3 were Chicago Great Western, Allied Products, Sprague Electric and Ling-Temoc-Vought.

Southern Pacific was unchanged at 31¼ on a block of 25,000 shares.

IBM fell 5 points or more following publication of a report that the company is being investigated for antitrust violations. IBM said it had no knowledge of any such investigation.

Commercial Solvents ran up about 4 points. Gains of 2 points or so were made by Fairchild Camera, Hayes Industries, National Cash Register, Northwest Airlines and White Consolidated.

Douglas Aircraft was up about 4 while McDonnell Co. was a fractional loser following a report they will proceed with merger negotiations.

Gains of a point or so were made by Boeing, Raytheon, Anaconda, General Electric and Control Data. Union Carbide gained nearly 2.
